SECRETARY'S LETTER

To the Class of 1911:

YOUR Secretary takes great pleasure in submitting herewith the Decennial, or Fourth, Report. He was told by many when he started work on it last December that it would be impossible to get it out in less than a year. Owing to the loyal response of the class to the various notices and blanks, the work has been completed in about half that time and the Secretary takes this opportunity to thank you all for your co-operation.

The work has been thoroughly enjoyable and has not lacked the lighter side, particularly when two hitherto apparently veracious classmates stated that they were born in 1920! Other obvious inconsistencies were corrected but undoubtedly some still exist, and the Secretary does not by any means believe that his own work has been free from error. Please be charitable and let him know of any mistakes.

The pocket inside the back cover is to contain a supplemental report which will be published in the autumn covering the Decennial reunion.

Thanks are due to George Harding, to F. S. Mead, '87, of the War Records Office, and to Miss Barnes, without whose very able assistance the report would not have been completed.

HARVARD ENDOWMENT FUND DRIVE

THE most recent activity of the Class as a whole has been the campaign started last November in which the percentage of subscribers from 1911 to the Harvard Endowment Fund has risen from 56.5 to 92.7 which puts the Class second in percentage of subscriptions obtained from the classes of the past ten years.

This excellent showing of which we may all feel proud is due in the main to the loyal support given to the drive by the Class as a whole; but the means by which it has been achieved has been the untiring effort of the Endowment Fund Committee.

The Committee consisted of over sixty men and was organized in November by Ralph Hornblower who deserves the greatest credit for keeping the wheels turning. A central group was formed in Boston to which committees in all the large cities where non-subscribing classmates lived reported the results of personal solicitation. Wherever possible personal interviews were held; this included in some cases towns in which there were only two members of the Class, and in others trips by automobile from nearby towns. In addition to this a series of letters were sent by the central committee including in some cases five different appeals which were followed by telegrams and letters from individual members of the Committee.

All of which goes to show that all of the members of the Committee had a lot of work laid for them to accomplish, and the resulting 92.7 per cent shows that they performed their jobs with unabating persistency—as some Classmates can testify from personal experience—and are entitled to the sincere thanks of the whole Class for the results obtained.

AUTOBIOGRAPHIES

FRANCIS PEABODY ABBOT

Born at Berlin, Germany, Aug. 15, 1889.

Parents: Charles Henry Abbot, Mary Thomas Olney.

School: Cloyne House School, Newport, R. I.

Degrees: A. B. 1911. Harvard Business School, 1911-1912.

Occupation: Farmer (Fruit Grower).

Address: Bolton Road, Harvard, Mass.

I HAVE been growing apples in Harvard, Massachusetts. Philip H. Babcock, Harold T. Webber and Alexander Williams of this class are all living in this town. The family of James L. Peters '13, live here and also Eben F. Corey '13. Other members of the class live in Groton, ten miles away, notably Stephen W. Sabine and John Storer.

My "War Record" is neither startling nor glorious. I joined the State Guard (Co. K, 19th Regt.) in Groton in 1917. This company was disbanded in June 1919. When the police strike broke out I went to Boston with four other men from this town and joined the Clinton Company (Co. D, 11th Regt.) serving seven weeks.

Member: Harvard Grange, No. 149.

PIERRE SANCHEZ ABREU

Born at Neuilly-sur-Seine, France, June 28, 1890.

Parents: Domingo Sanchez Toledo, Rosalia Abreu y Arencibia.

School: With private tutor at home.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; LL. D. (Havana Univ.), 1916.

War Service: Enlisted Oct. 1917, Pvt.; Discharged Jan. 1919, Sgt. French Air Service; St. Mihiel, Argonne, Champagne.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: 68 Rue de Bellechasse, Paris, France, or, Quinta Palatino, Havana, Cuba.

AFTER leaving the college, I entered the Harvard Law School, in the fall of 1911, but had to leave it in February 1912, for family reasons. I spent the spring travelling abroad, and entered the Law School of Havana University in the fall of 1912. When the War broke out I was spending the summer in France. I immediately tried to enlist in the French Army, but found its doors barred to me by my Cuban citizenship. I did not want to join the Foreign Legion. I then offered my services to the French Red Cross (Société de Secours aux Blessés Militaires) and drove a motor for them until the spring of 1915. This service took me often to the Front. But about that time very strict instructions were given against allowing foreigners within the lines, so that my work narrowed down to taxi-service in Paris. I thereupon resigned and prepared to return to Havana, in order to resume my studies in the Law School. I received my degree of Doctor in Laws in the fall of 1916. In 1917, Cuba having joined forces with the United States and the Allies, I was allowed to enlist in the French Air Service. I received my preliminary training as Pilot in Tours, and was brevetted on December 12th 1917. I was then sent to Avord and Pau for training on Chasse Planes. From Pau, I was sent to the G. D. E. whence I was shortly to have gone to the Front on Spad monoplane. I unfortunately fell very seriously ill in March 1918, and had to go to a military hospital, where I was operated on twice, and kept until June 1918. From then on, however, until the Armistice, I flew at the Front.

Since the Armistice, or rather after my demobilisation in January 1919, I have gone into business in Paris, and am actually one of the Directors of the "Société Commerciale & Financière Franco Anglaise," and of the "Société des Automobiles Soriano-Pedroso." Besides this, I attend to the entire administration of the various estates of my family throughout the world.

Member: Union Club, Havana; Vedado Tennis Club, Havana; Havana Yacht Club; Havana Country Club; Automobile Club de Cuba, Havana; Automobile Club de France, Paris; Sporting Club, Paris; Polo Club, Paris; Harvard Club of Havana; Harvard Club of New York.

ERNEST M. ACH

Born at Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 6, 1889.

Parents: Samuel Ach, Esther Kahn.

School: Franklin School, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Degrees: A. B. 1911 (1910).

Married: Pauline Workum, Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 29, 1913.

Children: S. Lawrence, Aug. 17, 1914; David Lee, Aug. 14, 1917 (Died Oct. 16, 1918); Roger Workum, Oct. 7, 1918.

Occupation: Merchant.

Address: (Home) 3580 Washington Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio; (Bus.) 817 Walnut St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

FINISHED college in June 1910 and went to work July 1910 as stockkeeper. Sold goods "on the road" from October 1910 to January 1, 1913. A better job in 1913 enabled me to get married in October 1913 and helped support the babies,—all boys,—1914, 1917, 1918. My second child died of pneumonia in October 1918. My entire business experience has been in the wholesale millinery business, as stockkeeper, buyer of domestic materials, foreign buyer, and manager of trimmed hat factories. I have no war record except the regrettable one of the "stay-at-home". Hope that "H. C. L." will be sufficiently routed by next June to enable me to be in Cambridge for the Decennial.

Member: Harvard Club of New York; Harvard Club of Cincinnati; Losantiville Country Club, Cincinnati; "The Board", Cincinnati.

MARK IRVING ADAMS

Born at Roxbury, Mass., Nov. 27, 1888.

Parents: George Adams, Jennie May Frank.

School: English High School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; Dartmouth, 1907-1909.

War Service: Active Service, Dec. 9, 1917, 2nd Lt; Discharged Jan. 3, 1919, 2nd Lt. Ordnance Dept. U. S. A.

Occupation: Vice Pres. and Treas. Stich & Adams, Inc.

CONRAD POTTER AIKEN

Born at Savannah, Georgia, Aug. 5, 1889.

Parents: William Ford Aiken, Anna Aiken Potter.

School: Middlesex School, Concord, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911 (1912).

Married: Jessie McDonald, Cap a L'Aigle, P. Q., Canada, Aug. 25, 1912.

Children: John Kempton, Oct. 10, 1913; Jane Kempton, Dec. 4, 1917.

Occupation: Author.

Address: South Yarmouth, Mass.

IMMEDIATELY after my marriage in 1912 my wife and I went abroad, and spent the winter in England and Italy, where I spent a good deal of time struggling with octosyllabic couplets and blankety blank verse: result, my first book, which I am told, and believe, should never have been published. The disease had by this time become incurable, however, and on my return to Cambridge in 1913, where I settled, I did it again, and have been doing it monotonously ever since. If anyone in the Class has written and published more bad verse than I have, and can prove it, I will set him up to a dinner at the Harvard Club, Boston, April 1st, 1922. In 1914 I spent two months in London, in 1915 I moved to Boston and bought a Ford, in 1916 I sold the Ford to pay for the publication of another book, in 1918 I moved back to Cambridge, and in 1919 the high cost of living drove me into the country, where I still am. The war left me untouched. The draft put me in Class Four, then promoted me to Class Two. The Work or Fight Act tried to make me stop writing poetry, but without success: its failure was by many considered an occasion for regret. In 1917 I became a Contributing Editor of the Dial, which job I retained till the Dial changed hands, 1918. In 1918 I became the American correspondent of the Athenæum, London, resigning the job in the summer of 1920, when I was in London for three months, vainly endeavoring to find a publisher. At present I am a reviewer for the Freeman (New York) and a contributor to various other papers here and abroad. The life is pleasant but not conducive to wealth.

Publications: Volumes of verses: Earth Triumphant, 1914, Macmillan; Turns and Movies, 1916, Houghton Mifflin; The Jig of Forslin, 1916, Four Seas Co.; Nocturne of Remembered Spring, 1917, Four Seas Co.; The Charnel Rose, 1918, Four Seas Co.; House of Dust, 1920, Four Seas Co.; Prose: Scepticisms: Notes on Contemporary Poetry, 1919, Knopf. Also numerous articles, reviews and poems contributed to North American Review, Dial, Athenæum, Atlantic Monthly, Century, Yale Review, New Republic, Poetry, Contemporary Verse, Nation (London), Mercury (London), The Poetry Chapbook (London), Chicago Daily News, Coterie (London), The Poetry Journal, and Cartoons.

MORRIS COPELAND ALLEN

Born at Dehesa, Calif., Jan. 11, 1889.

Parents: Russell Carpenter Allen, Ella Bradford Copeland.

School: Thacher School, Ojai, Calif.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Dorothea White, San Diego, Calif., Sept. 17, 1913.

Children: David Weld, Dec. 31, 1914; Charles Gardner, Dec. 25, 1916.

War Service: Enlisted Sept. 5, 1917, Pvt.; Discharged, March 22, 1919, 2nd Lt. 369th Inf., 349th F. A.; Before Pont-a-Mousson.

Occupation: Rancher.

Address: Bonita, San Diego Co., Calif.

I WENT straight "back to the soil" after leaving college and with the exception of a year and a half in the army, there I have been ever since. Until the spring of 1916 I was ranching for myself on my birthplace in Dehesa, olives, peaches and hogs being my main interests in life although my domestic concerns, consisting of a nice new wife and (presently) a bouncing son and heir, occupied no small portion of my horizon. In 1916, however, there were floods in this district which eliminated the olives, peaches and hogs. I then, with my family, moved to Bonita (a stronghold of Allens and agriculture) and undertook the management of the Winsor Ranch. Until September, 1917 I was busy reclaiming flood-washed riverbottom lands for alfalfa and barns and other equipment in preparation for a dairy and pure-bred hogs.

The first draft contingent included yours truly, however, bound for Camp Lewis. The ranch was turned over "for duration" to my father and brother. I was assigned to the Supply Co. of the 364th Infantry and shortly, my aptitudes being very obvious (viz: life on the farm), I was distinguished by an appointment to the Stable Sergeancy of said Company. At Camp Lewis I went through the 3rd O. T. C., transferring in the process from the Infantry to the Artillery. In April I was sent to Camp Jackson for a brief stay and from there to Saumur where I went through the artillery school. My commission as a shave-tail finally reached me in the summer. After finishing Saumur I was assigned to A Battery, 349th F. A. then in Brigade School at La Courtine. The regiment left me there in October, down with the influenza, on its way to the front. I was soon out of the hospital though, and after considerable jogging about until November 4th, rejoined it again and at last found myself "under fire". A little mental arithmetic will determine how long I was there. After interminable waiting around, practice marching and delousing at Pont-à-Mousson, Dieulouard, Domfront, Le Mans, and Brest we finally sailed for home and I was soon transferred to San Francisco, wife and family and out of the army on March 22, 1919.

Since getting out of the army I have been busy with the hogs and cattle and in keeping my two husky sons in shoes.

Member: University Club, San Diego, California.

THEODORE THOMPSON ALLEN

Born at Aurora, Ill., May 24, 1888.

Parents: Theodore Shepherd Allen, Florence Louisa Newmann.

School: West Aurora High School, Aurora, Ill.

Degrees: S. B. 1911; Beloit College, 1907-1908.

Married: Bertha Helena Crowdes, Chicago, Ill., Oct. 28, 1911.

Children: Jane, Nov. 2, 1915; Glade, March 7, 1919; Ruth, Oct. 26, 1920.

Occupation: Advertising.

Address: (Home) 66 Cameron Ave., Windsor, Ont., Canada.

(Bus.) 317 West Fort St., Detroit, Mich.

Member: Society Automotive Engineers, New York City.

ARTHUR ANDERSON

Born at Erie, Pa., Dec. 13, 1888.

Parents: John Anderson, Clara Christina Hoglund.

School: Roxbury Latin School, Roxbury, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: May Vandewart, Boston, Mass., May 10, 1917.

Occupation: Electrical and Mechanical Engineer; Manager.

Address: (Home) 428 Park St., Dorchester, Mass.

(Bus.) 61 West Selden St., Mattapan, Mass.

AFTER graduation in 1911, I went to work for the General Electric Company at Lynn, Massachusetts, on the student engineering course which they were running at that time. After serving my two years on this course, I spent one more year with this company as draftsman in the turbine department.

In June of 1914 I left the General Electric Company to go aboard. I had a fairly elaborate trip laid out, but was caught in the war and had to get back to the United States, which I did after considerable trouble by travelling up through Denmark, Sweden and Norway and then across to England.

On my return to America I took a position with the Submarine Signal Company in the experimental department.

I stayed in this position a little over a year, and then took a position with the Spicer Manufacturing Company of South Plainfield, New Jersey, as assistant to the president.

In November of 1917 after two years in this position, I accepted an offer from the Henrici Laundry Machinery Company, my present employer, to take charge of all engineering work, together with the duties of factory manager. This position after three and one quarter years I am still holding.

I was with the Henrici Company during most of the time that America was at war. During this period we did a great deal of war work in our shop. We built telescopic masts for twenty submarines, as well as a great many other submarine parts. We made thousands of gun carriage wrenches for the army as well as doing considerable heavy machine work for the army which they could not get done anywhere else near Boston as we owned the only machine capable of doing same.

We also built four hundred pelorouses for the Navy, besides our regular out-put of washing machines of which we supplied a large number both to the Navy and the Army. We also rendered service to the Department of Aeronautics by supplying them with eight anemometers of a higher quality than they had ever been able to procure before.

I am an associate member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

JOHN ERNEST ANDERSON

Born at Sardis, Miss., Sept. 6, 1885.

Parents: Isaac Harold Anderson, Louise Byrd Allen.

School: Lane College, Jackson, Tenn.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

(Bus.) 350 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

PROBABLY the best recommendation I shall ever receive was one in which the Dean said to me in March 1909, "I am sure your talents must be peculiarly fitted to the business world since they are not fitted for Harvard University." So with this high reference I went to work. Spent two years in the cotton mills of Lowell; then in 1911 went to work with Wellington, Sears & Company of Boston. After three months there the boss said, one Friday, "How would you like to go to our New York office?" I said, "I wouldn't." So I started in there the next Monday morning. After peddling cotton goods for that concern for eight years I went into a cotton goods brokerage concern in June 1919. June 1920 saw me in another brokerage house and October 15, 1920 finds me one of the firm of Tracy, Lyons & Company. It's great being your own boss! My war record consists of being turned down by everything from swivel chair to British O. T. C. It was altogether too private a war for me to attend.

THE space allotted on your form for the story of my life is unflatteringly short. How compress even the salient features of my existence in the past decade into a page and a half! The letters "LL. B." speak volumes—of cases read and half digested. This is not the place for the "confidential information" requested by secretaries of law classes regarding one's income derived by the application of these volumes to the facts of everyday life,—and fortunately, for the comparison of the "learned professions" with the less genteel (?) occupations.

The middle West was a pleasant place to practice law, but a terrible place for the young man with a "civic conscience" such as blessed or afflicted me in those mediæval days before the war. My most vivid recollection from those four years is of an unending and overlapping series of committee meetings and committee reports. Everything was in process of being administered; one never stopped to ask why.

The war, the army and twenty months in France set all of one's previous life against the background of questioning. After that the middle West was unthinkable, hence New York, which at least has the merit of affording a wider field of choice for the exercise of those war-questionings.

I wonder how this war business will at Decennial next June seem to have affected others? Did they get over the restlessness of that experience?

No, I hold and have held no offices in civil life, except that of paterfamilias and "member of the bar of"—. Ten years hence the outer record will be much the same, and no one will be more interested in it then than they can be in this. The significant things are the ones you don't place on such records.

"For a man the authorship of a book is, like the bearing of children by a (married) woman, the mark of respectability." By this standard my respectability is of a low degree, based only on occasional legal articles of questionable import and unquestioned aridity.

JOSEPH CHARLES AUB

Born at Cincinnati, Ohio, May 13, 1890.

Parents: Samuel Aub, Clara Shohl.

School: Franklin School, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; M. D. 1914.

War Service: Enlisted May 1917, 1st Lt.; Discharged Feb. 25, 1919, 1st Lt. Base Hospital 6 and Surgical Research Laboratory, Chemin des Dames, Oct. 1917; Argonne, 1918.

Occupation: Physician.

Address: (Home) 402 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.

(Bus.) Harvard Medical School, Boston, Mass.

SINCE leaving college, my life has been devoted to Medicine. I graduated from the Medical School and then became an interne at the Massachusetts General Hospital. For a year after this, I was Assistant Physician at the Russell Sage Institute of Pathology at Bellevue Hospital, New York, and then returned to the Massachusetts General Hospital as Medical Resident. During the war, I spent twenty months in France as a Medical Officer. On my return, I went back to the Medical School to do research work and to teach, and am still there as Assistant Professor of Physiology.

Publications: Various scientific medical papers.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston; Harvard Club of New York; and several medical societies.

HANFORD LOUIS AUTEN

Born at Princeville, Ill., Feb. 15, 1887.

Parents: Edward Auten, Maria Louisa Cutter.

School: Academy of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Years in College: 1907-1908.

Married: Myra Dorothy King, Chicago, Ill., Apr. 7, 1909.

Children: Hanford Louis, Jr., July 17, 1910; Bradley MacBride, July 2, 1912; Lawrence Cutter, Nov. 4, 1916.

Occupation: Sales Department, Maytag Company.

Address: (Home) 410 West Third St. South, Newton, Iowa.

(Bus.) c/o Maytag Company, Newton, Iowa.

FOR the first three and a half years after leaving Harvard I worked in a bank in my home town, Princeville, Illinois, part of the time having entire charge of a branch at Monica, Illinois. Moved to Paragould, Arkansas, in November 1911, and to Kennett, Missouri, in January 1914, at both of which points I engaged in wholesale fruit and produce business.

Came to Newton, Iowa, in March 1916. Was in automobile business at first, and since June 1918 have held present position, manager of Sales Department of the Maytag Company, manufacturers of washing machines. I believe I may claim the distinction of handling more orders for washing machines than any other man in the world.

My chief dissipations, in-so-far as I have time and opportunity to indulge them, are flowers and music. My favorite diversion is Sunday School work. Besides being Superintendent of my own school I have recently been elected President of the County Sunday School Association. As this County has been leading the state in organized Sunday School work I have a real job ahead to hold the county in line.

War Service: Enlisted Dec. 15, 1917, Ensign; Discharged Dec. 3, 1918, Ensign, U. S. Navy.
Occupation: Trustee.
Address: (Home) Walnut St., Wenham, Mass. (P. O. South Hamilton, Mass.)
 (Bus.) 141 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER graduation from College, I took a trip through Europe, thence on a hunting expedition to British East Africa, and home via India, Burma, the Philippines, China and Japan, being gone eleven months. Since then I have been engaged in the care and trusteeship of various kinds of property formerly belonging to my father.

On June 10, 1917, I entered the service of the United States Food Administration, being shortly transferred to the War Trade Board under Mr. Hoover's representative in control of food exports. This led to a detail as Censor of cables concerning the export of food stuffs, and later of most of the commodities in the control of the War Trade Board. October, 1917, I was transferred to the Office of the Chief Cable Censor at Washington in charge of this division of the work and was enrolled as Ensign for this purpose. On August 1st, 1918, I was detached to the U. S. S. Missouri then at Yorktown; she was outfitting for duty as convoy at the Philadelphia Navy Yard at the time of the Armistice.

Offices held: Director,—First National Bank of Boston; Woodward Iron Company of Delaware; Tremont & Suffolk Mills; and Boott Mills of Lowell; American Investment Securities Company of Boston; Fisk & Company, Boston; J. C. Ayer Company, Lowell.

Degrees: S. B. 1911.

Married: Elfriede Faber Brewer, New York, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1913.

Children: Constance Hollingsworth, Sept. 30, 1914; Lemuel Whiting, Jan. 5, 1918; Philip Hollingsworth, May 29, 1919.

Occupation: Farmer (Fruit Grower).

Address: Harvard Fruit Farm, Harvard, Mass.

FOLLOWING graduation I worked on a farm for a few months. Then I bought a farm of my own where I have been ever since, specializing in peaches and apples. Something over three thousand trees have been planted and the rough fields of a New England farm smoothed out. The business of fruit culture is of necessity very slow and gradual. I can hardly say that fortune has smiled on me yet, still I believe I have "made the grade" and have established an orchard that, barring accident, will support one family for fifty years.

To farm successfully one needs four things—capital, a farm temperament, good luck, and the right sort of wife. I have had all of these with the lightest emphasis on the capital. Were I to have the years over again I would choose the same occupation.

I have no war record. I was called to early draft and rejected for poor eyesight. From then on I helped organize and serve the various organizations in my town that were to be found everywhere during the conflict.

Occupation: Farmer.

Address: The Plains, Va.

AFTER graduation from college I attended Harvard Law School for two years. Then I entered the banking house of Lee, Higginson & Company in their New York office. In June 1916 I joined the American Ambulance and in August 1916 was sent out to S. S. U. 2 which was working in the Verdun sector. In September 1916 we worked the postes de secours for Hill 304 and Mort Homme. In October I was transferred to S. S. U. 3 of the American Ambulance and sailed from Marseilles for Salonika October 21, 1916. In November we worked in Macedonia with the French Army of the East. December of that year we moved into Monastir. In June we followed the Allied Punitive Expedition into Greece. July we worked with the Serb Army. Returned to Paris in August. Got commissioned in October as First Lieutenant of Field Artillery, Officers Reserve Corps, and was assigned to the 6th Field Artillery, 1st Division, American Expeditionary Forces. Served throughout the rest of the war in that regiment and division, taking part in all the operations of the 1st Division. Was promoted to Captain October 28, 1918. In February 1919 was assigned to the Eighty-fifth Division for transportation home. Honorably discharged at Camp Upton, New York, April 24, 1919. Since the war I have become "truly rural" and am now settled in Fauquier County, Virginia.

Occupation: Salesman.

Address: (Home) 62 Baker St., Foxboro, Mass.

(Bus.) 656 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

IN 1911, after Class Day I took my vacation and in the fall of that year had the farming bug. With Paul Dennett, '13, I spent that fall on a cranberry bog. We had a good time, but after three months we were ready enough to come back to Boston and get other jobs. I secured a clerking job with the American Felt Company. I stayed there until May 1912, when I started in with the Walpole Rubber Company. This concern was just beginning the manufacture of automobile tires. I was there until November 1913, when, not because of me, but in spite of my efforts, the company went into the hands of a receiver and I was thrown on the cruel world. I then went with the Library Bureau.

Finally in May 1914 I was sent to Cleveland. I had been married in January of that year. We started in housekeeping in Cleveland as soon as we could. Had not been in Cleveland two weeks before I met Harry Spofford, '11, on the street. Neither of us had a friend in the city so Harry accepted my invitation to live with us. I left Cleveland for New York in September 1914 as the climate of the middle West did not agree with either me or my better seven-eighths. I was in New York until January 1916. My oldest boy was born there in July 1915. The craving for old associations was strong enough to bring me back to Boston in 1916. I tackled life insurance and probably pestered almost all of you who read this. I got a regular job in September 1917 with Firestone Tire & Rubber Company and have stuck to it ever since.

The last ten years have gone by very rapidly for me, but I have succeeded in establishing a home, presided over by the best of companions and two great boys who I hope will be Harvard 1936 and 1938 respectively.

LESTER HARRIS BAKER

Born at Springfield, Mass., July 31, 1887.

Parents: Henry Kingsley Baker, Sarah Jeannie Harris.

School: Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Florence Cecile Dearborn, Brookline, Mass., June 17, 1911.

Children: Sylvia Dearborn, Apr. 4, 1912; Florence Harris, June 6, 1915; Lester Harris, Jr., Apr. 7, 1917.

Occupation: Public Accountant.

Address: (Home) 26 Woodlawn Place, Longmeadow, Mass.

(Bus.) 293 Bridge St., Springfield, Mass.

I WORKED for the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company in Boston for about a year after graduation, then removed to Springfield and worked a year for the Bay State Storage and Warehouse Company. In 1914 I bought a farm in Somers, Connecticut and lived there for three years. In 1917 I started in business with a man named Whittle in the retail automobile supply line. Sold out after a little over a year. After a year's experience bookkeeping I went with the New England Audit Company in Springfield, and in January 1920 joined the staff of Scovell-Wellington and Company in their Springfield office.

NORTON BALDWIN

Born at Dorchester, Mass., Jan. 20, 1890.

Parents: William Franklin Baldwin, Annie Norton.

School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Edith Horton, White Plains, N. Y., Apr. 24, 1916.

Child: Eleanor, Aug. 18, 1918.

Occupation: Travelling Salesman.

Address: (Home) 18 Bellvista Road, Allston, Mass.

(Bus.) 501 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

UPON graduation from college in June, 1911, I was offered the opportunity of making a tour throughout the United States with my aunt, Mme Lillian Nordica, which I accepted with alacrity, visiting the principal cities of this country. Upon reaching Indianapolis in the Fall of 1911, I spent several weeks there as the guest of my room-mate, Fred C. Wellman, of that city, who entertained me royally, it being possible to do so at that time without running the risk of a term at the Federal Penitentiary, or the slow agony of a death from wood alcohol.

I returned to New York in December, 1911, and added considerable prestige to the banking house of William Salomon & Company by affording them the luxury of my services at, I might say, an extremely nominal cost to them. The aforesaid cost, at the end of a year or so, gave no visible evidence of endangering the financial standing of the firm, so I resigned peremptorily, and needless to say left the firm's affairs in no end of confusion. (?)

In the early part of 1913, I became connected with my present firm, J. K. Stiefel & Company, 126 Fifth Avenue, New York, lace importers. I was put in charge of their Boston office in October 1914. This move on their part cost me considerable in railroad fares, as I had certain "interests" in White Plains, New York, which necessitated my presence there every Saturday night. So I figured it cheaper to get married, which I did, having since, however, revised my opinion as to the excessiveness of railroad fares. In April, 1917, I was put in charge of New England for my firm, and have since served in that capacity.

Married: Corinne Vosburg Odell, New York, N. Y., Sept. 13, 1913.

War Service: Enlisted Apr. 17, 1917, 2nd Lt.; Discharged Jan. 29, 1919, 1st Lt. Instructor. U. S. School Aeronautics, Graduate Observer and Pilot; Instructor, U. S. Air School, Midway, Minn.

Occupation: Special Agent, U. S. Treas. Dept. Customs, also Sales Engineer.

Address: (Home) 1737 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.
(Bus.) 1396 Beacon St., Brookline, Mass.

SINCE leaving Harvard College have held two important positions with the United States Government,— two years as Special Agent Customs Service, and two years with United States Tariff Commission. Other than this I have done some work in the movies, and considerable work along sales engineering lines. As to the Service, my experience was a most unsatisfactory one, as I was unable in spite of several enlistments to get overseas. That was my greatest disappointment during the period 1917 to 1919. The men I associated with I got along with wonderfully and made some excellent friends, but I do not feel as if I had accomplished as much as I could have had I been fortunate enough to get to France and Belgium.

ONE fault of our educational system, which has been only recently recognized, is its failure to help the boy make an intelligent selection of his vocation. Even among professional men, the proportion who pursue the line of work for which they originally prepared is surprisingly small. The advantage of a liberal education lies in the ability of its possessor to turn his interest successfully to a number of subjects and to adapt himself readily to changing circumstances.

For the first seven years following Commencement, I counted myself among the minority who follow the profession they originally choose. In September 1911 my ambition to become a teacher was fulfilled by my appointment to the faculty of the Pennsylvania State College as instructor in mathematics. Two years later I was relieved of part of my duties as a teacher in order that I might, as Assistant Registrar, wrestle with the problem of schedule building. It was no easy job, for teachers and students had to be assigned to each other, and to class rooms, with due regard for the fundamental law of nature, that two bodies cannot occupy the same space at the same time.

During 1913 and 1914 I spent six weeks each summer on the Faculty of the Summer Session for Teachers. At the Summer Session the women outnumbered the men about ten to one,—just the reverse of the conditions prevailing during the academic years. It was a novel sensation, for I had not previously been in a co-educational school since I was six years old. Nevertheless I came safely through the first summer without forming any entangling alliances. Before the second summer, however, the young lady with whom I had “fussed” most of the football games during my sophomore year adopted my suggestion and saved me from further uncertainty by marrying me herself.

We had been living happily together for several years, with the companionship of Walter Emerson after 1916, when the entry of our country into the Great War shook me from my chosen profession. Recalling a bit of research I had done for him in the summer of 1911, Dr. Hammond V. Hayes, '83, consulting engineer of the Submarine Signal Company, of Boston, summoned me from Pennsylvania to assist him in solving the problem of submarine detection. I joined him in July 1918, and although the war problem was soon removed by the armistice, I am still at work with him in a study of the peace-time problems of submarine signalling. Associated with us in this work are R. D. Fay, '13, and T. C. Browne, '15.

During the past year my wife and I were further blest by the birth of a second boy, Eliot Ralph, but only a few months later we suffered the sudden loss of our older child in an epidemic of infantile paralysis.

Ten years from Commencement finds me neither rich nor poor, neither great nor small, neither famous nor forgotten. I am just a plain, average citizen, an "independent voter" who is trying to make this world a better and pleasanter place in which to live, both for himself and for others.

ALBERT DAMON BARKER

Born at Hanson, Mass., March 4, 1889.

Parents: Albert Francis Barker, Lucy Catlin Reynolds

School: Brockton High School, Brockton, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Mildred Thomas, South Weymouth, Mass., May 13, 1916.

Children: Donald, Apr. 17, 1917; Robert, Oct. 11, 1918; Lucy Meader, Aug. 6, 1920.

Occupation: News Writer.

Address: (Home) Prospect St., West Bridgewater, Mass.

(Bus.) c/o Boston Traveler, Boston, Mass.

MOST of my working time has been spent in the collection and "handling" of news, as reporter, special correspondent, copy reader or editor in varying grades of responsibility. I have been with the following newspapers, in chronological order: Brockton (Massachusetts) Times, Brockton (Massachusetts). Enterprise, Springfield (Massachusetts) Morning Union, Fitchburg (Massachusetts) News, Newark (New Jersey) Evening News, Brockton Enterprise a second time, Boston Traveler. When Germany stupidly set out for Paris I was editor of Refrigerating World, a trade monthly, in New York; a year there. Soon after Germany decided that, though "unbeaten," she'd better quit, I went with the Churchill & Alden Company, Brockton, in the advertising department, and for a year extolled the virtues of Ralston shoes. Thence back to the first love, this time with "Horty" Edmands a fellow actor on the office stage.

Sent as correspondent by the Newark News to Camp Dix, Wrightstown, New Jersey,—my nearest approach to war service

—I saw much of the famed “cost plus” (mainly plus) scheme of the early operation of the selective service system, and of the machinery which despite apparent confusion in a surprisingly short time turned undisciplined young fellows into tip-top fighting men. Of the first I wrote little, though military censors could have hanged me for what I thought; of the last I wrote a great deal, and I believe in its small way it helped, especially those who could only sit at home and wait.

Spare time these days I help Mrs. Barker run a boarding house for three kids and study agriculture at first hand in homeopathic doses. Let the latter pass for a hobby; at least it's good for keeping the girth within reason. No, nothing doing; I couldn't jump 5 ft. 10 again on a million-dollar bet. I'm getting heavy, and a trifle bald.

Address: (Home) 8 Helston Place, Hillsboro, Ill.

(Bus.) c/o American Zinc Co., Hillsboro, Ill.

L EFT Harvard at end of Junior year for Massachusetts Institute of Technology where I continued studies in Chemistry, graduating there in 1912. I started work with the New Jersey Zinc Company at Palmerton, Pennsylvania, as a chemist and later became a Sales Engineer. Also ran their research laboratories including experimental work in the manufacture of paint and rubber. I moved to Hillsboro, Illinois in 1916 to work for the American Zinc Company who were then entering the zinc oxide business and became Superintendent of their oxide plant there, which position I am now holding. My war record is rather a blank, mainly on account of dependents and partly as this company had war order contracts with the government.

Member: American Chemical Society; Woodland Country Club, Hillsboro, Illinois.

JAMES GILMAN BARNES

Born at Hillsboro Centre, N. H., Oct. 23, 1887.

Parents: Theodore Barnes, Charlotte Ann Commons.

School: Mechanics Arts High School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: S. B. 1911.

Married: Helen Loring, Boston, Mass., Dec. 31, 1912.

Children: Marshall Curtis, Feb. 17, 1914; Charlotte Elizabeth, Aug. 3, 1915; Dorothy, Sept. 21, 1919.

War Service: Enlisted Jan. 26, 1918, Pvt. 1 Cl.; Discharged Dec. 20, 1918, 2nd Lt. A. S. (A). U. S. School Military Aeronautics, Columbus, Ohio; Scott Field, Ill; Accident Investigating Officer for Division of Military Aeronautics, Washington, D. C.

Occupation: Salesman for Bemis Bro. Bag Co.

Address: (Home) Essex Road, Waterville, Maine.

(Bus.) 51st St. and 2nd Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

FOLLOWING graduation I became Boys' Work Secretary of the Boston Y. M. C. A. In 1913 as City Boys' Work Secretary I was responsible for the direction of all boys' work being done under the auspices of the Boston Y. M. C. A. in the building and throughout the city.

I resigned this position to enlist as a volunteer in January 1918. After two months training in the U. S. School of Military Aeronautics, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, I was commissioned an Adjutant,—Second Lieutenant, Signal Reserve Corps, Air Service,—and assigned to Scott Field, Belleville, Illinois, for duty. I was first Adjutant of the Cadet Squadron and still later Post Exchange Officer and Assistant Post Athletic Officer, during which time I was placed on Flying Status and received flying instruction at that Field. November 11, 1918 I was transferred to the Division of Military Aeronautics and assigned as Accident Investigation Officer for the Division of Military Aeronautics, Washington, District of Columbia. I requested and received my discharge December 20, 1918.

In January 1919 I accepted the position of Assistant State Y. M. C. A. Secretary for Maine, being particularly responsible for the boys' and student Y. M. C. A. work.

December 31, 1920 I resigned this position to become a salesman for the Bemis Brother Bag Company (of America and India). I expect this will be my permanent connection. At present I have been assigned in charge of sales in the New England states.

During my Y. M. C. A. service I held the position of Secretary-Treasurer of the Association of Boys' Work Secretaries of North America. I was at one time also Secretary-Treasurer of the Mechanic Arts High School Alumni Association, Boston, Mass.

DONALD CLINTON BARTON

Born at Stow, Mass., June 29, 1889.

Parents: George Hunt Barton, Eva May Beede.

School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911 (1910); A. M. 1912; Ph. D. 1914.

War Service: Enlisted Oct. 1918, Pvt.; Discharged June 23, 1919, Master Signal Electrician. Meteorological Section, Signal Corps.

Occupation: Petroleum Geologist.

Address: (Home) 89 Trowbridge St., Cambridge, Mass.

(Bus.) c/o Amerada Petroleum Corporation, Houston, Tex.

AFTER completing my graduate work, I spent two years teaching geology at Washington University, St. Louis. In the spring of 1916, I heard the call of oil and from the close of the academic year to the end of October of the following year, chased oil for the Empire Gas and Fuel Company from Kansas to the mesquite wilderness of the southern Rio Grande and the moonshine country of Tennessee and Kentucky. In October 1918 I entered the army and after two months at Camp Devens and one month at the Burlington Weather Bureau was sent overseas. There I served as K. P., assistant in the army meteorological school, and then assistant weatherforecaster, forecasting the weather for the A. E. F. areas in France and later for the Army of Occupation in Germany. Coming back in the early summer of 1919, I found that jobs had not been kept for men who had been held so long in the army but was lucky enough to find that geologists were still in demand and obtained the position of division geologist with Amerada Petroleum Corporation for the Gulf Coast of Louisiana and Texas, and so for the last year and a half I have been chasing oil in the salt dome oil region of southern Louisiana and Texas.

AFTER receiving my A. B. I went to Paris and studied for the entrance examination in Architecture for the Beaux Arts. After a year there I returned to Cambridge and got my degree in Architecture,—M. Arch.—in 1916. In the meantime I had done some work in Architecture and worked in one or two offices in Boston. In April 1917 I went to France with Norton Harjes Ambulance. Was assigned to section sixty-one and went to the front at Verdun. Was there only a short time when I was recalled to take charge of the camp for new men at Sandricourt. Was there till September 1917. Then I was sent by the Red Cross for reconstruction in the devastated region behind the lines between Ham and Péronne. Was there till March 21, 1918 when I was driven back by the drive. Was in and out of Paris to front on special work till November 1918 and then I was sent to Brest to take charge of all Red Cross construction there. I stayed there and at St. Nazaire till May 1919, then I returned to Paris for liquidation of properties occupied in France. This work was completed in June 1920. In July 1920 I joined the Junior Red Cross as Assistant European Director, having charge of the work in France, Italy, Belgium and Poland, and am still at it.

HORATIO WILLIAMS BEAL

Born at Hanover, Mass., Sept. 1, 1889.
Parents: John Williams Beal, Mary Woodbridge Howes.
School: Hanover High School, Hanover, Mass., Thayer Academy, So. Braintree, Mass.
Degrees: A. B. 1911; M. Arch. 1915.

Married: Amelia Louiza Torres, No. Pembroke, Mass., July 10, 1918.

Child: Williams, Feb. 7, 1920.

War Service: Enlisted June 12, 1917, Chief Yeoman; Discharged Dec. 15, 1918, Ensign. Supply Officer, U. S. S. Ball.

Occupation: Architect.

Address: (Home) Hanover, Mass.

(Bus.) 58 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER receiving my Master's degree in Architecture in June 1915 I entered my father's office to learn some "real" architecture. In June 1917 I enlisted as Chief Yeoman in the U. S. Naval Reserve, serving first in the Government Cost Inspection Department at Fore River and then in December, when commissioned Ensign, at the new Squantum plant. I don't yet know what I was supposed to do at Fore River but my five years of architectural training served me in good stead at Squantum where I made some beautiful "Progress Diagrams". In February 1919 I applied for sea service; was sent to the Naval Pay School at Washington for five weeks; transferred to New York and appointed Supply Officer of the U. S. S. Bali. We carried supplies to France until December 1919 at which time I was ordered to Pensacola, Florida to act as Disbursing Officer at the Naval Air Station. I was, however, given my return to inactive duty before leaving for Pensacola.

After leaving the service I again returned to my father's office and since his death in July 1920 my brother and I have carried on the office under the name of J. William Beal, Sons, Architects.

On July 10, 1919 I was given forty-eight hours leave in which to go home and during this leave I was married to Miss Amelia Torres of Rio de Janeiro. And the last memorable event was the arrival of young "Billy" at the very height of the big storm of February 7, 1920 while I was helplessly marooned in Boston.

WILLIAM DeFORD BEAL

Born at Boston, Mass., Dec. 8, 1888.

Parents: Thomas Prince Beal, Ida DeFord.

School: St. Mark's School, Southboro, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

War Service: Enlisted Jan. 23, 1918, 1st Lt.; Discharged Feb. 28, 1919, Capt. Gas Defense Div. C. W. S., U. S. A.

Occupation: Cotton Broker.

Address: (Home) 36 Gloucester St., Boston, Mass.

(Bus.) c/o Cooper & Brush, 53 State St., Boston, Mass.

I ENTERED the cotton business in the fall of 1911, spending the winter in the office of Robert Wolfenden & Company, Memphis, Tennessee, returning to Boston the first of June of that year, when I spent two months in the Naumkeag Mill in Salem. The following autumn I returned to the South, spending my time in Texas, Oklahoma, St. Louis, Memphis, and New Orleans and the Southern Atlantic States, learning the business until May 1, 1913, when I returned to the office of Cooper & Brush, Boston, where I have remained to the present time selling cotton, with the exception of two years during the war.

On the first of May 1917 I left Cooper & Brush and entered the New England Division of the American Red Cross as assistant manager under Mr. James Jackson and director of the Bureau of Development.

On December 1, 1917, I entered the War Trade Board, Washington, for two months and was then commissioned lieutenant in the Chemical Warfare Service on January 23, 1918. I was immediately ordered to the Gas Defense Plant at Long Island City, where I remained until February 1, 1919, being in charge of the Specification Department at that time.

From February 1 until February 28, when I was discharged, I was stationed at the headquarters' office in New York City.

Member: Tennis & Racquet Club, Boston; Exchange Club, Boston; Essex County Club, Manchester, Massachusetts; Harvard Club of Boston; Harvard Club of New York.

IMEDIATELY after graduation we went bag and baggage to Cornish where we tutored during the summer and fall of 1911. During the winter we continued our work among the snow-covered hills of New Hampshire with the thermometer lowering his dignity to 33 below. A delightful experience it was, for he who knows New Hampshire dressed only in summer clothes knows her but half, as she is much more snappy in the winter, nor does she allow among her lovers those that are neither dead nor alive.

The next fall found us at dear old Groton, quite as much under the guidance of dear Mr. Peabody as any of the boys. Who could possibly have been more fortunate than we, to start our teaching in the school which, above all others, we had chosen?

The fact that much that we owned was burned just before it reached Groton served only to bind us more closely to the school, for we soon found among what real friends we were.

The fall of 1913 found me at our delightful and successful day school in Longwood, called as one might guess, the Longwood Day School. We prepare young boys for the higher preparatory schools. Some of this year's Harvard freshmen were with us a few years ago. Here I have been ever since as a master; and, if one would keep his heart young,—although his purse may be slim,—let him be one of us.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va.

HAD intention of entering agricultural teaching field. During the first year after graduation pursued agricultural studies at Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, Massachusetts. For the next three years I was working for the South Lincoln Dairy Company, first as farm hand and later as foreman, 1912 to 1914. From 1914 to 1917 I taught in the Essex County Agricultural School, Danvers, Massachusetts, a secondary agricultural school. During the last two years there I was head of the Science Department. My special interest was in the extension of teaching among farmers. In 1917 I worked for the Massachusetts Committee of Safety in organizing extension work among farmers. In the late fall of 1917 I went to Cornell as Assistant Professor of Rural Engineering. This work was largely in the extension school, and consisted of organizing and conducting tractor, gas engine, and general farm machinery schools. Here my special interest was in improvement of teaching methods and organization of the Farm Bureau Movement for better agricultural education. In January 1920 I went to Hampton, Virginia as Director of the Agricultural School of Hampton Institute. On September 1, 1920 the Agricultural School opened an agricultural course of college grade. This is the first negro agricultural school to put work on a true collegiate basis.

(Bus.) 41 Union Square, New York, N. Y.

I PRACTISED law in Boston, until I entered the Navy. Not being suited for combatant service (I was rejected both as volunteer and as draftee, because of defective hearing), I finally got a special shore duty assignment to do law work for the government, in the uniform of a "gob". The work was instructive and essential, yet I am sure most of my brother-lawyers in "civies" gratuitously did as much for the Cause as I did. It was my privilege, while in service, to come in touch with lawyers, doctors and other civilians who unstintedly sacrificed their health, time, vocation and even family companionships, out of the finest kind of patriotism. I liked the spirit of the real Navy, while the amateur upstarts supplied the comedy. After fighting my way out of the service, I found my law practice scattered, so I decided to try the field of commerce. I bought an interest in the Standard Finding Company, Inc. of 41 Union Square, New York City, and have been with this concern ever since March 1, 1919.

As I write these lines, I see the faces of many good classmates before me and my heart warms with pleasant memories. May I extend to them all my friendliest greetings and sincere prayers for their happiness and success.

Occupation: Superintendent of Schools.

Address: (Home) 49 Dryads Green, Northampton, Mass.

(Bus.) Office of Supt. of Schools, West Springfield, Mass.

EXCEPT for service in the World War, my work has been in education entirely. For five years I taught in private and public schools near Boston, and in 1915 was appointed as supervisor of schools in Connecticut. The war intervened. After my discharge from the Army I engaged in the school superintendency of Hadley and Hatfield, Massachusetts. I am now, January 1, 1921, serving as Superintendent of Schools in West Springfield, Massachusetts. During these ten years I have made three European trips including the one which was part of my military experience.

My experience in the Army Air Service was that of many other men from civil life. It convinced me of the extravagance and inefficiency of the present administration. This is now a well-established opinion but it took the boys who had been "over there" to show the people, who registered their opinion at the last election.

But this same experience which disgusted me with Army life convinced me of the desirability of Universal Compulsory Military Service for boys eighteen to twenty years of age, for the physical benefits of a certain type of military training cannot be denied.

I FINISHED my college course in 1910, went abroad that summer spending most of the time in Nauheim, Germany, and in Vitznau, Lake Lucerne, Switzerland. The following year I had leave of absence from College and entered the Law School. I received my College Degree in the spring of 1911 and spent the summer on a trip west with Leonard Wyeth, visiting among other places, the Yellowstone, the Canadian Rockies and the Grand Canyon of Arizona. I graduated from the Law School in 1913. After spending the month of July in Wyoming I started practicing law in the office of Ropes, Gray & Gorham of Boston. I was married in the fall of 1914 and started housekeeping in an apartment in Cambridge. In September, 1915, I started out for myself in the practice of law at 30 State Street, Boston, sharing offices with Lafayette R. Chamberlin, L. '08, and Edward A. Taft, '05, L. '08. Chamberlin and I still continue at the same address and have recently formed a partnership with Stafford F. Johnson, Williams '10, Harvard Law '13. In August, 1918, the family lares and penates were moved to 19 Brewster Street, Cambridge, where we still reside. In September, 1917, I enlisted in the First Motor Corps, Massachusetts State Guard. My enlistment ran out on the fifth of September, 1919, but when four days later the Boston Police struck I reenlisted and was on active service until December 6, 1919, most of the time on traffic duty. I continued as a member of the Motor Corps until it was disbanded on December 6, 1920.

ON leaving college in 1911, became clerk in Statistical Department of the Commonwealth Edison Company. After one year, in 1912, was sent by same interests to become Statistician for the Central Illinois Public Service Company, at Mattoon, Illinois. This Company serving over 150 towns throughout central and southern Illinois was continually expanding, in connection with which I was changed from time to time, filling the positions of Statistician, Assistant Auditor and finally Treasurer. In 1917 I was transferred by the same interests to take charge of properties being developed in southern Wisconsin, including large water powers, where I was for almost two years. During this time the Northwest Utilities Company was formed and taken into the Middlewest Utilities Company, operations being well standardized. I was then transferred to Chicago to start the work of sale of the utility securities direct to the company's customers, where after a year of very satisfactory work I left the Utility line to join the Investment Bond firm of W. G. Souders & Company, a Chicago firm who were just opening up a New York office. I came to New York the first part of 1920 and am at present engaged in that business.

Have held no public offices, the only semi-public ones being in connection with local Building and Loan Association. On account of business connection was and still am director and officer of numerous corporations.

WILLIAM PRICHARD BROWNE

Born at Brookline, Mass., Apr. 29, 1888.

Parents: Louis L'Ecluse Browne, Norville Whaley.

School: Morristown School, Morristown, N. J.

Degrees: A. B. 1911. Short course, Mass. Agric. Coll. 1912.

War Service: Enlisted May 26, 1917, Seaman, 1st class; Released from Active Duty June 14, 1919, Ensign (PC) U. S. N. R. F.

Occupation: Accountant.

Address: (Home) New Canaan, Conn. (R. F. D. 32), or 15 East 10th St., New York, N. Y.

AFTER graduation I went West with Bill Dennis, Harold Webber and Percy Foster, all memorable classmates, to work in the apple orchards and ranches of Spokane and Wenatchee, State of Washington. We worked in the fruit country picking and packing apples and at odd jobs until January 1912, when "Webb" and I came back and took the short course at the Agricultural College at Amherst, Massachusetts.

From May 1912 to August 1913, I put my time in on my father's newly acquired farm at New Canaan, Connecticut, applying experience and theory gained the previous year. The farm life was brought to an end by a chance to go with the Stone and Webster Management Association. Starting in Boston on September 1st, 1913, I was shipped to Ponce, Porto Rico, as Cashier and Paymaster of the Ponce Railway and Light Company. Here I remained, advancing to Chief Clerk and Assistant Treasurer, until recalled to Boston in April, 1917. The war fever, better known as fear of the draft, caught me and I enlisted in the Naval Reserve Force, remaining with Stone and Webster as chief clerk to Cashier in Boston until called to active duty in August 1917.

The first two months of my service were spent in training camps at the Yale Boat House, New Haven, and at Port Jefferson, Long Island, as a seaman 1c. In October 1917 I received a temporary commission as Ensign in the Pay Corps and was assigned to Cost Inspection Duty at New York. I was detached, however, the following spring and, after a flying visit to the Pay School in Washington, was made Supply Officer of the U. S. S. Tivives, a United Fruit Company ship taken over by the Navy for transporting beef and provisions to the Army. We made five round trips and after the Armistice, carried about one hundred Army officers and men on the homeward voyage.

After the good old "Tivives" had been placed out of commission and my accounts settled I was relieved from active duty just in time to attend the class reunion at Gloucester. Then I went to work for the National Farming Corporation in New York, remaining with them until a reorganization which forced me to sever connections in October 1920. Since then my work has been with public accountants.

AM still working on my first million and have all the ciphers. The few ones I have had have all been on the wrong side of the decimal point. After graduation I spent a couple of years in Boston, and then moved to Portland, Maine, where I stayed until July 1919, and then returned to Boston. While in Portland I spent a year as a civil engineer in the Construction Division of the Army. During that period I was under the direction of three different officers, who were respectively good, bad and indifferent.

ALTHOUGH born and bred (to a slight extent) in Greater Gotham, (must I admit that the exact location was Brooklyn?), I continued after being cloistered in the Law School for the three years following graduation from College, to reside in the environs of Boston. This was my wife's fault. I was very much engaged in those days. Incidentally I derived my sustenance during the period September, 1914, to September, 1916, from employment in the law offices of Brandeis, Dunbar and Nutter, where I learned where the Court House was and one or two other useful things.

With the assistance of a job in the Law Department of the United Shoe Machinery Corporation and considerable ignorance of the ways of this planet and in particular of the H'ness of H. C. L. and how H. it was going to be, I induced my lady to bring our engagement to an end upon her graduation from Radcliffe in June, 1917, by becoming Mrs. me. My job with the USMC continued to sustain us until December 31, 1920. Thereupon (or slightly prior to that date) I perceived an opportunity to specialize in my hobbies of probate law and taxation, in a position which opened up in the Trust Department of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company. Wherefore with a whoop I entered that organization at the beginning of the current year, 1921, and am now busily engaged in digging myself in.

My offspring are healthy, husky and a handful—good football material.

Occupation: Foreign Representative, American International Corp'n.

Address: (Home) 160 East 70th St., New York, N. Y.

(Bus.) c/o American International Corp'n, 18, Birchin Lane, London, E. C., England.

UPON leaving Harvard in 1910 I went abroad for one year to continue the study of architecture, commenced while in College. Returning to America in 1911 I entered the office of Ogden Codman, Architect, in New York City and was associated with him in business until I resigned in the spring of 1917 to go with the American International Corporation.

When the war broke out I went to Plattsburg and, receiving my commission in August 1917, was assigned to 305th Field Artillery. Our regiment went overseas in April, 1918. On October 2, 1918 during the Argonne offensive I was wounded and was still in the hospital at the time of the Armistice. From the hospital I was ordered to the Peace Conference in Paris where I served in all, nine months, being appointed to the International Secretariat. As a member of this was assigned as recording secretary of the Supreme Council presided over by M. Clémenceau. I served with this Council throughout President Wilson's entire stay in Paris and after his return to America remained with the Clémenceau commission, then called the Commission of the head of Delegation, on which Mr. Lansing sat in place of Mr. Wilson.

Upon my return to America in August 1919 I resigned from the Army and accepted an offer to go to London for the American International Corporation, where I still am.

(Bus.) 230 West 13th St., New York, N. Y.

IMMEDIATELY on leaving college I went to work with Stone & Webster, Public Utility operators, at their main office in Boston. I stayed with them for about three years doing financial and accounting work, spending about a year each at their companies in Key West, Florida and in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Then I went to El Paso, Texas, where I stayed for three years until early 1917 doing financial and accounting work with the El Paso Smelting Works. I then returned to New York and became Treasurer of a small chemical company, leaving to enter the Naval Reserve that summer. I spent fifteen months on active duty in the Third Naval District, being assigned to ship repair work at various shipyards around New York City. I was on duty at the Philadelphia Navy Yard for two weeks and was relieved of active duty a month after the armistice.

Since then I have been Treasurer of a company producing and selling graphite with offices in New York City, and I still hold this position.

EACH event of importance in my career so far is mentioned above. I strengthened the organization of the Mills-Carleton Company with my unusual talents shortly after leaving college and at the present writing it looks like a life sentence. Hobbies to date have included golf, golf, and golf. Recently have taken up the fine arts, finding that of home-brewing most fascinating. Have no vices except the saxophone and am taking a course of vaccine which Mrs. Carleton hopes will cure me.

Occupation: School Teacher.

Address: (Home) El Rancho Bonito, Mesa, Ariz.
(Bus.) Evans School, Mesa, Ariz.

MY FIRST year after graduation was spent alternately in California and New York, tutoring. In October 1912, I came here to the Evans School in Mesa, Arizona, where I have been ever since with the exception of the years of the war. I went across in July 1917 in the American Field Service and had one month of work as a free volunteer in that service when the army got us all in France and made us enlist. I had my fair share of war experiences including the battles of all the large cities, including Paris. Services on the other side may have differed but as far as I can see we all have the same opinions, so why repeat them. Undoubtedly, each one of us could have won the war in half the time if we had only had the chance to run it. Personally, I would far rather chase a pack mule across the Painted Desert, as I do each summer, than mix in another international quarrel.

† HEIMAN CARO

H EIMAN CARO was born in Chelsea, Massachusetts, on August 17, 1889, and was the son of David and Eva Caro.

Caro prepared for college at the Chelsea High School. He completed his college course in three years, and held three scholarships and received honorable mention in a Bowdoin Prize competition. He was graduated with the degree of A. B. cum laude. Senior year he entered the Medical School where he obtained his degree in 1914. He then became a physician at the Boston City Hospital.

As he had made a special study of mental diseases he was sent, after entering the service, to the State Hospital at Monson as a pathologist. In 1917 he was commissioned a Lieutenant in the Medical Corps and assigned to Camp McClellan and later served at other cantonments. In October, 1918, he was commissioned Captain and sent overseas, where he was first on duty at Brest. He was assigned to Base Hospital 107, A. E. F. and died of broncho-pneumonia on January 22, 1919, at Mars-sur-Allier, France.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; LL. B. 1914.

Married: Dorothy Tryon, Bronxville, N. Y., June 8, 1918.

Child: Nancy, Oct. 5, 1920.

War Service: Enlisted Dec. 14, 1917, Pvt; Discharged Dec. 9, 1918, 2nd Lt. Air Service.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (Home) Andover, N. H.

(Bus.) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.

FOLLOWING graduation from the Law School in 1914, I went into the office of Swift, Friedman & Atherton, lawyers, in Boston, and there practiced law until August, 1917. I then went to Washington and managed the Washington office of Dr. Hollis Godfrey, a member of the Advisory Commission of the Council of National Defence. I had no spurs on my heels to keep my feet from sliding off my desk, and in December, the weather became unpleasantly cold for golf, so I enlisted to see if I could get some of those spurs. I went through the Ground School in the Air Service at Ohio State University; was then sent to Langley Field, Virginia, at which place I was transferred to the Flying Branch of the Air Service. After six months' training there, and at Selfridge Field, Mt. Clemens, Michigan, I was rated as an aerial observer. I had been commissioned second lieutenant on my graduation from the Ground School, but there was so much mud at Langley Field, that instead of wearing the boots and spurs, I wore rubber boots. There was plenty of occasion to put my feet on the desk, but I never did get any spurs to hold them there. On my "return from the service" I again took up the practice of law in Boston, this time going into business for myself, at 53 State Street. I have held the following offices since November 2, 1914:—(1) Justice of the Peace. (2) Notary Public. (a) I had to buy my election to these offices,—campaign expenses, $7.00 for each. (b) No impeachment or removal proceedings have been started yet.

WHILE taking my last half course for a degree in the fall of 1911, I became a reporter for the "Boston Journal". During my brief employment by this paper, I met Horton Edmands at the Charles Street Jail. He was there on business, perfectly legitimate business, for he and I had been detailed by our respective papers, "Horty" being on the "Herald", to report the Richeson murder case.

In November, I began publicity work for C. D. Parker & Company of Boston, which I continued till June, 1913, when I went to New York, intending to enter the publicity field in the interests of social welfare work. But my vision never became reality, because illness made me a burden to myself and my family at our home in Hartford for nearly six months.

To make certain of a complete recovery, I went to Arizona in January, 1914, where I found employment, through the influence of a good Harvard friend, as bookkeeper on the Warren Ranch, eight miles from Bisbee and within three miles of the Mexican line. Life here was an interesting contrast to anything I had ever known, and it put me into splendid physical condition; but the novel experience was terminated in May, when I went to California to confer with Mr. Sherman D. Thacher, Yale '83, about a position as teacher in his school at Nordhoff—an opportunity which came to me through the Harvard Appointment Office. The result of this visit was my appointment as teacher of English at the Thacher School, where I went in September after a summer back home.

In the course of these experiences, I had become engaged to marry. This resulted in my staying at Thacher no later than June, 1915, for I had planned to marry that summer, and an additional married man could not be accommodated there. Thus, with the help of "Bert" Voshell, who was then in charge of a teachers' agency, I secured a position in the Louisville Country Day School, and went there in September, a few days after being married.

In the following September, Mrs. Cawley and I lost our first baby, a girl; and, in May of 1917, I was called east by the sudden death of my mother. In the fall of the latter year, on account of the discontinuance of the Louisville school, we moved to Saint Paul, where I had been appointed, once more through the assistance of the Harvard Appointment Office, to the position I still hold as teacher in the Saint Paul Academy. Our three years and a half here have been pleasant, with 1920 as the best, for last April we were fortunate in the safe arrival of Sherman Billings Cawley, who expects to be a Harvard 1942 man.

During these ten years since our memorable departure from Cambridge, I have met classmates in various parts of the country: Tracy Vought in New York, in 1913, where he was making a name for himself in the legal profession; "Tip" Bliss in Springfield and Hartford, in 1913, 1914, and 1915, who was then acquiring the newspaper reputation which later sent him to France with the "Stars and Stripes"; Seward Simons and "Sam" Rindge in California, in 1914, where each was becoming prominent in the affairs of that state; Charles Park, Arthur P. Smith, Emerson G. Sutcliffe, Welles Eastman, and M. M. Ballou during the past three years in Minneapolis, where each has appeared successful in his respective vocation; and, lastly, Fred Eliot, now minister of the Unitarian Church in Saint Paul, where he is establishing himself as one of the most able men in this city.

Perhaps my keenest regret in these ten years, aside from that caused by deaths, has been and still is the fact that I did not serve during the war; but the continued necessity of earning for my family and the pressure put upon teachers in the fourth draft class, to stay at their work when the single men were leaving the schools, combined to keep me at home, where I could contribute only those "behind-the-line" services which seemed so insignificant when others gave their lives.

In conclusion, I want to state most emphatically that, while I have certainly never become what is commonly considered a "success", I owe whatever I have been able to do to Harvard and to friendships formed at Harvard, and that the University stands, therefore, as the dominating and guiding influence in life as I have lived it.

✦ OLIVER MOULTON CHADWICK

OLIVER MOULTON CHADWICK was born at Lowell, Massachusetts, September 23, 1888, the son of Austin Kilham and Julia M. (Moulton) Chadwick. He prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy. In college he devoted much time to track athletics, excelling in the hurdles and field events; and he also played for two years on the Varsity Hockey team. In 1914 he graduated from the Harvard Law School and entered the law department of Stone & Webster. In the summer of 1916 he served on the Mexican border in Battery A of the Massachusetts National Guard. He had also had six weeks training at one of the Plattsburgh camps.

As the United States did not enter the war Chadwick decided to enlist in the Lafayette Corps of the French Aviation. He sailed for France after some preliminary training under Curtis at Fortress Monroe, and completed his course in the summer of 1917 at various French aviation schools. He went at once to the front and was placed in Captain Guynemer's squadron. Two weeks later, on August 14, while flying alone he encountered a British Sopwith which was being badly pressed by a German plane. Although there were two other Germans hovering high above the scene of combat Chadwick attacked at once, saved the British plane, but was in turn attacked by the higher machines, as he must have foreseen that he would be. In the unequal battle which followed he was shot down and fell just in front of the German trenches near Bixschoote, Belgium. His grave was later found.

He was regarded as a very gallant pilot by his comrades.

As I look back upon my "ten most interesting years since graduation" they seem to have been occupied largely in an attempt to acquire a vocabulary of little used words sufficient to embellish my masterly lecture dissertations with that foglike aura so necessary to impress the undergraduate mind. During the years in which my graduate studies were pursued,—but not caught,—in Cambridge, and in intervening years I obtained the necessary relaxation in the secondary school class room. This program was slightly varied in my last year of graduate work by my duties as Austin Teaching Fellow in Education. I trace my habit of reading the daily paper to this experience. The school board in a suburb of Pittsburgh, doubtless laboring under the misapprehension that my doctorate thesis on "formal discipline" dealt with the sanitary spanking of disobedient little boys and girls, (if they had had an opportunity to observe my young daughter at about this time their minds would have been quickly disabused) elected me superintendent of schools. This position I resigned to enter the psychological service of the army, and after a complete course at the Medical Officers' Training Camp at Fort Oglethorpe, in shining shoes and saluting, I was assigned by General March to Camp Greene. He felt that my expertness in the care of shoe leather would be most efficiently utilized on the beautiful plastic soil of North Carolina. He was right! Through one of those errors so rare in the military, however, my last orders assigned me to U. S. General Hospital No. 10 in Boston, an assignment which had its advantages. By and large, however, I am convinced that universal disarmament would bring its blessings. For the last year I have been professing psychology and have about concluded that there is less difference in meaning between "pro" and "con" than is commonly supposed.

LINDLEY HOFFMAN PAUL CHAPIN

Born at New York, N. Y., Dec. 21, 1888.

Parents: Lindley Hoffman Chapin, Cornelia Garrison Van Auken.

School: St. Mark's School, Southboro, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; LL. B. 1914.

War Service: Enlisted May 10, 1917, 2nd Lt. Cav.; Discharged Oct., 25, 1919, Capt. General Staff. General Headquarters, A. E. F.; American Peace Commission. D. S. M., American Army; Legion of Honor, France; Military Cross, England.

Occupation: International Commerce and Trade.

Address: (Home) 33 West 51st St., New York, N. Y.

(Bus.) c/o John H. Judge, 261 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

FROM 1911 to 1914 I attended the Harvard Law School, receiving the degree of LL. B. in the latter year. During the summers of those years I travelled in England, South America and through the United States, and in the autumn of 1914 entered the office of Miller, King, Lane & Trafford, attorneys-at-law, 80 Broadway, New York City.

From June to December 1916 I served on the Mexican Border at McAllen, Texas with Squadron A, Cavalry of the New York

National Guard, under the militia mobilization orders at that time.

In April 1917 I was examined for the Officers Reserve Corps and detailed to attend the First Training Camp at Plattsburgh in May of that year. On May 10 I was commissioned Second Lieutenant, Cavalry, and on August 15, following the training period, was promoted to First Lieutenant and ordered to overseas duty. Arriving in France in September 1917 I was, after four weeks spent in an Infantry Training School, assigned to General Headquarters, attached to which organization I remained for all my overseas duty.

After successfully weathering a siege of illness, culminating in an abdominal operation, I was assigned in July 1918 as a representative of the Fourth, or Coordination, Section of the American General Staff at French General Headquarters.

In October I was transferred in the same capacity to Marshal Foch's staff, where I remained until June 1919. In July I became one of the American representatives on the Inter-Allied Joint Secretariat at the Council of the five principal Allied Powers, and was attached to the American Peace Commission until October, when I was discharged from the Army in Paris.

Upon my return to the United States in the beginning of 1920 I believed that a field of activity wider than the law could be found, and one in which an opportunity existed to put into effect some of the benefits of my experience during the war. Accordingly, in March 1920, I entered the offices of the Foreign Commerce Corporation of America, a new International trade entity created by J. P. Morgan & Company, and have had an extremely interesting and worthwhile year with this organization.

I am engaged to be married to Leila Howard Burden of New York City.

AFTER completing my undergraduate work in 1910, I started to take the two-year course in Forestry offered by the Graduate School of Applied Science. However, after spending about three or four months in the School I had an offer to go into Northern Quebec with an exploring party and decided that practical experience was worth my temporarily giving up my studies.

I, therefore, spent the ensuing year in Quebec and Nova Scotia engaged in surveying and estimating timberlands.

I returned to the Graduate School the following winter and completed my course in the next two years. Upon completion of this course in 1913, I continued my work as forester largely in the estimating and surveying lines with J. W. Sewall of Oldtown, Maine, with whom I remained, with the exception of a short period with the Russell Company of Boston, until 1918.

Shortly after completing my graduate work I took the step, which I have never yet regretted, of marrying and, while my time was mostly spent in the woods, was able to maintain my home and family at Oldtown, Maine.

Late in the year of 1918 I received a request from the U. S. Forest Service to assist them for two or three months in locating supplies of airplane spruce for the Navy. Once engaged upon this work it was found that the investigation would occupy a greater time than at first supposed and, therefore, I continued on this work until June 1918 when I took over the Northeastern District as Field Representative for the Forest Service in the investigation of supplies of raw material for war purposes. The latter part of September the Navy Department decided to increase their activities and enlarge their force engaged in directly obtaining spruce, and as I had done considerable work for this branch of the service, I was offered the opportunity of a commission in the Naval Reserve and applied for transfer from the Forest Service to the Navy. This I obtained and received my commission on November 1, 1918, which event so filled the enemy with terror that he immediately concluded the Armistice.

The greatest benefit which I received from my connection with the Navy was a Grandstand seat in the Little Building from which I could watch at my ease the parades and celebration of the Armistice.

I continued with the Office of Spruce Production for the Navy until January helping clean up the business at the office and was then relieved from active service. I immediately returned to Bangor, Maine, and went into the employ of E. B. Draper of that city, who was engaged in the production of pulpwood and lumber. Since that time I have been with Mr. Draper as Assistant Manager of Operations and Manager of Lands.

Address: (Home) 18 Hamilton St., Readville 37, Mass.

(Bus.) Brown University, Providence, R. I.

My first year out of college was rather a vacant one, though it included a considerable amount of book-reviewing. The following year I spent—very pleasantly—in teaching in a small country high school, Edgartown, Massachusetts. The next four years were spent in teaching at Brown University. During the war (as I did not pass my physical examination) I thought it worth while to occupy myself with graduate study. Though I had no real liking for research—and have far less now—I knew that “advanced degrees” are of commercial value in my occupation and I began to feel that I must go through the mill. If I had been able to take the war more callously I dare say the work of this period would have seemed more real to me. In fact, however, I cannot look back on these two years at Harvard (1917-1919) as very memorable. This seems ungrateful, as I was on scholarship, and also received two Bowdoin prizes. When, in the spring of 1919, I received a traveling fellowship in English, my interest was considerably stimulated. I spent most of the year in London and Oxford, though I made two short visits to the continent. I accomplished a great deal of work this year, although post-war London was more interesting to me than my thesis, I fear.

On my return I was offered a position at Brown, and as I enjoy teaching I was glad to return.

A humdrum record. Still, I can say to date, with Hazlitt, “I have had a happy life.”

CHARLES KANE COBB, JR.

Born at Chestnut Hill, Mass., Dec. 26, 1888.

Parents: Charles Kane Cobb, Susan Maria Wheelwright.

School: Noble & Greenough School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

War Service: Enlisted May 10, 1917, Ensign; Discharged Feb. 15, 1919, Lt. U. S. Navy. Navy Cross.

Occupation: Wool Buyer and Salesman.

Address: (Home) 40 Dunster Road, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

(Bus.) 116 Federal St., Boston, Mass.

Took my senior year in the Business School, and immediately after graduation went to work in the wool house of Farnsworth, Thayer & Stevenson, now Farnsworth, Stevenson & Company, with whom I have been employed ever since. Have done considerable traveling as a buyer, made three trips to Montana, one to England, and five to Argentina and Uruguay. Enrolled as Ensign in the Naval Reserve May 10, 1917. Was assigned to First Reserve Officers' School at Annapolis, from which I was ordered to command Sub-Chaser No. 35, then building. After temporary duty in training camps, put the S. C. 35 into commission in January and in April left New London, Connecticut, for European waters, via Bermuda and the Azores. Arrived at Plymouth, England, June 10, 1918, and from then till the Armistice operated in the western part of the English Channel without any particular incidents worthy of note. Enjoyed it immensely. Was detached shortly after the Armistice and returned to the United States. Back again in the wool business. Growing older, but not much wiser, nor richer.

CLARENCE MELVILLE COBB

Born at Melrose, Mass., July 21, 1889.

Parents: Melville Lubeck Cobb, Ella Messenger.

Occupation: Wholesale Bituminous Coal Merchant.

Address: (Home) 232 Kent St., Brookline, Mass.
(Bus.) 10 Post Office Square, Boston, Mass.

UPON leaving college in January, 1909 I took a short term at Bryant & Stratton's business college, and then entered the wholesale bituminous coal business as clerk, later becoming salesman.

In 1916 on account of death I was forced to reorganize the business, which had been a personal one, to a corporation, of which I became President and Treasurer.

I was called in the first draft in 1917, but was discharged as physically unfit for military service. In the reclassification I was recalled and classified in Class 4 Section D. I later waived all classification rights; was specially inducted into the Quartermaster's Corps; and on August 1st, 1918 was ordered to Camp Johnson, where I received my discharge on December 2d, 1918. I then returned to the coal business, and have been so occupied up to the present time.

(When abroad) c/o Morgan, Harjes & Cie, 14 Place Vendôme, Paris, France.

THE past ten years have been divided equally between travel abroad and study and teaching in Harvard University. After a short trip in the West in 1911 I went to Europe for nine months and travelled in France, Spain and England. In 1912 I returned for a year to the Harvard Graduate School. In 1913 I left for a year's trip around the world. I spent the fall in the Mediterranean; Spain, Algiers, Southern Italy and Egypt; in January I left Ceylon for Southern India, travelled north through the Rajput region as far as Darjeeling. From Calcutta I went to Burma, the Straits Settlements, Siam, spent the spring in China and Japan and came home in the summer via Honolulu. In 1914 I entered the Harvard Graduate School where I studied for three years. I took the degree of A. M., taught as Assistant in the Department of the Fine Arts and passed the Preliminary Examinations for the degree of Ph. D. During the war I served, after four months in the Officers' Training School, as Line Officer in the 74th Infantry Regiment, 12th Division; and as Operations Officer on the 24th Infantry Brigade Staff, 12th Division under Brigadier General John I. Woodward. After demobilization I taught for a few months at Harvard, was appointed a Travelling Fellow in Mediæval and Renaissance Studies by the Archæological Institute of America and spent a year (1919-1920) in archæological research in Spain and France. This year I am assisting in the Department of Fine Arts, (Harvard) and am working on a History of Romanesque Painting in Spain which I shall present as a Ph. D. Thesis. I hope to leave next fall for another year or two of research in France, Spain and Italy before settling down to teach Archæology and the Fine Arts in some American University. My special field of interest lies in the history of Mediæval and Renaissance Sculpture and Painting.

Degrees: A. B. 1911 (1912).

Married: Susannah Cunningham, Brookline, Mass., Apr. 26, 1916.

Children: Francis Parkman, Mar. 24, 1917 (Died Mar. 26, 1917); John Templeman, Jr., Aug. 26, 1918; Paul Constant, Sept. 8, 1920.

War Service: Enlisted Apr. 30, 1917, Cadet; Discharged June 5, 1917, physically unfit. Re-enlisted Apr. 1, 1918, Pvt.; Discharged Dec. 25, 1918, 2nd Lt. Photo Section, Air Service.

Occupation: Artist.

Address: Green St., Readville, Mass.

IMMEDIATELY after graduation I went to British East Africa and travelled through the game country there and in German East Africa taking moving pictures and flashlight photographs of wild animals for a period of eight months. After my return to this country in 1913 I took up painting pictures, and went through the regular training in the School of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. In 1917 I went to the first Plattsburg camp, but was discharged after a few weeks for physical disability. Army requirements gradually became less strict, and in April 1918 I was accepted in the photographic section of the air service, and was stationed at various schools and flying fields until the armistice. After discharge I completed my training at the Art School, and have since that time been painting landscape, illustrations, and occasional portraits.

Publications: Magazine article, "Ambushing Lions at Night" illustrated with photographs and paintings by the author, bought and set up in type by Scribners Magazine but not yet published;

Two chapters in the Harvard Traveller's Club "Handbook of Travel" entitled "Foot Transport in Africa" and "Photography".

Born at Chicago, Ill., Jan. 30, 1889.

Parents: Henry Noble Cooper, Julia Lupton Pardee.

School: Racine College Grammar School, Racine, Wis.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Lenetta Margaret (Heilman) Schoenstedt, Chicago, Ill., Oct. 25, 1916.

Occupation: President Chicago Co-operative Book Stores Co.

Address: (Home) 5650 Stony Island Ave., Chicago, Ill.

(Bus.) 307 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill.

IN newspaper work in Joliet, Illinois, in 1912 and 1913.

From 1913 with Fitz Simons & Connell Dredge & Dock Company, Chicago, until April 1920, when I resigned from treasurer-ship of that firm. Since then have been acting as president of the co-operative association operating the Walden Book Shop and the Radical Book Shop in Chicago.

As for my war record:—since the bombardment of Vera Cruz in 1914 (?), I have been a scoffer at the value of all warmaking, and during our war with Germany was prepared to refuse military service as a conscientious objector if drafted.

Since the armistice I have seen more hope for humanity in the Russian revolution than in any development of the capitalist system in America. I would be glad to go on record as regarding John Reed as one of the greatest of Harvard's sons, who deserves an equal place with Lafayette in history.

MICHAEL CORCORAN

Born at Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 14, 1889.

Parents: Michael Corcoran, Katherine Barry Spillane.

School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Helen Louise Good, Brookline, Mass., Jan. 24, 1917.

Children: Michael, Jr., Nov. 16, 1917; Barbara, Feb. 2, 1920.

Occupation: Stockbroker; Manager Boston Office of Charles E. Brickley & Co.

Address: (Home) 34 Ash St., Cambridge, Mass.

(Bus.) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.

GRADUATING from college in June, 1911, I went with the Aetna Life Insurance Company at Boston, Massachusetts, and then went through the various stages of assimilating knowledge of all forms of general insurance, finally blossoming out as a special agent for the above company in 1914.

Meeting Bayard Tuckerman on the street one day, in June, 1914, he decided that I would look better in his office than where I was located at that time. Accordingly, I entered upon my new duties and shortly thereafter every member of the well known class of 1911, was informed of this fact by receiving either a personal call or letter from me, asking them to take out Endowment Insurance for the 1911 Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Fund.

On January 24, 1917, I was married to Miss Helen Louise Good of Brookline, Massachusetts, and we have lived since that date in Cambridge, Massachusetts, only a few minutes away from Harvard Square. Michael Corcoran, Junior, who will graduate at Harvard in 1939, is now three years old and as for Barbara, who is one year, she is the apple of her daddy's eye.

In the spring of 1920, I became associated with Charles E. Brickley, Harvard 1915, and we transacted a general investment and brokerage business at 45 Maiden Lane, New York. Last October I became the resident manager of Charles E. Brickley & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, at their Boston office, 53 State Street, and am trying hard now to master the mysteries of the ticker and keep the family home fires burning.

I will be on deck for the big time in June and I am greatly worried lest someone will discover before that date what Fred Field has stored in his potato cellar.

(Bus.) 526 Federal Bldg., Buffalo, N. Y.

My existence has been quite uneventful as far as the other fellows are concerned. When we received our degrees in June 1911 I took up work with the Government. I was appointed an assistant chemist in the Bureau of Chemistry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and assigned to the Food and Drug Inspection Laboratory at New York City. This was my headquarters until I was commissioned in the Sanitary Corps in March 1918. I was assigned to the Division of Food and Nutrition of the Medical Corps, and was sent from camp to camp in the South investigating nutritional problems in the feeding of the men. When I was discharged in January 1919 I returned to my position with the Government at New York City. Since November 1, 1920, I have been located at the branch laboratory of the Bureau of Chemistry in Buffalo. Have managed to remain single up to date, with no immediate danger of becoming otherwise.

My first job was with the American Felt Company of Boston where I decorated ledgers for some six months. Then I felt the lure of the department store and gave Mr. Filene the benefit of my services for about a year and a half. Most of this time I spent in charge of the Employment Department. I left Filene's to join the American-Philippine Company of New York where I was associated with various 1911 men, notably Chessman Kittredge, Ralph Hopkins and Billie Fraser-Campbell. This was in 1913. In January 1915 I was sent to the Philippine Islands by the company in connection with a coconut oil mill it was erecting under the company name of Visayan Refining Company at Cebu. I spent some months in Mindanao, more in Manila, and finally cast anchor in Cebu where I have been ever since with the exception of one visit home at the time of our sexennial. The company's name has been changed to Philippine Refining Corporation and I am now the manager of the company here. We make more coconut oil than any other mill in these islands and probably in the world. Offices in civil life do not signify much in this neck of the woods, but I am at present President of the Chamber of Commerce here if that means anything.

There has been nothing exciting or particularly spectacular in my career to date, but I have seen quite a lot and hope to see more before I die, and this in itself is to my mind worth while.

THE first important thing I did after graduation was to take unto myself a wife on August 24, 1911.

A week later we sailed from New York on the "Lusitania", remained a short time in England, sailing from Liverpool for Buenos Aires. After a short stay in Buenos Aires we crossed the Rio de la Plata where we made our home for the next four years in the charming city of Montevideo. There I was in charge of the "North American Academy", a boarding and day school for boys, under the supervision of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Our life there was exceedingly interesting and we should have remained there longer had it not been that the damp winters undermined the health of my wife to such an extent that the doctors advised our leaving.

We arrived in the United States in 1915 just in time to spend Christmas with our relatives in Illinois.

After Christmas I began looking for a job and the only thing for which I seemed qualified that was obtainable was a position as teacher of Spanish in Central High School, St. Louis, Missouri. It is just five years ago this very morning that I began to teach Spanish here. I have enjoyed the work, I have had some recognition in the way of promotion and increase in salary, and altogether I feel that I am a really useful member of this community. We have a comfortable home in the suburbs, lots of friends, plenty of work but a reasonable amount of leisure, an ambition to do even more in the educational world, and a great desire to get back to Harvard before many years pass,—preferably this June.

I LEFT college after midyears senior year and went to work at once in the cotton department of Dick Brothers & Company in New York, returning to Cambridge in June to take my degree. I was married July 22nd, 1911, at Ipswich, Massachusetts and began at once to learn the cotton business from the ground up which involved much travel and living in strange places. We first went to New Orleans where we lived until February 1912 when we went to Liverpool where we remained about one year.

Our first daughter was born there. We returned to New York in January 1913 but as the cotton business was at very low ebb I took the job of cotton buyer for the New England Cotton Yarn Company at New Bedford which position I held until July 1915 when I opened the Boston office of Calder & Richmond, Cotton Merchants, of Providence, Rhode Island. My second daughter was born at New Bedford. I bought a place at Weston, Massachusetts and expected to settle down for a long time but then the war came in April 1917 and upset my plans.

I got a commission as ensign in the Naval Reserve Force as I had had considerable experience in yachting and knew something about navigation. As there was no Officers' Training School for the Navy I went to South America on a fruit steamer in order to brush up my navigation and on my return in July 1917 was lucky enough to get appointed to the First Reserve Officers' Training Class at the Naval Academy at Annapolis. I graduated there in September 1917, was transferred from the Reserve force to the U. S. Navy and before the Armistice had received two automatic promotions through no fault of my own to the rank of Lieutenant U. S. N. which rank I held when I resigned from the service June 7th, 1919, immediately on my return to the United States after thirteen months service in the war zone.

On leaving the Naval Academy I applied for command on one of the new U. S. Navy Submarine chasers and for foreign service and was lucky enough to get both, being ordered to command U. S. S. C. 36 at that time consisting of a keel and three ribs. We were not commissioned until January 1918 and after a brief but intense period of training in the ice and cold off New London in February and March, 1918, we sailed under sealed orders for the war zone. I was at this time in command of a division of three chasers and remained in command of the division until after the end of the war.

I crossed the Atlantic in April 1918 (this vessel was 110 feet long and propelled by three 240 h. p. standard engines) arriving at our base at Plymouth, England, early in June, and at once began offensive action against German submarines operating in the approaches to the English Channel and off Lands End. Our tour of duty was four days out and four days in and we sought the enemy by means of hydrophones. The enemy submarines did not see fit to reveal their presence to us and we had little chance for offensive action but secured in part our "raison d'être"—they discontinued operations to a great extent in the waters we were patrolling. We were therefore ordered to operate about 400 miles west of Brest where submarines were known to be gathering for a concentrated attack on some of our troop ship convoys. At noon on September 2 we sighted a submarine on the surface believed to be the U-53. The submarine immediately submerged and we tracked her by means of our hydrophones for two and a half hours at the end of which time we obtained a fix showing her to be 225 yards distant. The division then attacked with a depth bomb barrage after which time sound contact was lost. There was no evidence of destruction or damage but the submarine returned to her base via north of Scotland without further operations on her part and was turned over to us in Harwich after the armistice in a damaged condition.

After the armistice I caught the "flu" in Paris and nearly died but after recovering our division made several cruises around the British Isles, visiting Liverpool, Dartmouth and Salcombe. We sailed for the United States at the end of February, 1919, spending a month in the delightful city of Brest, a few weeks each in Lisbon, Ponta Delgada, and Bermuda, arriving in Boston at the end of May, 1919. I resigned from the Navy June 7, 1919. I was awarded the Navy Cross which I understand was likewise awarded to most of the chaser commanders.

Early in July 1919 I returned to the cotton business, this time with George H. McFadden & Brother in their head office and therefore returned to live in my native city of Philadelphia. I have had a very exciting and interesting ten years and when the wind blows in from the sea I miss the Navy and the war.

SINCE graduation in 1911 I have had one year off (1911-12) and one year in the Graduate School of Business Administration at Harvard (1912-13). On December 1st 1913 I went to work for Library Bureau in Boston, but on May 14, 1914 was transferred to the Indianapolis office. Remained there until January 15, 1918 when I went to Washington to assume charge of files in the Ordnance Department Procurement Division, Mail and Record branch. Left there December 4th, 1918 and returned to Library Bureau, Indianapolis, but was given Kentucky and Tennessee as my territory with headquarters at Louisville, Kentucky. On September 1, 1920 a branch office of Library Bureau was opened in Louisville and I was made manager.

Occupation: Civil Engineer.

Address: (Home) 57 Crawford St., Roxbury, Mass.

(Bus.) 82 Savin St., Roxbury, Mass.

AFTER a year in the Graduate School of Engineering, I entered the employ of Hugh Nawn Contracting Company of Boston and except while in the service (1917-1919), I have been with them ever since. Most of my time has been spent on underground work around Boston and at present I am on subway work, so that I am not quite so high in the world now as the day I received my degree.

Getting the war fever in July 1917, I enlisted in the Naval Reserve Force at Boston as a Chief Machinists Mate and was assigned to the Public Works Department, Boston Navy Yard. In October I received a commission as Ensign and in January 1918 was transferred to duty in England. My stay there, however, was only temporary and after traveling in England and France I finally ended up by being assigned to the Naval Post Office at Le Havre, France. In February 1919 this Post Office was abandoned and I was sent to Brest, France. During my assignment at Brest I was promoted to Lieutenant (j. g.) and was also fortunate in obtaining more than a month's leave of absence which I utilized to tour France, Belgium and Germany. In September 1919 I returned to the United States and received my release from active duty.

AFTER graduation I spent the academic year 1911-1912 doing graduate work in Romance Languages, in which I had specialized in college. The year 1912-1913 was passed in Charleston, South Carolina, teaching modern languages at the Porter Military Academy. In September 1913 I returned to Cambridge as Instructor in Romance Languages, doing graduate work at the same time under that wonderful group of teachers, Professors Ford, Grandgent and Sheldon. In the fall of 1916, after three years as instructor at Harvard, I came to Washington as Instructor in Romance Languages in George Washington University, my chief being Professor George N. Henning, '94. In February, 1918, I was promoted to Assistant Professor. My work has been mainly in Spanish. I have been national vice-president, as well as president, of the Washington Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish, and am a vice-president of the Association of Modern Language Teachers of the Middle States and Maryland. I was secretary of the Romance Language Section of the Modern Language Association of America at the Columbus, Ohio, meeting in the spring of 1920. I am a corresponding member of the Hispanic Society of America. At George Washington University I am a member of the Board of Managers of Student Activities, representing the faculty of the Department of Arts and Sciences, and president of the Faculty Club.

My outside activities have been mainly in connection with the "Journal of Education", edited by Dr. A. E. Winship, father of our classmate Laurence. I have written many reviews and articles for the "Journal" since leaving college, and now conduct for it a regular column of "Modern Language Items". I have also contributed short articles and reviews to "Hispania", "Modern Language Notes", "Modern Language Journal", and "Catholic Historical Review". I have translated from Italian a Passion Play, "On the Slopes of Calvary", by Dr. Aurelio Palmieri, which has been presented in Boston, Lawrence, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, and other places. From Spanish I have translated an unpublished book on Mexico by Jorge Vera Estañol.

With my good friend Guillermo Rivera '09, Instructor in Spanish at Harvard, I have prepared a reader for Spanish classes, "En España", published by Silver, Burdett & Company, and have now in preparation for D. C. Heath & Company an edition of the "sainetes" of Carlos Arniches.

The summer of 1920 I spent at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, in charge of the courses in Spanish in the Summer School, vice professor Ralph Hayward Keniston, '04. With Constantine E. McGuire, '11, and others, I am now engaged in arranging for the Dante Centenary celebration in Washington in October 1921. Professor Grandgent is to be the main speaker. I have been for a number of years a reader in Romance Languages for the College Entrance Examination Board.

Certain ideas on the ideal wife led me to investigate "the Annex". The search was rewarded. My wife was graduated from Radcliffe in 1914, at the age of nineteen, with distinction in Romance Languages, a record which has since been lowered to eighteen by her sister. We are the proud parents of a prospective Harvard '39 man and a Radcliffe '40 girl. Those of my classmates who are still poor miserable useless bachelors would do well to study the Radcliffe alumnæ list. You'll be surprised what nice girls they are; I know!

Born at Peking, China, Jan. 27, 1890.

Parents: Edward Bangs Drew, Anna Davis.

School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Patience Crenshaw Barrow, Savannah, Ga., June 2, 1915.

Child: Lionel Edward, Jr., Sept. 13, 1920.

War Service: Enlisted Oct. 6, 1917, Pvt.; Discharged Feb. 25, 1919, 1st Lt. Casual, Air Service.

Occupation: Secretary & Treasurer, Clarke Candy Co.

Address: (Home) 808 East 41st St., Savannah, Ga.

(Bus.) 116 East Bryan St., Savannah, Ga.

THE day after graduation I started for Panama, as the guest of T. R. Goethals 1912, together with Bob Blackall and Hal Tyron, returning on August 1, to "accept a position" as office boy in the Treasurer's Office of Stone and Webster in Boston.

In May 1912 I was sent to Savannah, Georgia, to the Savannah Electric Company and served in various capacities, chiefly in the Accounting Department. In June 1915 I married Patience C. Barrow of Savannah and made this city my home. In 1917 I was made Treasurer of the Savannah Electric Company, and in October of that year enlisted in the Air Service and was sent to the Ground Officers' Training School, Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas. In December I was commissioned and sent to the office of the Chief of Air Service, Washington, where I floundered around until the following April. From Washington I was sent to the Wilbur Wright Field, Fairfield, Ohio, to a school for Armament Officers for a three months course, and in June I found myself at Camp Merrit. Here I was given a company of the June Replacement Draft and finally landed them at St. Aignan, having spent a solid month on the transport.

My entire service in France was spent in Personnel Section of the Air Service at Tours. Having been supposedly trained as an Armament Officer it was quite natural that I should never get to be one! However, I had an excellent chance to observe the inside working of this branch insofar as the handling of the commissioned personnel was concerned by the West Point "Ring". I do not refer to the junior officers from civilian life but to those men who were commissioned as Majors and higher, specialists and men of exceptional ability, who were treated with rank injustice and who were side tracked at every opportunity. There seems to be a feeling that the Air Service as a whole in France did not make good and if this is so the fault lies with a group of narrow, conceited, and petty officers who played politics to a "queen's taste".

Stone and Webster had my job waiting for me when I was demobilized and I continued in my former capacity until October of this year when I resigned to become a partner in the Clarke Candy Company of Savannah. I have had a strenuous four months, and was mighty glad to see the old year go.

I heartily recommend Savannah as a splendid place to live in. If you don't mind a hot summer and like a mild winter, give it a try. Then, too, there is a line of boats between Savannah and various uncharted points south, and there is always a goodly supply to be had!

Occupation: General Contractor.

Address: (Home) 73 Worcester Road, Framingham, Mass.
(Bus.) 5 Elm St., Hopedale, Mass.

AFTER leaving college I worked three years in the Civil Engineering department of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad at Boston. In June 1912 I went to Colorado to try my luck in another part of the country. While in Denver I secured a position with the Denver & Rio Grand Southern Railroad and was sent to New Mexico, Arizona and Utah on various engineering projects. After that I was employed by the Denver & Salt Lake Construction Company as general foreman on the extension of the Moffit Railroad from Steamboat Springs to Craig, Colorado. In April 1914 I returned to Massachusetts and have been working on building construction and design until last spring, when I started in the contracting business. Have just completed a $250,000 housing project for a large manufacturing concern in Eastern Massachusetts.

ALLAN MASON DUMAS

Born at Lowell, Mass., May 21, 1889.

Parents: Ernest Grant Dumas, Seraphine Gardner Mason.

School: Lowell High School, Lowell, Mass.

Degrees: S. B. 1911.

Married: Elsie Hortense Broward, Washington, D. C., Aug. 31, 1918.

Child: Allan Mason, Jr., Jan. 11, 1920.

War Service: Enlisted July 6, 1917, Seaman, 2 Cl.; Released from active duty Jan. 18, 1919, Ensign, Pay Corps. U. S. N. R. F.

Occupation: Manufacturing Stationer.

Address: (Home) 516 Andover St., Lowell, Mass.

(Bus.) 67 Middle St., Lowell, Mass.

LIVED in Lowell until enlistment in the Navy in July 1917. Was called to active duty August 11, 1917, rating changed from Seaman to Landsman for Electrician (Radio) and sent to the U. S. N. Radio School at Harvard. Bunked in the Gymnasium at first, then changed quarters to Perkins Hall, and hung my washing out in the tennis courts for a couple of months.

October 11, 1917, was commissioned an Ensign in the Pay Corps, and the Navy thereby gained a brainy Paymaster but lost a good wireless operator.

Ordered to Washington in December 1917 and fought in all the principal battles in that sector until my release January 18, 1919.

I might add that the rumor that I refused a Distinguished Service Medal is entirely false.

Am now in Lowell again, manufacturing office stationery, and devoting my leisure time to the bringing up of a future Harvard man.

RAY POTTER DUNNING

Born at Springfield, Mass., Dec. 12, 1888.

Parents: James Gardner Dunning, Sarah Lily Potter.

School: Central High School, Springfield, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911 (1912); M. E. 1912.

Married: Mildred W. Lewis, Roselle, N. J., Apr. 9, 1921.

War Service: Reported to Active Duty Dec. 23, 1917, Ensign; Discharged Apr. 4, 1919, Lt. (J. G.). U. S. N. R. F.

Occupation: Technical Salesman, Chemical Dept., The Barrett Co.

Address: (Home) 85 Harrison St., East Orange, N. J.

(Bus.) 17 Battery Place, New York, N. Y.

IN July 1912 just after leaving Harvard, went with American Smelting and Refining Company as a chemist at its plant at Perth Amboy, New Jersey. Transferred to Mexico by same company and was an assayer and chemist at its lead smelter in Monterrey, Mexico, from January 1913 until September 1913 when revolutionary troubles caused plant to be shut down.

Returned to United States and was in employ of Stone & Webster as a resident engineer on construction work from September 1913 until September 1914.

Took up study of law in office of my father at Springfield, Massachusetts, which course was interrupted in May 1917 by the World War. Took competitive examinations for U. S. Naval Reserve Force June 1917 and applied for admission to Second Plattsburgh Training Camp.

Attended Second Plattsburgh Camp while waiting to hear from Navy examinations. Reported at Plattsburgh August 23, 1917. Recommended for commission in Artillery on same day that an appointment was received from Navy. Accepted commission in Naval Reserve Force.

Ordered to Washington, D. C. later where I was used on work in connection with the Explosives Program of the Navy, and eventually had charge of securing all Navy high explosive and many of the raw materials used for its manufacture.

While in the Navy, also became associated with the War Industries Board as Navy Representative on a Chemical Statistics Committee, and also represented the Navy as a member of the Toluol Commodity Section, and in meetings of several committees relating to chemicals used in making high explosives.

At close of war received offer from The Barrett Company with which concern I have been since April 1919, with the exception of the months of October and November 1920, when I was temporarily engaged in other work, returning to the Barrett Company on December 1, 1920.

GEORGE FRANCIS DWINELL

Born at Manchester, N. H., Oct. 27, 1889.

Parents: Demas Dwinell, Minnie Jackson.

School: Manchester High School, Manchester, N. H.

Degrees: M. D. 1915. A. B. (Dartmouth) 1911.

Married: Susan Lombard Swinscoe, Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 5, 1918.

War Service: Enlisted Nov. 7, 1917, 1st Lt. M. C.; Discharged June 6, 1919, Capt. M. C. Base Hospital 55.

Occupation: Physician.

Address: (Home) 830 Beech St., Manchester, N. H.

(Bus.) 913 Elm St., Manchester, N. H.

As I didn't graduate with my class I'm afraid this will not interest very many. I left at the end of freshman year thinking that my college days were over, but the next fall I was able to enter Dartmouth and finished there with the class of 1911.

The next four years were spent at Harvard Medical School and I received my M. D. in 1915. The next few months were spent mainly as a vacation, during which time I acted as camp doctor for the summer school of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

From September 1915 to September 1917 I put in two profitable years as interne at the Massachusetts General Hospital. I intended to remain there longer, but the war spoiled my plans and I applied for a commission in the Medical Corps.

My first duty was at the Medical Officers' Training Camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, from November 10, 1917 to January 20, 1918. Then I was transferred to the hospital at Fort Logan H. Roots, Arkansas. Just before this transfer I married Susan Lombard Swinscoe of Worcester, Massachusetts and she accompanied me to Fort Roots. We stayed there until my own unit, Base Hospital 55, was mobilized in July 1918 at Fort Oglethorpe.

On August 30, 1918 we sailed for France in a large convoy and arrived at Brest on September 11 without incident. We moved by easy stages to Toul and got our hospital in working order just too late for the St. Mihiel drive. As our sector was relatively quiet from that time on until the Armistice we weren't tremendously rushed until the "flu" hit us, then we had our hands full.

We stayed on and on and finally sailed from Marseilles on May 15, 1919 and arrived in New York on June 2. I was discharged four days later and came back to Manchester to the serious business of starting a practice.

I've had fair success in the year and a half that I've been at it, having been fortunate enough to obtain a hospital appointment and assistantship to a busy surgeon, but, of course, this is really the beginning of my life work in spite of my ten years out of college.

School: Groton School, Groton, Mass.

Years in College: 1907-1911.

Married: Fanny Dearden Bodman, Jersey City, N. J., March 6, 1912.

Children: Thomas Horton, Dec. 28, 1912; John Rayner, March 20, 1917.

War Service: Enlisted May 2, 1917, 2nd Lt.; Discharged May 22, 1919, 1st Lt. 104th U. S. Inf., 26th Div. Apremont; 2nd Marne; St. Mihiel; Meuse-Argonne. Croix de Guerre.

Occupation: Newspaper Writer.

Address: (Home) Nashoba Road, Concord, Mass.
(Bus.) c/o Boston Traveler, Boston, Mass.

SEPTEMBER 13, 1911, started on Boston Herald as reporter. January 1, 1912, fired. March 6, 1912, married. April 15, 1912, employed as reporter on Boston Traveler. July 1916, attended Plattsburgh camp. Winter of 1916-1917, studied for commission. May 2, 1917 commissioned Second Lieutenant, U. S. Reserve. May 1, 1917, resigned from Boston Traveler. May 15, 1917 to about August 20, 1917, at Plattsburgh camp. September 2, 1917, or thereabouts, assigned to 104th U. S. Infantry, Co. G. October 2, 1917, sailed for France. January 1918 transferred to F Company. From February 5 to October 30, 1919, intermittent front line service. July 20, wounded and sent to hospital for a month. August 25, or thereabouts, given command of H Company. September 30, or thereabouts, superseded by return of captain of H Company. September 13, promoted to First Lieutenant. October 30, wounded and sent to hospital for a month. After leave to Nice and elsewhere returned to regiment. December 26, rejoined H Company. Latter part of March 1919 sailed for the United States and arrived April 5. Discharged May 22, 1919. On December 2, 1920 was employed by Boston Traveler as "re-write man" and am still there (February 10, 1921).

I served in the following sectors (the dates are approximate), —February 5 to March 21, 1918, Chemin des Dames; April 10 to June 4, Toul; July 7 to July 20, Belleau Wood; September 2 to October 14, St. Mihiel; October 14 to October 30, Meuse-Argonne.

I took part in the Second Marne (Belleau Wood) Offensive, July 18-20, 1918, the St. Mihiel Offensive, September 12-14 and in a series of attacks during October in the Meuse-Argonne Offensive.

Opinions of the service: I think the National Guard system is a failure. I believe in universal military service instead, and a fairly large standing regular army. I greatly respect members of the National Guard, but believe the system is unsound.

During 1920 I served as secretary of James J. Mansfield Post of the American Legion of Concord, Massachusetts, and for 1921 was elected commander thereof.

My residences since leaving college have been as follows: June 1911 to September 1911, roving; September 1911 to March 1912, Holyoke Place, Cambridge, Massachusetts; March to July 1912, 259 Newbury Street, Boston; July to October 1912, 186 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston; October 1912 to June 1913, 259 Beacon Street, Boston; June 1913 to the present time, Concord, Massachusetts.

JACOB LESTER EISNER

Born at Red Bank, N. J., March 18, 1889.

Parents: Sigmund Eisner, Bertha Weis.

School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Marguerite Dell Davidson, Red Bank, N. J., Jan. 13, 1913.

Children: J. Lester, Jr., Nov. 27, 1913; Jacque R., July 25, 1918; S. Gerald, June 13, 1920.

War Service: Enlisted Dec. 13, 1917, Capt.; Discharged Jan. 1, 1919, Major. Quartermaster Corps.

Occupation: Manufacturer.

Address: Red Bank, N. J.

UPON leaving College I entered the employ of the Sigmund Eisner Company, manufacturers of uniforms and clothing at Red Bank, New Jersey. I was subsequently placed in charge of sales. In 1916 I was made treasurer, which position I continue to hold.

I have served three years as a member of the Board of Education of Red Bank, New Jersey.

In November 1917 I was called to Washington by the Quartermaster General of the Army to assist in the organization of the "Warehousing and Distributing Branch" of the Quartermaster Corps. In December of that year, I received an appointment as Captain Quartermaster Corps, after which I was placed in charge of the Depot Supervision Branch of that office.

In July 1918 I was ordered overseas, and just at the time due to embark, I was recalled, and ordered to Baltimore. At Baltimore I received the appointment of "Quartermaster Supply Officer", my duties being the control and forwarding of all supplies for the Quartermaster Corps passing through the port of Baltimore. In September 1918 I was promoted to the rank of Major, was made assistant "Port Storage Officer", and was placed in charge of an organization of approximately 4,000 men, my duties being the control and forwarding of all supplies for the Army passing through the port of Baltimore.

Upon receiving my discharge on January 1st, 1919, I accepted an appointment as Major, Quartermaster Section, Officers' Reserve Corps, and under date of April 27th, 1920 I was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel, Quartermaster Section, Officers' Reserve Corps, which office I still hold.

Upon receiving my discharge from active service, I joined the American Legion. I was appointed delegate by my Local Chapter to the County Convention, and in turn a delegate to the State Convention in 1919. At the State Convention, which was held in Newark, New Jersey, I was there elected one of the twelve delegates of the State to the First National Convention held at Minneapolis in November of that year. At Minneapolis I was appointed the New Jersey Chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the National Convention.

AFTER graduation spent a year abroad, part of the period at a German technical school and the rest in travel. Upon return I took one year in the Harvard Graduate School of Engineering to obtain a Master of Electrical Engineering degree. Started work in New York with Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Company where I remained until January 1914. Then I returned to Cambridge as laboratory assistant in electrical engineering courses. During the spring of 1914 I developed pneumonia and was compelled to retire to the Adirondacks where I remained until the fall of 1917. After my marriage in October 1914 we lived in Saranac Lake until the end of 1917, when I resumed work as assistant in electrical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Enlisted in the Navy in June. After sojourns in various training camps received commission as ensign in the U. S. Navy Reserve Force and was detailed to Annapolis for extra training. Graduated at the end of January 1919 after the armistice and was given choice of service afloat as ensign (temporary) in regular Navy or retiring to civilian life. Naturally I chose the latter and once more became a civilian. Started with Hornblower & Weeks in March 1919 and am still located at their Boston office, 60 Congress Street.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston; Harvard Club of New York; American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

FROM 1912 until the outbreak of the war in Europe I was engaged in the steel business in Boston,—the sale of steel for building construction purposes. With the decline of the demand for this material for building construction, caused by the diversion of the demand to war orders, the steel construction business became no longer profitable. I have since been in the Government service in Washington, in the State Department.

Child: Charles Walter, Jr., March 28, 1917.

War Service: Conn. Home Guard.

Occupation: Minister.

Address: 94 Eastern Ave., Fall River, Mass.

GRADUATED from the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Massachusetts. Served as Assistant Rector at St. Paul's Church, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, from 1914 to 1915; Assistant Rector of St. John's Church, Bridgeport, Connecticut, from 1915 to 1918. Since 1918 I have been Rector of St. Mark's Church, Fall River, Massachusetts.

Aside from my regular duties as a pastor, I have tried to see that the Church reaches the community. In the work that was done at Milwaukee, Bridgeport and at Fall River, active Boy Scout troops have been organized and carried on successfully since the day they began. Once a year in the Bridgeport and Fall River Churches, a Barn Service is held in the Christmas season. This service requires a barn placed in the chancel of the Church, and all the young people of the parishes are asked to fill the barn with Christmas provisions and luxuries. These are sent to the homes of the needy in time for Christmas. This distribution of Christmas baskets has given real relief to families in distress.

In Fall River, which is a great center of one of Massachusetts' basic industries, I have established a Forum for the open discussion of public questions of interest to all men. Sometimes the discussions are given to Labor, and then again the meetings are given to lectures which have a high educational value.

At present the parish is building a $30,000 parish house to meet the needs of the people in the Church and the community. With the completion of the parish house, I hope to establish a dental clinic among these people who have not yet taken the advantages along these lines. In many instances boys and girls have all their front teeth extracted before they are sixteen through lack of care in the earlier formative years. Much can be done in this kind of service in the community.

For the last two years an active young women's organization has been growing into the life of the parish and the community. It has a membership of seventy. They meet in three groups once a week, and not only is it a center for making the proper friendships, but also for preparing them for larger interests in life. One group studies millinery, another embroidery, and the third gives its time to dramatics.

The opportunities for real services in Fall River cannot be equalled in any city. While other cities have their industrial problems, there is a variety of industries which divides the interests of all. In Fall River, however, as well as other cities where there is the one basic industry engaging the interest of practically every one, it is much easier to grasp the situation and meet the needs of the people. It is in these industrial centers where the central organization of all churches should give of their men and money freely.

Occupation: Textile Fibre Merchant.

Address: (Home) 100 Seaver St., Boston, Mass.

(Bus.) 184 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

I LEFT college in June 1910 and associated myself with The World Peace Foundation in Boston, my special field of endeavor lying amongst the colleges. About February 1911 I went to work in the Pacific Mills at Lawrence, Massachusetts and Dover, New Hampshire, apprenticing in the various departments. About September 1913, I went to work for my father, who was running a small cotton waste mill. In the fall of 1916 I severed connections with my father and started a government contract business.

In May 1918 I was inducted into the service and assigned to the 310th Cavalry at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, where I was acting 1st Sergeant until transferred in August to the Field Artillery Central Officers' Training School at Camp Taylor, Kentucky. The armistice was signed prior to my graduation, and I was discharged from the army November 26, 1918.

In February 1919 I organized the Puritan Fibre Company, dealing in textile fibres and wastes, of which firm I am president.

Occupation: Head Master, Huntington School, Boston.

Address: (Home) 91 Moraine St., Jamaica Plain, Mass.

(Bus.) 320 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass.

UPON graduating from Harvard I became Headmaster of the Huntington School of Boston. I was largely responsible for organizing and establishing this school which is now the largest day school in New England, having an annual enrollment of over three hundred boys. The school prepares for colleges and technical schools and has now over two hundred graduates scattered among the larger colleges of New England or in business and industry. A goodly number of these boys have entered Harvard, one of the list being Roscoe Fitts who figured so prominently in the Princeton and Yale football games. The faculty numbers twenty men with approximately half of them Harvard men.

During the war I was actively interested in the various organizations which worked among and for the soldiers. I was Junior Red Cross Director for the New England District. I organized and financed a farm camp for boys who wished to do their bit to increase production. The wages earned by these boys during the seasons the camp was operated totaled approximately $15,000.

Notwithstanding my many duties I have found time to continue my studies at Harvard on a part time basis and was given the A. M. degree last year. I am now studying for my doctorate.

THE "Life since Graduation" lines of a decennial report disclose the truth like the lines in one's face. Both can be treated artificially, I suppose, with certain successful concealment, but after all, the truth is best, and so here goes for an account of a varied but very satisfying and interesting ten years.

Six months with an efficiency expert in the Chickering Piano Factory, Boston, landed me in the berth of assistant superintendent with the embarrassing task of putting into effect the various "improvements" so glibly suggested. A year of that was followed by a year in the wholesale selling office ending up in the summer of 1914 as assistant to the General Manager of the parent company in New York, the American Piano Company. Then came a complete change of business in which with my father and Charles Brewer, I took up the management of real estate properties. For one year and a half I withstood the lures of the Great War but when finally in March 1916 an opportunity was offered to go to Europe as assistant to the Chief of the War Relief Commission of the Rockefeller Foundation, I could no longer resist. The purpose of the Commission was the relief of non-combatants, interest being particularly focused at the time on the peoples of occupied Russia, i. e. Poland. Negotiations to this end entailed conversations with the Governments of the Allied as well as Central Powers and after four months spent in England, France, Sweden and Switzerland, we finally gathered our courage and plunged into Germany and Austria. Switzerland eventually became headquarters, and at the time of America's entrance into the war when the work of the Commission was merged with that of the American Red Cross, we had a colony in Switzerland of 500 Belgian children, taken from the shelled areas, were feeding milk to 50,000 children daily in Occupied Poland, were contributing to the Y. M. C. A. work in prison camps of all countries, had started an investigation of the spread of tuberculosis in France, and assisted numerous war organizations such as institutions for the war crippled and blind in various countries.

Upon completion of the Rockefeller work in June 1917, I went to Paris to enter the U. S. Army, was told to go back to America, refused, and took up work with the American Red Cross until entrance into the field service of the Army in France became possible. This work consisted of organizing canteens for French troops along the lines of communication and laying the foundation for similar canteens for our own troops upon their arrival. I have eaten often at Childs, but never investigated its mechanism. It served as a good sample, however, and by fall we were feeding about 20,000 men a day, giving them a place to get cleaned up, to sleep and to read and amuse themselves.

In November I again applied at G. H. Q., A. E. F., and on December 1st, 1917 received from Washington by cable commission as Second Lieutenant, F. A., O. R. C., and orders to report to the Field Artillery School at Saumur, France. This was followed by a course at the Tractor Artillery School, Vincennes, and assignment in April to the 146th Field Artillery, which served with the 155 mm. G. P. F. guns, as Corps Artillery during its participation in the war. From Battery C, I was assigned as Operations Officer of the Regiment, from there to the Artillery Information Section of the Artillery, First Army, U. S., served as liaison with the Artillery of the Second French Army, eventually digging myself out of that comfortable berth by way of the Operation Section of the Artillery, First Army, U. S., to the 86th R. A. L. French supporting American units in the Argonne.

On November 9, 1918 I was ordered to report to Colonel E. M. House, Paris, took in the Armistice there, participated in the first two organization months of the American Peace Commission, and then was shot off to Poland on the Information Mission of Professor A. C. Coolidge. From January 1919 until August I was all over Poland, returning finally to Paris, where I was demobilized on September 1, 1919, and sailed for home.

That would seem enough for any sensible human being but in December came a cable from E. L. Dressel, American Commissioner to Germany, asking me to join him as special assistant, and upon receiving appointment from the State Department, I was off again in January, 1920, and am still in Berlin as I write.

I am sorry to have taken up so much space ; I am sorry not to have added more to the general prosperity of the class but in the first case no itemized list of places and dates would have given a true picture,—nor explained the lines in my face,—and in the second I have at least the satisfaction of knowing that I carried a bit of a word about Harvard University to remote corners of new and old countries and have brought back to Harvard University an interest in these new and old countries which I hope may be of use.

In February 1916 he was married to Elizabeth Hare Powell of Ardsly on the Hudson, and the following April he sailed for England to enlist in the British Army. He trained at Bristol and Ripon and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders. In January 1917 he went to the French front and served continuously for fourteen months except for two brief furloughs. He was killed March 23, 1918, the opening day of the last great German offensive.

THE summer of 1911 I went to Italy with Harold Pulsifer, returning that autumn to enter the Department of Decorative Arts of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City, where I spent six busy years. The Pierpont Morgan, Altman, and other collections of works of art, were received during this period, the Museum grew enormously, and the life was exciting, as a considerable portion of these collections were under my charge. I enjoyed part of the work, but always hoped to make things myself rather than look after the things other people had made, and I managed to finish various architectural and decorative commissions, apart from the Museum. From 1914 to the autumn of 1917 I was Head of my department, but resigned to go to the war.

I entered the Air Service, had my share of Texas dust and flying-fields, and after the customary hopes deferred was sent to Langley Field at Hampton Roads to experiment in the camouflage of air-planes. There I worked out various kinds of protective coloration which seemed of sufficient practical use to justify their application, and as the authorities in Washington thought so too, they officially recommended their adoption. I was promoted and ordered abroad to Romorintin to paint our ships there—when the Armistice put an end to that chapter.

However I could not get my discharge until the work was placed on a "permanent" basis, but of course it is now in the limbo of the rest of the Air Service.

Since my discharge in February 1919 I am trying to be a painter with a strong inclination towards portraits. I have completed lately several decorative commissions in New York, have spent some months in the Rocky Mountains and California, both seeing and painting, and am now in Rome where I have a studio in the old portion of the city. I am enjoying this venerable and pleasant place and am glad to be able to work out peacefully some ideas which have been troubling me for a long time.

IN July, 1911, I went abroad and spent the summer travelling about Europe with Bob McKay. Returning to New York early in October, my first venture in business was as a runner in the firm of Potter, Choate & Prentice. In a year's time I joined the Bond Department of Kissell Kinnecutt & Company and represented them in Rochester, New York, for about eighteen months.

At the start of the World War I went to France, arriving there August 14, 1914. Remained in France for about six weeks and then went to England where I worked for a few weeks in the Passport department of the American Embassy.

Returning to America I resumed business, and in June 1916 went to the Mexican Border with the 7th N. Y. Infantry. On returning to New York I was commissioned Second Lieutenant in the 15th N. Y. Infantry. In July 1917 we were mustered into the Federal Service and I became First Lieutenant. After a hectic existence in half a dozen training camps we sailed for Europe in November 1917. Shortly after we arrived the name of the regiment was changed to the 369th Infantry and we were assigned to the 16th Division French Army. We were in line continuously in Champagne from April until September. In September my transfer to the 306th Battalion Tank Corps arrived. After the Armistice I spent a delightful month or so in Paris attached to the Peace Commission and returned to America in April 1919. Since then I have been connected with the Stock Exchange firm of Moore, Leonard & Lynch.

Occupation: Estimator with National Engineering Corp'n, Contractors.

Address: (Home) 122 Pleasant St., Brookline, Mass.

(Bus.) 27 School St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER graduation I took two years in the graduate school studying civil engineering, and then went with the Hugh Nawn Contracting Company of Boston, and spent four years on various construction work around Boston, including the Boylston Street Subway, the Dorchester Tunnel by South Station, the bridge for the Boston Elevated across Mystic River outside Sullivan Square, and the Harvard Heating Tunnel, which connects the Yard with the Freshman Dormitories. When the war broke out I was a sergeant in the First Corps of Cadets, Massachusetts National Guard, having enlisted in 1914. When this Corps was reorganized into the 101st Engineers I received a National Guard commission as First Lieutenant, and sailed with them on September 26, 1917. I remained with the Engineers until October 1918, being present with them on two defensive sectors and at the St. Mihiel offensive. I was then transferred to the Engineer Depot at St. Nazaire, where I remained until September 1st, 1919. Since my discharge, I have been with the Aberthaw Construction Company, with Lockwood, Greene & Company, Engineers, and am now with the National Engineering Corporation, who are constructors of concrete work, chiefly industrial buildings and hydro-electric plants.

Occupation: Banker.

Address: (Home) 19 Claflin Road, Brookline, Mass.

(Bus.) Merchants National Bank, Boston, Mass.

AFTER graduating in 1911 I entered newspaper work as reporter on the staff of The Standard, the leading daily paper at New Bedford, Massachusetts. In 1912 I was made Textile Editor of The Standard, in which capacity I developed a three-page textile section in the Sunday edition. During the next few years I built up a textile news service which I sold to newspapers and private business houses in various parts of the country. In July 1918 I left The Standard, and discontinued my textile news service, to become Secretary of the Industrial Service Department of the Merchants National Bank of Boston. In 1920 I was made manager of that department of the Merchants Bank, which position I now hold. I am also statistician of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, having held this position for four years.

Publications: I am editor and compiler of the 1920 Yearbook of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, and the 1921 Yearbook of the same organization.

IMMEDIATELY after graduation I took refuge in the teaching profession. Holding down, more or less, two jobs, one in Concord, Massachusetts, and one in Philadelphia at the Penn Charter School, I made more or less of a living until the latter institution found out my deficiencies and fired me. Feeling at that juncture both rich and ignorant I came back to Cambridge and spent a year, or most of one, with Dean Holmes and the Graduate School of Education, getting the A. M. tattooed. The late unpleasantness with the Central Powers spilled my beans along with those of the rest of us, and I started in to see America first. I began as a buck in Boston, but proceeded anon to the second Plattsburgh Camp on the strength of a recommendation from Edmands, whom I slipped the snappy salute one day on Hawley Street, getting the optimistic response that if he could get a commission—he having emerged from the first camp an officer at the hands of a perspicacious lot, I'll say—probably anybody could. At the said camp they set me to teaching gunnery, and I got my commission and a life sentence to schools. Successively thence to Devens, Columbia, South Carolina, Cody, New Mexico, Taylor, Kentucky, where the Country Club, God bless 'em, could always find you some, Sill, Oklahoma, and the wide world again. Nobody would give me a job teaching, so I became an enemy of society and am engaged in selling spellers to those foolish enough to buy them. Any school authorities in the class please write. Last summer I found a girl who didn't know me very well; we got married in June and I have been able to keep her, so far, from the discovery of my true character. My health is splendid, and my condition much improved by the last step.

From my point of view it was a good war. I didn't get over, of course, but the army life I got put muscle on and gave me an appetite. In a small way I feel exactly as McNider does about the Legion, and I am doing my inadequate damndest to make my post worth while. It is that, too. We have an all-sorts bunch, as every decent post, I suppose, has. We get in there and curse the army and swear about the bonus and write majority and minority letters to our congressman, but whatever the value of that sort of thing is, we are getting under each other's hides and finding out what makes Ward 23. The aftermath of the war has a lot of dark smirches on it, but one thing it has produced capable of immeasurable public service, and that's the A. L. How many are in?

UNTIL late 1911 I was an accountant in the Municipal Bureau of the State of Massachusetts. From there I migrated to Baltimore to fill the position of cost accountant for Henry Sonnebonn Company, clothing manufacturers. Cleveland became my next home in April 1914, shortly after I was married. From then on until June 1919 I was busy at the Printz-Brederman Company, first in the capacity of cost accountant and then as factory manager, and at the same time happy in contemplating an increasing family.

Beginning June 1919 I became a professional Industrial Engineer, specializing in the needle trades, trusting that what little I had contributed to the science of manufacturing would be rewarded by wider recognition. It still makes me wonder, when I think of it, why it has fallen to my lot to teach others how to run their business and that these others are actually paying for it.

However, I am very grateful to Harvard for having taught me what it did. For upon what I learned there I built and enjoyed my work as much as anyone could. To say that I owe much happiness to my college training is not enough, for I owe to it also a large share of my earning power.

ALTHOUGH "admitted to the company of educated men" in 1911, I felt that more education was necessary before attempting to earn a living, so I made one of the wisest decisions of my long and eventful career and entered the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. In two years I endeavored to absorb the fundamentals of business, particularly accounting, and received the degree of the school in 1913,—Master in (not of) Business Administration. I served as treasurer of the school club and was made permanent secretary of my class. Later I was instrumental in organizing the Harvard Business School Alumni Association and served on its council until the present year.

My first business experience was with Willett, Sears & Company, since deceased, where I learned a lot of good and bad business in the accounting branches of that and some of its "client companies". A year and a half was enough and more, so I moved along in February, 1915, to the auditing department of the Standard Oil Company of New York and for another eighteen months rotated among the several main offices of that company absorbing what little information was lying around loose. Meanwhile I took the wisest step of all and married. In the course of time certain conditions indicated in the statistical chart made travelling rather distasteful. July, 1916, found me at the foot of the ladder in the Boston office of Lybrand, Ross Brothers & Montgomery, one of the finest firms of public accountants in the country. By this time, being in the third job in three years, nomadic instincts were well developed. I lasted less than a year. During the year, however, I took and passed the State examinations for the degree of Certified Public Accountant, which had been a goal since 1911. About that time the country pocketed its pride and entered the war, but for various reasons, which now as then seemed sufficient, I did not enlist. In June, 1917, to relieve a man for important government service, I became office manager and shortly afterward assistant treasurer for the Henley Kimball Company, distributors of Hudson cars. Eighteen months was again fatal. I exchanged the comparative monotony of private work for the kaleidescopic joys of public accounting by again joining the staff of Lybrand, Ross Brothers, in February, 1919. Six years out of the university and on my fifth job. I am now on my sixth, and like most rolling stones have gathered little moss. In December, 1919, I forsook the career of a wage slave and became a capitalist (?) by hanging out my shingle as a C. P. A., the work I had been training for. Deo volens, I shall last longer than eighteen months.

My only connection outside my profession is with Pace & Pace, where I am in the faculty, instructing in accounting in their Boston School.

IT seems a long time since I took my Lares and Penates (same being, in modern days, my degree and receipted bills) and left Cambridge in pursuit of wealth and fame, and though the pursuit has been a long and eager one, both W. and F. have, I feel, increased their lead, and I am now running about two jumps ahead of the bill collector—who is gaining. However, if I can only keep it up for one hundred years or so—

I have followed the profession in the atmosphere of which I grew up, namely, engineering. From the fall of 1911 to that of 1913 I helped,—in a small,—very small,—way—to build the Catskill Aqueduct, spending much of my time three hundred feet odd below the street of New York in the City Tunnel. Then I went to work for Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins, contractors for part of the City Tunnel, and under the inspiration and guidance of this firm, manifested by their carelessness as to my being, I learned a little about designing, estimating and bulldozing.

Late in 1914,—just six years ago at this writing,—I came to my present guardian angel,—Smith, Hauser & MacIsaac, Inc. I am proudest of the fact that I have been employed by them for six years through both plenty and famine in the contracting game.

We,—note the note of ownership,—built a piece of subway in New York, the William Street section, than which none was more difficult. In 1917 some fifteen thousand of us built Camp Meade, one of the big cantonments. Then we went to Center Bay, Missouri, and built an Ordnance Depot. I, however, remained in New York with one or two others, such as a superannuated watchman and an excitable old bookkeeper, and had the pleasant experience of finishing up the subway job, with costs rising over night and labor simply impossible.

During 1918 we worked for the Navy at Brooklyn and Philadelphia. At present we're working yet, for the Army. And if you think we're to be classed with war profiteers just let me say that our total fees on $20,000,000 were hardly $300,000, and that the "Old Man" has been in broken health ever since Camp Meade where, at the age of sixty, and for long inactive, he put in twenty hours a day for seven solid weeks.

I dabble in things pertinent to the Engineering School, and I practice a little architecture on the side. I am raising a family,—who of us now is not? Though sorrow and trouble has touched my fair brow I am still in the ring, as witness a game of football a week ago.

I'm a commuter,—an accursed fate,—but still it might be the Erie instead of the glorious Hudson River twice a day. I am much travelled, having, in the past ten years, about 120,000 miles of railroad track to my credit.

P. S. I am growing a moustache so strangers won't call me "boy".

Parents: George Henry Graves, Stella A. Hadlock.

School: Noble & Greenough School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; M. Arch. 1913.

Married: Ruth Woodward Bailey, Malden, Mass., May 25, 1918.

Child: Janette, June 16, 1920.

War Service: Enlisted May 12, 1917, R. O. T. C.; Discharged Feb. 4, 1919, Capt. Inf. U. S. A.

Occupation: Manager Tool Dept., Walworth Mfg. Co., Philadelphia branch.

AFTER graduating from the Architectural School, I entered the office of Warren & Smith, Boston, and drew pretty houses until the United States entered the World War. On one memorable night, with plenty of other 1911 men, I took the train for Plattsburgh and reported for duty at the O. T. C. there on May 12th, 1917. After shivering for one month and sweating for two, I was commissioned a Second Lieutenant, Infantry, and assigned to Camp Devens, Massachusetts. Here several companies of men were duly initiated into the game and sent overseas. I was promoted to a First Lieutenant on April 1, 1918 and on the strength of that was married on May 25th to Ruth Bailey of Malden, Massachusetts, my home town. About the last of June I was sent to Camp Perry, Ohio, to the Small Arms Firing School. Upon my return I was assigned to the 73rd Infantry, 12th Division under General McCain. On August 24th I was promoted to a Captain and placed in command of Co. B, 73rd Infantry, 12th Division. After the armistice this company had to be mustered out. Its Captain secured his discharge on February 4, 1919. After a welcome vacation I threw in my lot with that of the Walworth Manufacturing Company of Boston and was sent to the Philadelphia branch where I have been since. I feel like a regular Quaker by now. See-lah!

AFTER graduation from college in 1911, I entered the medical school for a long grind ending in 1914, with the degree of M. D. I then became a medical house officer at the Boston City Hospital for twenty months. After all this preliminary training I still lacked courage to face the outside world, so I entered the Children's Hospital, Boston, for nine more months, ending April 1917. I was spared the ennui of warming a desk chair in my office, by the declaration of war. Brave like, I answered the call in May, 1917 and found myself overseas in July 1917, attached to a British regiment as medical house officer. As is the way in the army, my qualifications as a children's doctor presumed that I could serve as a regimental M. O. How mete! However, my services were appreciated for it was my British colonel who recommended me for promotion to the rank of captain. Wasn't it topping? After serving a year with the B. E. F. stick in hand and kerchief in sleeve, I was transferred to the A. E. F. at the time of the Chateau-Thierry drive. I was attached to Evacuation Hospital No. 4, where work took the place of four o'clock tea. With this organization I went into Germany with the Army of (no) Occupation. Our first stop in Germany was in Trarben-Trarbach an der Moselle. Here the motto is,

*Es trinkt der Mensch, es sauft das Pferd
In Trarben-Trarbach ist es umgekehrt.*

I returned home via Southern route S. S. Zeelandia and was discharged at Camp Jackson, April 21, 1919. Armistice Day, 1919 I celebrated in the approved fashion,—I got married. I am now the proud possessor of a little girl.

With whiskey high, stocks low and appeals for the Harvard Endowment Fund, what can one do but settle down to serious business? I am now practising diseases of children and I find it extremely interesting. I am Junior Assistant Visiting Physician at the Children's Hospital and I am looking forward to our Decennial with great anticipation.

ELBRIDGE GERRY GREENE

Born at Dresden, Saxony, Germany, Aug. 29, 1888.

Parents: William Batchelder Greene, Sarah Sargeant Austin.

School: Clifton College, Bristol, England and St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.

Years in College: 1907-Feb. 1912.

Occupation: Diplomatic Officer of the United States.

Address: (Home) c/o New England Trust Co., 135 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.

(Bus.) (Present temporary) American Legation, Bucharest, Roumania.

(Permanent) Department of State, Washington, D. C.

I LEFT college in February 1912. From that date until January 1913 I automobiled around Europe. During 1913, I was in Washington preparing for taking examinations for diplomatic service. Was informed of having passed examination on January 19, 1914. Appointed as Third Secretary to Embassy in London May 22, 1914. Promoted to Second Secretary of Embassy July 28, 1916. Appointed as Chargé d'Affaires of the United States September 22, 1916 at Caracas, Venezuela. Appointed Chargé d'Affaires of the United States April 7, 1918 at Panama, Republic of Panama. Assigned for duty in the Latin American Division of the State Department at Washington December 26, 1918. Promoted to First Secretary of Embassy December 5, 1919. Appointed first secretary of the American Mission at Budapest, Hungary, May 20, 1920. Appointed Chargé d'Affaires of the United States at Bucharest, Roumania, October 27, 1920, where I am at the present time.

My opinion of the service, that is to say, the diplomatic service, is that it needs reorganization very badly, that for the sake of American business and other interests abroad, as well as for the sake of the foreign relations of the United States which during the past eight years have suffered incalculably owing to the impossible political appointments made by William Jennings Bryan, when Secretary of State, it should be altogether removed from politics. It should be impossible for a person in no way qualified to hold a responsible position of any kind to be made Ambassador or Minister in some country where American interests are of the very greatest importance, just because the person referred to made a subscription to the funds of the party elected. Millions of dollars have been lost in foreign markets to American business owing to the most deplorable appointments made by Mr. Bryan since 1913. If the personal records of these Ministers while in office could become known to the public, it is safe to say that under no conditions would the people of the United States put up in the future with similar misrepresentation abroad.

In the final analysis the question is one for the voter, who through Congress should demand that American business interests abroad as well as the country's foreign relations should have a square deal, proper representation and protection. In these days of political and economic interdependence between nations the importance of a country's foreign service cannot be exaggerated.

WILLIAM CHASE GREENE

Born at Brookline, Mass., June 14, 1890.

Parents: Herbert Eveleth Greene, Harriet Savage Chase.

School: Jefferson School, Baltimore, Md.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; A. M. 1916; Ph. D. 1917; B. A. (Oxford Univ.) 1914.

Married: Margaret Weed Eckfeldt, Cambridge, Mass., July 18, 1917.

Children: Herbert Thomas, Sept. 12, 1918; Margaret Chase, Jan. 12, 1920.

Occupation: Instructor at Harvard.

Address: 44 Shepard St., Cambridge, Mass.

FROM 1911 to 1914, I was an undergraduate (Rhodes Scholar) at Balliol College, Oxford University, where I studied Literæ Humaniores (Philosophy and Ancient History), and acquired a lasting respect for the well-balanced intellectual, social, and athletic life of an English University. It is pleasant to be able to remember an England that in many respects can never again be the same, and to know a number of the young Englishmen who represented, in the war and in the reconstruction, the best in the English tradition. My vacations, generously long, were spent mainly in France, Italy, Greece, and Germany; during the last year I stayed in England.

From 1914 to 1917 I was at Harvard, first as Instructor in English, and then as Secretary of the Faculty Committee on the Use of English by Students, and carrying on graduate studies in classics which led to the Ph. D. in 1917. During these years I lived as a proctor in the Freshman Dormitories, which are an interesting, and on the whole a successful, attempt to create a sane and agreeable atmosphere for the whole freshmen class.

In 1917 I was married, and became a master in Groton School. It is a fine school, in which the boys are given every opportunity for all-round development, and are helped, possibly even more than is desirable, to conform to the ideal of the school. Of its kind, no school could be better; and the friendly relations of masters and boys, and of the masters themselves, as well as the out-of-door life, are delightful.

In 1920 I returned with my augmented family to Harvard, where I am now Instructor in Greek and Latin. My work consists mainly of giving courses in the usual way, but includes also the supervision and constant advising of the men concentrating in classics; for a movement has been launched in the teaching of classics, as in other departments, aiming at the students' getting an understanding of the significance of their subject, not merely at their passing courses. From time to time I have been writing on literary and philosophical subjects.

My military experience went no further than a month at Plattsburgh (August, 1916), during which time I held for nearly an hour the high rank of corporal, and helped in drilling the Groton School training battalion.

THE year following graduation I tutored in a private family in New York State, and in the fall of 1912 entered the Harvard Medical School, graduating in 1916. A fourteen month internship on the medical side in the Massachusetts General Hospital kept me busier and more contented than I have ever been in my life, and in October 1917 I sailed for France to enter the Harvard Surgical Unit which I had promised the year before to enter.

At the end of the war I entered the service of the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, and sailed for Brazil in March 1919. The first year I travelled over the southern part of Brazil studying tropical diseases and problems in connection with public health in these regions, and this second year has been devoted to the installation and administration of five posts for the intensive treatment of hookworm disease and its prevention, and the prevention and treatment of malaria. About 50,000 persons were examined and about the same number of treatments given.

I greatly regret being too busy to make the long journey back to the Decennial; and I hope that in spite of having no medical support Sanger Steel will strike up that most lyrical of prescriptions, "Take a highball at night fall!" and all weakly brothers in need of treatment will join in. But only when prescribed by a physician! See Harding or Aub—early—every doctor gets mean when he's tired.

LEAVING college with nothing more definite in mind than a desire to get into business, I tried several lines of work from interior decorating to selling advertising to manufacturers. Then the opportunity was offered to go with Dennison Manufacturing Company, entering a salesmen's class. This was the chance to make the right connection and gain a basic knowledge.

After three and a half months of intensive training at the factory they sent me to Pittsburgh to sell the general line in the smaller towns of Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Later, I specialized in one line in the chief manufacturing towns, and was then transferred home to Massachusetts territory. Fortunately, this territory was waiting for me after getting out of service, and after about another year on it I was taken into the factory as assistant to the committee chairman of the line I had been selling. Nine months later they gave me my present job of Assistant Purchasing Agent.

TOOK A. M. and LL. B. and was admitted to the bar of the State of New York. Since 1917 have been an associate in the law firm of Harrington, Bigham & Englar, admiralty proctors, 64 Wall Street. Aside from professional activities, director in several real estate and shipping companies.

During World War characterized by Commanding Officer as the man "who got the Navy to sea in the Merchant Marine and got the Merchant Marine to see the Navy". Placed two patrol vessels in commission and after brief sea experience was ordered to organize and develop the officers' Material School (Deck), Naval Auxiliary Reserve. Personally selected the students, supervised their sea training, and commissioned over 4,000 naval officers for troop and cargo transports. This school was commonly known as "The Annapolis of the Merchant Marine". That the United States Steamboat Inspectors gave third mate licenses to products of the school who, after graduation, had only four months of sea training instead of the customary two years, and that the men passed their examinations for such licenses, is but one of the many excellent tributes to the efficiency and organization of the work. The "Deck School Log" (300 pp. Wynkoop, Hallenbeck Crawford, 1920.) was dedicated to me by the editors.

Held several scholastic honors including the Carnegie Foundation Fellowship in International Law.

At Columbia played two years on the 'Varsity baseball team. In recognition of my assistance in the restoration of intercollegiate football at Columbia the undergraduates at a large mass meeting in 1914 presented me with a loving cup. During 1911-20 was on the football coaching staff at Harvard. President of the New Orleans Convention of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

Commander of the Naval Auxiliary Reserve (Joseph Hodges Choate) Post, Number 16, American Legion, New York, and Vice Commander, New York Chapter of the Military Order of the World War. 1918. Military Cross.

Occupation: Surgeon.

Address: 82 Chestnut St., Boston, Mass.

MY senior year I spent at Trinity College, Cambridge, England. When not working I played wing-three-quarter on the second, later on the first, Rugby football fifteen, a game which I believe to be much superior to the American game. Rowing in the "Rugby Boat" we made "three bumps" in the Lent Races and in the May races made three bumps rowing in the College second boat that ended fifth on the river out of thirty-one crews. At the Henley Regatta in July rowed in the Trinity College eight that won the Thames Challenge Cup. In the vacations traveled in France, Italy, Switzerland, England and Scotland. Teacher at Groton School, Groton, Massachusetts, 1911-1912. Entered Harvard Medical School in 1912, receiving my M. D. in 1916. Rowed on Union Boat Club eight 1915 and 1916 winning the "Steward's Cup" at the American Henley in 1916.

In May 1916 went overseas with the Harvard Surgical Unit as Lieutenant Royal Army Medical Corps and was stationed at 22nd General Hospital, B. E. F., France. Commissioned Captain March 1917. While at the Hospital I served six months as Registrar and Receiving Officer in addition to my regular medical work. September to December 1917 served at No. 10 Casualty Clearing Station behind Ypres during the Paschaendale fighting. September to December 1918 I was sent to the 1st Northumbrian Field Ambulance, 50th Division, British Fourth Army, during the drive through the Hindenburg Line on to just south of Mauberge at the time of the Armistice when I was Battalion Medical Officer to the Fourth King's Royal Rifle Corps. Awarded the Military Cross during this term of duty. On demobilization in January 1919 was given the permanent rank of Honorary Captain Royal Army Medical Corps.

Graduated from the Boston City Hospital (surgical side) in July 1919 after sixteen months in the service of Dr. E. H. Nichols. If all goes well I expect to graduate from the Boston Lying-in Hospital in February 1921 and start waiting for a kind public.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Alice Cunningham, Boston, Mass., Sept. 8, 1920.

War Service: Enlisted Jan. 26, 1918, 2nd Lt. Aviation Section, Signal Corps; Discharged July 15, 1919, 1st Lt. Air Service, U. S. A. Air Service Headquarters, A. E. F.

Occupation: Merchant.

Address: (Home) 12 Chauncy St., Cambridge, Mass.
(Bus.) 72 Franklin St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER graduation I spent two months on a riding trip in Arizona and New Mexico, then returned to Cambridge for six months at the Law School. Since April 1912 I have been in the employ of Bliss Fabyan & Company, cotton goods merchants, 72 Franklin Street, Boston.

I served three years in Troop B, 1st Squadron Cavalry, Massachusetts National Guard, and was with that organization on the Mexican Border, near El Paso, Texas, from July to November 1916 during one of Villa's outbursts of banditry.

In June 1917, after having been thrice turned down for the Army on account of poor eyesight, I sailed for France as a volunteer in the American Field Service. Served with Ambulance Section IV, attached to the 20th Division of the French Army on the Verdun front from July to November 1917. The greatest activity of the Section was during the successful French attack of August 1917 when the "Mort Homme" was recaptured and some 10,000 German prisoners taken.

From November 1917 to June 1919 I was attached to the American Air Service Headquarters in France with station at Tours and Paris, my duties being in connection with the moving of supplies. Was commissioned Second Lieutenant, Aviation Section, Signal Corps, January 26, 1918. Promoted to First Lieutenant, Air Service, U. S. A. October 15, 1918. Returned to the United States on the "Leviathan" July 5, 1919. Discharged at Camp Jackson, South Carolina, July 15, 1919.

(Bus.) c/o The Associated Press, New York, N. Y.

ENTERED Boston banking house of Lee, Higginson & Company as messenger and remained there three and a half years. Then went into the newly opened Boston office of William Salomon & Company as little bit of everything, not amounting to much at anything. There for a year and a half. Then went with The Boston Post, and remained there off and on several years. Was drafted into the Army, and after discharge (honorable) went with The Associated Press in New York, where I have been for two years (this February, 1921). In an off year, 1915-1916, when The Boston Post was still my unofficial "Home", spent my time on the Mexican Border, hanging about El Paso, Texas, and Columbus, New Mexico, before, and after, Villa's raid and Pershing's punitive expedition into Chihuahua; went down the line of the expedition as a chauffeur on a flivver, and got back. During another short off-period,—1914,—three months after the European War started, went to London and Paris by the horse transport route; got back from there also. After the Mexican Border, took some more time out for a “swing” to the Pacific Coast by way of Chicago, St. Louis, Butte, Spokane, etc. Honored Seattle, 'Frisco and Los Angeles with my presence for brief moments; got back from the Coast successfully.

✠ THOMAS ADDIS EMMET HARRIS

HARRIS was born in New York City on February 9, 1890, and was the son of Charles Nathan Harris and Annie Emmet. He prepared for college at the Cutler School in New York.

In 1916 he served on the Mexican border with Squadron A, New York. After the United States entered the war he went to the Officers Training Camp at Plattsburgh where he received his commission and was assigned to the 77th Division at Camp Upton.

In April 1918 he went overseas as a First Lieutenant of Infantry, a member of the 306 Machine Gun Battalion. He died of wounds received in action on September 6, 1918, in France.

A classmate has written,

“Tom had two pre-eminent characteristics that made him beloved by all who knew him. They were his ever buoyant and cheery spirit and his absolute unselfishness and desire to do for others. To what extent he was willing to go can be seen in his final supreme sacrifice.”

ALEXANDER HARVEY, JR.

Born at Baltimore, Md., Oct. 6, 1888.

Pvt. 129th Aero Sqn.

Occupation: Clerk.

Address: Box 431, Station C, Los Angeles, Calif.

AFTER graduation I accepted a position as a clerk in the Auditing Department of the Baltimore & Ohio Railway Company at Baltimore. I worked a year with this company, and then decided to obey that call which Mr. Greeley first introduced, "Go West, young man." I went West, and never have regretted it. I lived on my cousin's ranch for a year,—Mr. Granville Cecil,—and I may say right here that I have never had a more delightful and enjoyable time than during that year. Poor fellow, he died from an operation for appendicitis in the late fall of 1914. My war experiences are not pleasant remembrances, and I shall avoid writing about them. I am now located at Los Angeles, California. Have gone back to office work again, but have great hopes and expectations of branching out into broader fields.

War Service: Enlisted Nov. 4, 1918, Pvt.; Discharged Dec. 7, 1918, Pvt.

Occupation: Farmer.

Address: Wilton, N. H.

AFTER graduation spent two years at the Harvard Forestry School, and in the summer of 1913 collected data for the Harvard Forestry School, in Wilmington, Vermont, for an article published in conjunction with Professor Irving Bailey in the Forestry Quarterly, and entitled "Graded Log Rules and Volume Tables for Vermont Hardwoods."

In the winter of 1914 took the short course in Agriculture at the Massachusetts Agricultural College. During the next three years I set out about 2500 fruit trees on my farm in Wilton, and since then have been engaged in fruit-growing, general farming, and lumbering.

In the fall of 1917 I was turned down by the Army doctors as not physically qualified to be in one of the Logging Regiments, but the next fall was able to get into the Field Artillery Officers' Training School at Camp Taylor, arriving there three days before the Armistice was signed.

At present I am doing quite a bit of lumbering, and before long expect to be producing fruit on quite a large scale, as my trees are just coming into bearing age.

Last March was elected a member of the Wilton School Board for a term of three years.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (Home) Overland Club, Pasadena, Calif.

(Bus.) 503 H. W. Hellman Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

FOR two years after graduation I was tutor for two sons of Hugo R. Johnstone, '92, wintering in California. The next three years were in the Law School, wherein I received the "gentleman's mark," but I did an unbelievable amount of type-writing for other fellows in the Law School. The summer of 1916 I spent as secretary for Sir Edgar Speyer, London banker, and the next year was in California, getting admitted to the bar. Then came seventeen months in the Field Artillery—and never got across, but landed as far as Camp Jackson, South Carolina, and was discharged Second Lieutenant, Field Artillery. The last two years I have spent in the office of F. G. Cruickshank, best probate lawyer in Pasadena, but at this present writing I am spending time in Los Angeles, preparing income tax returns for people who cannot understand the intricacies of the thing. After March 15 I hope to open an office of my own in Los Angeles.

As to the service, I can only speak of it with regret—a most poignant bitterness, because I enlisted in August 1917 with an outfit that I hoped had the pull to get overseas orders and I made the mistake of my life in not going back to Boston at that time and trying to tie up with an eastern outfit that would have had a better chance of seeing the real stuff.

Occupation: Banker.

(Bus.) 44 State St., Boston, Mass.

I COMPLETED my college work in February 1911 and took a job in the New York Office of Lee, Higginson & Company. After a year or so of training, I was sent by them up into New York State as a travelling bond salesman. I was "on the road" from early in 1912 to July 1916, during which period I lived at various times in Albany, Schenectady and other places in New York State. In July 1916 I was shifted to New York City and remained there until April 1917.

I went to the first Plattsburgh Camp in August 1915 and again in July 1916, and when trouble began to seem imminent with Germany, applied for a commission in the Reserve Corps. I took my examinations April 6th, went to the first Officers' Training Camp at Plattsburgh as a candidate and was commissioned a First Lieutenant at the end of the camp. My experience in the army was hardly worthy of note. I was at Camp Devens in the 301st and 302d Infantry from about September 1, 1917 to May 15, 1918, and then was detached on various instruction duty in this country, where I remained until my discharge.

After my discharge I returned to Boston to live and have been in Lee Higginson & Company's Boston office since that time.

SINCE graduation I have spent the usual three years of preparation for the practice of law. Following that I have spent all of my time, except for the year of army life, in the routine practice of law in the office of Gaston, Snow, Saltonstall & Hunt, Boston, and have recently become a member of that firm.

My year in the army was spent entirely in America. Early in January 1918 I was called to the School of Military Aeronautics at Columbus, Ohio, as a cadet. This school was devoted at that time to the training of material for administrative officers and adjutants. In March I was commissioned a Second Lieutenant and sent to an Air Service Camp at Tonoke, Arkansas, where I was assigned to headquarters staff as Assistant Adjutant, and later as Personnel Officer. Early in my stay there I made the fatal mistake of working hard and endeavoring to do my job well, with the result that the C. O. was never willing to give me orders away. I find from comparison with others that this experience was common and unfortunate. So I remained there until discharged.

Tonoke is located in the swampy flat district between Little Rock, Arkansas, and Memphis, Tennessee. It is the center of the rice growing district, and consequently full of malarial mosquitoes. The U. S. Public Health Department's examination showed that about one half of the permanent population had malaria. The only reason I ever discovered for the building of an expensive camp there was the fact that U. S. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, recently permanently chairman of the Democratic National Convention, resided there. Hardly a reason logical to the purpose of the expenditure of Government funds, namely to win the war.

I am now chairman of the Finance Committee of the Town of Lexington.

✠ RALPH SHERMAN HOPKINS

RALPH SHERMAN HOPKINS was born in New York City, September 24, 1889, the son of Dr. Fred Eugene Hopkins and Harriet (Sherman) Hopkins. He prepared for Harvard at the Springfield (Massachusetts) High School. In college he was a member of the "Lampoon", the Pi Eta Society, the Mandolin Club and the Banjo Club, and he rowed on the Senior Class Crew.

After graduation he was with the American-Philippine Company, New York, G. A. Fernald & Company, Boston, and later with White, Weld & Company. On June 3rd, 1914 he was married to Eleanor B. Southworth at Springfield, Massachusetts, and afterwards made his home at Montclair, New Jersey.

In August 1916 he went to Plattsburgh, and was commissioned a Lieutenant in the Montclair Battalion. In the autumn of 1917 he went to Fort Myer, Virginia for further training and was promoted to Captain. He was assigned to the 313th Infantry stationed at Camp Meade, Maryland. He served there as instructor until February 23 when he was disabled by an acute illness and died at Baltimore, March 21, 1918.

RALPH HORNBLOWER

Born at Arlington, Mass., Feb. 26, 1891.

Parents: Henry Hornblower, Hattie Francis Wood.

School: Volkmann School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Eleanor Greenwood, Andover, Mass., June 15, 1916.

Children: Henry, Nov. 5, 1917; Ralph, Jr., Feb. 1, 1919.

War Service: Enlisted 1917, Ensign; Discharged 1919, Lt. (J. G.)
Office of Naval Operations, Washington, D. C.

Occupation: Banker and Broker.

Address: (Home) 17 West Cedar St., Boston, Mass.

(Bus.) 60 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER leaving college, at mid-year's in senior year, I entered the employ of my father's firm where I have been continuously with the exception of some five months in Washington as a secretary to Representative John W. Weeks, later Senator.

On May 14, 1917, at the request of the Acting Chairman of the Red Cross, Mr. Wadsworth, I went to Washington and served under the Finance Committee of the War Council of the Red Cross as Cashier of first Red Cross War Fund for One Hundred Million Dollars. I was engaged in this capacity, and later in charge of the collection of funds raised in this First drive until November 10, 1917.

Following three months of volunteer civilian service in the Office of Chief of Naval Operations in Washington, I was commissioned an ensign U. S. N. R. F., January 23rd, and assigned to duty in the Office of Naval Operations as assistant to Captain William Pitt Scott of the Planning Section, whose special detail was the furnishing of naval protection to merchant vessels through the medium of an Armed Guard.

In addition to regular duties as assistant to the Aide for Armed Guards there was considerable extra duty in the nature of liaison work with the Army Embarkation Service, Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation, Food Administration, War Trade Board and other governmental agencies.

In August of 1918 the Armed Guard Office was combined with the Material Section of the Naval Overseas Transport Service. Captain Scott was assigned entirely to work of the Planning Section and later sent to sea in command of the "Frederick" and the entire work of the Armed Guard Section assigned to me. I also succeeded Captain Scott as the representative of the Navy on the "Ship Protection Committee."

About this time a "Gun Desk" was established in the Material Section, with the function of assignment of all Naval Guns. This desk had scarcely become operative when the armistice was signed. I was shortly afterwards promoted to be Lieutenant (J. G.) and was released from active duty on January 24, 1919. At the time of my release from active duty all but twenty of the over three hundred merchant ships for which the Navy had furnished Armed Guards had been disarmed.

EMERSON OLDS HOUSER

Born at Moosic, Pa., May 6, 1885.

Parents: Samuel Henry Houser, Jessie Freemont Olds.

School: Wilkes Barre High School, Wilkes Barre, Pa.

Degrees: A. B. 1911. B. D. (Union Theol. Sem.) 1919.

Occupation: Minister.

Address: (Home) 835 Grace St., Chicago, Ill.

(Bus.) 716 Addison St., Chicago, Ill.

AFTER graduating from Harvard in February 1912, I accepted a position in the Wilkes Barre High School, where I taught for a year and a half. At the conclusion of this period, I went to New York City, as Director of Boy's Work for the Twenty Third Street Y. M. C. A., which position I held three years, then entering Union Theological Seminary, from which I graduated in the spring of 1919, with the B. D. Degree, having spent four years there. During my Seminary Course, I carried on the work of the Boys' Department for half a year. In the spring of the first year in Seminary, I took charge of the Church Institute at Babylon, New York, which had just been built by three co-operating churches, and organized their physical work, closing the season with an exhibition. The following year I was Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of New York University, and the succeeding year, Secretary of the Columbia University Y. M. C. A. Being beyond the draft age, and in Seminary, I was not drafted for service. I was anticipating enlisting, when the authorities of the University, in view of the condition at the University, and the fact that Chaplain Knox was to be sent overseas with the Y. M. C. A. which would have left the University without religious direction if I went, too, urged me to remain with the Y. M. C. A. This I did. I resigned at the end of the college year, in the spring of 1918, and returned to Union in the fall, taking steps leading to licensure, in order to become Army Chaplain. Before I could complete these steps, the armistice was signed. During my Seminary Course I spent three summers as Director of Young Peoples' Work of the Southern Adirondack Mission. Before graduating from the Seminary, I accepted the pastorate of the Lake View Presbyterian Church of Chicago. I entered upon my work August 1, 1919 and am now very happily located in that field.

L EFT college fully intending to make industrial chemistry my future work. Secured a position at once as chemist with the Fleischmann Manufacturing Company, and spent a year at Peekskill, New York, learning the manufacture of yeast and its by-products. At the end of that time I was told that I was to be sent to Seattle permanently. That was too far from New York to suit me, and I resigned. I then took up the study of medicine, and graduated in 1916, taking second prize. The next year I spent taking a hospital internship. Then, just as I was looking for a location to practice, we entered the war. I received a commission as First Lieutenant, M. R. C. in June 1917, and was ordered to one of the many special medical courses given in the army. My course happened to be x-ray work. After three months instruction I was ordered to Camp Greenleaf, Fort Oglethorpe, for further instruction. My luck was good and I only stayed there ten days, when I was ordered to the Base Hospital, Fort Oglethorpe. In January 1918 it was planned to consolidate all the x-ray courses at Fort Oglethorpe, and I was appointed instructor in this school, being the only person there for this work. This school gradually grew to tremendous proportions. In May 1918 I received a captain's commission, and after many efforts succeeded in being sent to an organization, Base Hospital No. 51, mobilizing for overseas service. In July 1918 we crossed to Southampton, then to Cherbourg, and by devious routes finally reached Toul. Here we settled down just in time for the St. Mihiel drive. My days were spent constantly in a small darkened room looking for and localizing bullets and other articles of hardware by means of the fluoroscope. In April 1919 I was designated commanding officer of Base Hospital No. 51. On May 2nd I received the commission of Major, M. C. On May 15 we sailed from Marseilles, arriving at Camp Merritt June 2nd. After finally disbanding the organization I was discharged on July 10, 1919. I then decided to continue specializing in x-ray work, and opened an office. I have secured three very good hospital appointments. Therefore in spite of the ten years since leaving college I seem to have just started to work.

IN October 1911 went to Lockwood, Greene & Company, 60 Federal Street, Boston. Was sent by them to South Bend, Indiana, where I stayed for a year. From there I went to Indianapolis for six months on another construction job. In the summer of 1913 I changed to the mill management department of Lockwood, Greene & Company and went out to Lancaster Mills, Clinton, Massachusetts, for about nine months as a "day laborer". After that until June 1915 I was in the Boston office of Lockwood, Greene & Company. At that time I became Secretary of Saco-Lowell Shops, which position, together with that of manager of the domestic sales department, I held till the spring of 1919 when I was made Assistant Treasurer and Clerk of Saco-Lowell Shops. The above statistics give details of the development of my family during that period, also of my army "career". If I started to go into details about either I would fill volumes.

THESE histories of one's life are seldom sources of pleasure to their writers or of inspiration to their unhappy readers. Moreover there are transparent dangers in being personal, especially about oneself. It is fortunate for many of us that the sod of our pre-graduation past need not be turned, but that we may begin with the glorious and auspicious moment at which we were turned out into the cold world, ready-made citizens naturally an honor to the community, our diplomas in one hand, the other hand as yet empty of the cold world's goods. As a means whereby this last situation might in my own case be improved, I entered Law School, and left after a year to tutor for three years, during which I was a lone wanderer here and abroad. In Italy I made the remarkable discovery that Italian art was even more interesting than I had thought it in Fine Arts. In France I saw King George, who thoughtlessly failed to tell me that the war would start so short a time thereafter. So we sailed home in blissful ignorance of the change one small month was to bring. Two years more in Law School, from which I was graduated in 1917.

Then the Service, in which the writer's modest tasks were to dangle under balloons that made one seasick, and on the ground to do court martial work. In the latter I was distinguished by continually being given men to defend and always succeeding in getting them found guilty. For this I was offered a judge advocacy, probably on the theory that if when I defended a man he was found guilty, success as a prosecutor would be even more assured. The offer, however, was refused, and refused with a reckless disregard of the consequences which I later regretted. These young lawyers are thoroughly to be pitied. For a year I grew thin apace and thought of that judge advocacy plus its fifty per cent flying pay. For some time now I have been gaining in weight if not in favor. That I have hopes eventually of being honored by my fellow-citizens may of course be taken for granted. I have never written anything that has not been suppressed. Perhaps this will get by; I doubt it.

FOR the first year after graduation I was assistant to Professor Sanger and Professor Forbes in Chemistry 3. During the year 1912-1913 I finished my work for the A. M. degree under Professor Lawrence J. Henderson. In 1913-1914 I assisted under Dr. Otto Folin at the course in biological chemistry given at Harvard Medical School. From 1914 to 1917 I was at Washington University, St. Louis, as assistant to Dr. Philip A. Shaffer in biological chemistry. From 1917 to 1918 I was trying to find a way in which a chemist could join the army without breaking the latest rules of the War Department, and put in the time between telegrams at the Sanitarium, Clifton Springs, New York. In December, 1917, I married Margaret Allen, daughter of Professor Frederick D. Allen, formerly professor in the Harvard department of classics. In May, 1917, I finally got into the service via the draft, and after service at the hospital laboratory in Camp Devens and a brief sojourn at Raritan Arsenal I was sent to the War Demonstration Hospital at the Rockefeller Institute, New York City, where I remained as instructor until after the armistice was signed. After my discharge I returned to Clifton Springs, and have remained there. The work here is that of an up-to-date hospital laboratory, with opportunity for investigative work.

IN July 1911 tried to recuperate at Hyannis, Massachusetts, and Casco Bay, Maine. From August 1911 to October 1911 was with the equipment and maintenance department of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, at Pawtucket, Rhode Island. In October 1911 I became Methods Supervisor in Long Lines Accounting Department of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company at 195 Broadway, New York, engaging chiefly in trying to show others how to do it. The work was congenial among several other college men. The most interesting single job was organizing and conducting a school for training in elements of accounting and details of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company's system, open to employees of the department. In January 1918 I became assistant to the Vice President and General Manager of O. S. Richards Corporation, Bush Terminal, Brooklyn, New York, manufacturers of box shooks and packing cases. From October 1918 to March 1919 I was Staff Assistant of the Deputy Comptroller of the American Red Cross at Washington, gratifying work under the leadership and inspiration of Eliot Wadsworth. In March 1919 I returned to my former position with O. S. Richards Corporation, working on accounting and personnel problems. Since November 1919 I have been Secretary and Treasurer of the Richards Shook Corporation, 19 West 44th Street, New York City, engaged in manufacture and sale of box shooks. I am also a director, associated with former officers of the O. S.

Richards Corporation, in the above corporation. Outside of business my special interests have been special theatrical work among Italian boys, music and tennis. I was a director of the local Y. M. C. A. from 1914 to 1918.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (Home) 166 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

(Bus.) 511 Sears Bldg., Boston, Mass.

AFTER graduation I spent a year travelling around the world. I was accompanied by Snedeker, who died of pneumonia at Singapore, Straits Settlements, on February 7, 1912, after a short illness. His death was a sad blow to me. I continued the trip alone, joining my parents in Genoa in March 1912, and with them toured in Italy, France and England.

I entered the Harvard Law School in September 1912, and studied there until receiving my degree in June 1915. In September, 1915, after my admission to the Massachusetts Bar, I entered the law office of Gaston, Snow & Saltonstall in Boston, and worked there until Battery A of Boston was called out in June 1916 for duty on the Mexican Border. I spent the summer of 1916 at El Paso, Texas, with Battery A, returning to Gaston's office in the fall, and worked there until I enlisted in May 1917, being sent to Plattsburgh, where I received a commission as First Lieutenant in August. After two days at Camp Devens I was assigned to the 103rd Field Artillery and went with that outfit to France, and took part in the various campaigns of the 26th Division. I returned from France in April 1919.

In May 1919 I entered the office of Hutchins & Wheeler and have since continued the general practice of the law with that firm.

I spent the month of June 1920 in France and England.

WILLIAM SHARPLESS JACKSON

Born at Colorado Springs, Col., March 22, 1889.

Parents: William Sharpless Jackson, Helen Fiske Banfield.

School: Cutler Academy, Colorado Springs, Col.

Degrees: A. B. 1911. LL. B. (Denver Univ.) 1915.

Married: Jean Rhea O'Donnel, Philadelphia, Pa., March 20, 1918

Child: William Sharpless, Jr., June 4, 1920.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (Home) 228 East Kiowa St., Colorado Springs, Col.

(Bus.) 401 Mining Exchange Bldg., Colorado Springs, Col.

NINETEEN hundred and eleven (all the year) and to June 1912, acted as secretary to father, who on account of failing eyesight, was forced to resign from presidency of a local bank. Summer of 1912, abroad with William I. Bowditch, of Milton, Massachusetts, whom I had tutored in previous summer vacations. Visited England, Germany, Switzerland, France. September 1912 to June 1915 attended the regular terms of Denver University Law School, graduating at the latter date with the Faculty Prize. Passed the Colorado Bar examinations June 1915 and immediately began the practice of law in the office of Ex-Congressman Franklin E. Brooks, Colorado Springs, Colorado.

During the summer of 1913, met William I. Bowditch in San Francisco, California, and took a Pacific Coast Steamship Company boat to Panama, which stopped at numerous Mexican and Central American ports. "Forty days and forty nights" on the Pacific. Colonel Goethals showed us over the Canal, just at the time when Gatun Lake was being allowed to fill. Decided that Colonel Goethals was worthy of a Harvard LL. D. President Lowell shortly afterward conferred it on him.

Winter of 1916-1917 Instructor in a course of Banking and Banking Law at Colorado College. In 1916, following the death of Mr. Brooks, George W. Bierbauer and myself formed the partnership of Bierbauer and Jackson, both of us having previously been engaged in practice in Mr. Brooks' office, and since then have continued in the general practice of law in the above-named partnership.

In August 1915, was appointed Agent of the Department of Justice for the Pikes Peak Region, which position I held through the period of the war, resigning February 1919. After being repeatedly rejected for active military service, ran into the only other available field of danger and was married in Philadelphia, March 20, 1918. After the entry of the United States into the World War, served as local chairman of the Military Training Camps Association; member of the Committees covering the various Liberty Loan, Red Cross, and United War Work Campaigns; also as Permit Agent of the State Department governing the issuance of Passports for Southern Colorado in addition to the regular work with the Department of Justice. The latter work involved, among other matters, reports and decisions as to the propriety of the issuance of various explosive permits in the Cripple Creek Mining District. My three brothers all saw active military service as officers; Roland, Harvard 1916, being killed in action in France while serving as Second Lieutenant, Infantry.

In 1920, experienced the additional pleasures of a family in which two generations are represented instead of one.

Since graduation, a number of Harvard classmates and friends, (including Alan Gregg, Johnny Storer, Haniel Long, '09, Richard Gregg '07, Witter Bynner) have given us visits en route for more remote parts. Have also had glimpses in this city of Harold Webber who specialized on Cripple Creek and Pueblo, and Reggie Foster who fell into the arms of an omnipresent lady on the top of Pikes Peak. Another classmate ran afoul of western laws and spent a night in our City Jail. Other classmates who managed to make California but who were afraid of Colorado Springs ladies, include Alex Wheeler and Abe Stevens. I understand they are still bachelors, which is a severe penalty, but shows what may be in store for any classmate who does not have sociability enough to leave some eastern dust in this town, whenever he has occasion to cross the continent. Please let everyone contemplating a western journey make a note of the awful fate of Wheeler and Stevens and plan to break his journey with people who will be as glad to see him, as he may be glad to rest his weary skull and bones!

L EFT College before spring vacation, 1910, and spent next three years selling advertising. In March 1914, assisted my father in opening the first of a chain of retail clothing shops in St. Louis, Missouri. Subsequently have opened shops in Kansas City, Missouri, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Boston, Massachusetts, Indianapolis, Indiana, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Cleveland, Ohio.

Was living in Boston when the war was declared and was rejected for the first Officers' Camp at Plattsburgh for physical reasons. Was also rejected for the Marine Corps. I finally had a minor operation performed, and upon recovery enlisted in the New York Naval Militia as a Seaman Second Class, on September 3, 1917.

Was ordered to the U. S. S. Canandaigua in January, 1918 and served on her for three months. Was then transferred to the Naval Training Station at Pelham Bay, New York, and spent three months drilling recruits. While there took an examination for a commission; passed, and was commissioned Ensign in the Naval Reserve Force. Was next ordered to the Naval Academy at Annapolis to attend the Fourth Class of Reserve Officers. In September, 1918, was given a new commission as Ensign in the regular Navy.

Was ordered to the U. S. S. Pennsylvania and attached to the staff of Admiral Mayo. Served four months here, and was then transferred to the U. S. S. Orizaba, and made several trips bringing troops home from France.

Was discharged on June 3, 1919 and returned to my regular business. Was married on September 1, 1919 at Hyannisport, Massachusetts. Moved from New York to Philadelphia about October 1, 1920.

Occupation: Government Service—War Department.

Address: (Home) 1470 Beacon St., Brookline, Mass.
(Bus.) 45 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

WAS apprentice in a paper mill during 1911 and 1912, and in the purchasing department of a paper company in 1912 and 1913. Played golf at the University of Virginia in 1913 and 1914. Was Assistant Professor of English at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Virginia, 1914-1916. Did graduate work at Johns Hopkins University until April 1917, when I enlisted in the Navy. Was discharged from the Navy in February 1919, and became a salesman for a large Baltimore company whose salesmanager never learned what "Veritas" meant. At the present time I am engaged in Americanization work in the War Department

During my service in the Navy as an enlisted man and officer I confirmed what I had always believed,—that the service in no way alters the fundamental characteristics of men. As a class I found officers and men capable, cordial and efficient, but there is a type of officer in the service who should be properly suppressed,—the one who thinks the Navy his particular property and that an Annapolis education has assured him salvation. This type is sufficiently prevalent to be a blot on the Navy and in some cases prevented the best results during the war, because of inability to work with "outsiders" temporarily in the service. The administrative end of the Navy was and is farcical in its impotency, due largely to the lack of a competent head, but mostly to the fact that we easy going Americans care little how our services are run. But with all its faults, "Long live the Navy!"

My persistent efforts to become a patent lawyer of distinction have not yet been crowned with complete success on account of a number of notable interruptions. For the first three years after graduation I kept my nose so close to the Columbia Law School grindstone that I amassed a string of A's that would have been regarded as deliberately ungentlemanly in college, became an editor of the Law Review, and collected a goodly stipend by winning the coveted proficiency scholarship in my third year.

I had just recovered from the jolt of being dropped from a position of such importance to that of the least important thing in a law office, when President Wilson sent me down to the Mexican Border with the 7th Regiment, New York Infantry. His good judgment was demonstrated by my rapid rise from the grade of private to corporal without undue loss of life on either side. After five months more of law I again got into the O. D's and attended the first Officers' Training Camp at Plattsburgh.

I blush to repeat my war record which I feel will be well known to every American school boy for decades. As I read the accounts I marvel at it myself and wonder what would have happened if my first sergeant, who sent the report back to headquarters, had not been in the advertising business before he joined the army.

Of course, the biggest thing I ever did was to marry the present Mrs. Kenyon. Since July 2, 1919, the world has been a very different place for me for more reasons than the Eighteenth Amendment. And now we have a son and heir, a fact that makes further interruptions of my chosen career inadvisable. I am a member (the junior member) of the firm of Kenyon & Kenyon, and I commute every day from Summit, but I wouldn't change jobs with General Pershing.

Occupation: Manufacturer.

Address: (Home) 3639 Pine Grove Ave., Chicago, Ill.
(Bus.) 2554 W. Fillmore St., Chicago, Ill.

SINCE 1915 I have been endeavoring to run a brass foundry in Chicago. During the war I left the business in my partners' hands and migrated to Kelly Field, Texas, where I endeavored to instil the knowledge of how aviation engines work into the heads of prospective mechanics.

After leaving the battle ground of Kelly Field I returned to Chicago and resumed my duties with the foundry, and am at present Secretary and Treasurer of the Amalgamated Metals Company.

That is about all except that I certainly envy the lucky mortals that were in a professional line, instead of being in that supposedly happy position of being a manufacturer.

ARNOLD Warburton LAHEE

Born at Hingham, Mass., May 7, 1888.

Parents: Henry Charles Lahee, Selina Ida Mary Long.

School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; M. A. 1912.

Married: Gladys Hughes Livermore, Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 21, 1914.

Child: Katharine Livermore, Dec. 11, 1915.

Occupation: Economist.

Address: (Home) 28 Hamilton Road, Glen Ridge, N. J.

(Bus.) Mechanics & Metals Nat'l Bank, 20 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.

THE first four years after graduation I spent in study and teaching: 1911-1912, I obtained my M. A. at Harvard; 1912-1913, I taught at the University of Vermont; 1913-1914, passed my general examinations for Ph. D. (February) and started to prepare for finals, specializing in public finance; and 1914-1915, taught at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh. I then turned to active economic investigation, spending two years in the New York Bureau of Municipal Research. During this time I was employed in connection with the New York City Central Purchasing Commission, the New York State Senate Committee investigation of the Civil Service, and a study of the New York City Budget system under the Mitchell administration.

When the United States entered the War, I found that, in spite of Plattsburgh training (summer of 1916), deficient eyesight disqualified me for active service. After joining for a while in the promotion of the Patriotic Service League in New York and Boston, and spending three or four months with the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, I seized the first opportunity to go to Washington, with the U. S. Tariff Commission. Shortly after my arrival, however, the War Trade Board requested my services and I entered the Bureau of Research as special economist on the Central Powers. After the Armistice, the State Department persuaded me to continue my work in the office of the Foreign Trade Advisor, but in June 1919 I accepted an attractive offer of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank, where I am now located in charge of its Department of Foreign Trade Extension.

Everyone has his pet regret. Mine is that in college I worked my way through on scholarship instead of being satisfied with Bs and Cs, spending more time in college activities, and earning my way through drudgery and hard knocks—but real experience (e. g., canvassing, etc.). Better to take more time, perhaps, but build up a broad foundation of practical experience and valuable friendships. Scholarship is only one factor out of several in the secret of success.

THOMAS JOSEPH LANE, JR.

Born at Dorchester, Mass., June 19, 1888.

Parents: Thomas Joseph Lane, Margaret Ann Menzies.

School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

War Service: Enlisted June 27, 1917, Hospital App. 2nd Class; Discharged Jan. 23, 1919, Chief Yeoman.

Occupation: Commercial Traveller.

Address: (Home) 29 Sargent St., Dorchester, Mass.

(Bus.) 19 Union Square, New York, N. Y.

ON graduation from college I entered the employ of Gilchrist Company, Boston, determined to learn the dry goods business from the bottom up, starting in the shipping room. In 1914 I entered the employ of Bernhard Ulmann Company, New York, manufacturers, and was put in charge of their Boston office. I left their employ to enter the service in 1917.

On my discharge from the Navy, I became associated with H. E. Verran Company, Inc., 19 Union Square, New York, manufacturers of art embroidery materials, being put in charge of their Boston office. In June 1920 I was transferred from the Boston office, and given a Western territory, covering Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska and Iowa.

Occupation: Lumber Dealer.

Address: (Home) 278 Lafayette St., Salem, Mass.

(Bus.) 311 Derby St., Salem, Mass.

FIRST two months after graduation from Business School I spent in the office of the freight traffic manager of the Boston & Maine Railroad, and the next twelve under doctor's care. That fall I went to the University of Michigan as instructor in accounting. The following June, after my home city was considerably destroyed by fire, I went to work with my father in the building supply game. Since that time, except for a year in the service, I have been engaged in dealing in all kinds of building supplies.

WILLIAM APPLETON LAWRENCE

Born at Cambridge, Mass., May 21, 1889.

Parents: William Lawrence, Julia Cunningham.

School: Noble & Greenough School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; B. D. (Episcopal Theol. School) 1914.

Married: Hannah Wheelwright Cobb, Chestnut Hill, Mass., June 1, 1912.

Children: Susan, Sept. 21, 1913; William, Jan. 24, 1915; Charles Kane Cobb, Jan. 20, 1917; Francis and Robert, twins, Nov. 27, 1917 (Died Nov. 27, 1917); Elizabeth Codman, Oct. 28, 1919.

Occupation: Clergyman.

Address: 80 South Common St., Lynn, Mass.

ON graduation at midyears I took a trip out west, returning in time to assist in coaching the Freshman base ball team. That summer I was in charge of a boys' camp in Maine. In the fall I entered Union Theological Seminary in New York City and began my study for the ministry as well as getting a bowing acquaintance with the Great White Way. In the spring I was married and went to Europe for a honeymoon which was spent in walking through England in all of the out of the way spots we could find. Returning in the fall we set up housekeeping in Cambridge, where for the next two years I studied at the Episcopal Theological School. On graduating I accepted a call to Grace Church, Lawrence, and began my active ministry on the same day as the great war. I served as assistant at Grace Church for a year and a half in a parish that abounded in opportunities for service and good work and had great difficulty in pulling up my tent pegs to move to St. Stephen's, Lynn. I entered my work as Rector of St. Stephen's Church January 1, 1916 and have stuck to my post ever since. The parish situated in the center of the city, in the midst of a great population of working people, offers a most attractive piece of work and one which appeals to me especially. This short "life" would be a long one if I should allow myself liberty to tell all I should like to. Suffice it to say that in the meantime I have grown ten years older, lost most of my hair and acquired a fine family.

Occupation: College Professor.

Address: (Home) 21 Mosswood Road, Berkeley, Calif.

(Bus.) 451 Wheeler Hall, University of Calif., Berkeley, Calif.

UPON graduation, I went as instructor in English to the University of Idaho. After three years on that faculty, I went as assistant Professor of English to Washington State College. After another three years, I returned to Harvard—in 1917. In 1918, I took my A. M. in the graduate school, and entered war department service in May 1918 as secretary to the New England Director of special war-time training in the schools. Presently I took up the work of directing war-issues courses at Camp Wentworth. During these years—1918, 1919, 1920—I also taught in the English department at Harvard and prepared for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, which was awarded in June 1920. Thereupon I came to California to write and to teach at the University. Any man of 1911 who will drop in at 21 Mosswood Road will be welcomed heartily and shown from the windows one of the four most magnificent views in the world.

MAX LEVINE

Born at Dwinsk, Russia, July 4, 1890.

Parents: Israel Levine, Martha Skutelsky.

School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911. Chicago Univ. 1915; Boston Univ. 1917-1918; Middlebury, Vt. 1918.

Occupation: Teacher of French, Boston Latin School.

Address: (Home) 82 Revere St., Boston, Mass.

(Bus.) 100 Warren Ave., Boston, Mass.

ON graduation I entered Hobart College, Geneva, New York, as Instructor in Classics. The summer of 1915 I studied in the Graduate School at Chicago University. Then I entered on my duties at the Boston Latin School, where I am at present. I was disqualified for war service various times, my eyesight not being up to scratch. In the summer of 1917 I directed the West End House War Camp, Belchertown, Massachusetts, where we raised garden and field products. The venture was not a success, as we lost most of our crop in a cold snap early in September 1917.

Being asked to take up French work, I pursued courses at the Harvard Summer School, Boston University, and Middlebury College. Last summer, 1919, I travelled in Europe, visiting London briefly, and putting most of my time in Paris and surroundings. I was enabled to visit the war zone.

I have asked for and obtained my Sabbatical year; this means I shall again travel in Europe from July 1921 to August 1922. Most of my time I intend to further my French at various universities in France.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; M. D. 1914.

War Service: Enlisted June 1917, 1st Lt.; Discharged July 22, 1919, Capt. British Heart Hospital and American Base Hospitals.

Occupation: Physician.

Address: (Home) 84 Wallingford Road, Brighton, Mass.

(Bus.) 21 Bay State Road, Boston, Mass.

AFTER leaving Cambridge I spent the following four years in the Harvard Medical School. These were years of hard work and had for their purpose the instillation of a little bit of medical knowledge and the conviction that when you are graduated you are absolutely unfit to practice the profession you have been learning. It was therefore quite natural for me as well as for most of my fellow students to start learning the practice of medicine in various hospitals. Having graduated in 1914, I spent the next twenty-eight months in the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston. Here I learned something about internal medicine and put in a year in the study of heart disease. During this time I developed a taste for the academic side of medicine and medical investigation, and so was quite pleased when an opportunity presented itself to continue work at the Rockefeller Hospital, New York. I spent the following nine months there (November 1916 to July 1917) until I left for overseas.

In May 1917 I joined the Medical Reserve Corps, received a commission as First Lieutenant in June and left the United States in July. When the authorities learned that I knew something about heart disease they ordered me to the British Heart Hospital, England, where I stayed until April 1918. I spent a most pleasant time in England, learned to like the English people and to admire their accomplishments very much. In addition to doing the routine work in the wards of the Military Hospital, a research laboratory was improvised in one of our kitchens and two of us carried on some investigation of the diseases we were treating. The results were published in "Heart", a British medical journal.

In April 1918 I went to France to join the American forces and worked in various Base Hospitals and Camp Hospitals until June 1919. The work was not particularly interesting but very strenuous during the big push (July to November). Most of my clinical work concerned itself with the care of gassed patients, influenza, pneumonia and other infectious diseases. This was interrupted for a short time when I was asked to standardize the heart drugs used in the A. E. F. and to determine the proper dosage of some of them. The work was done at Dijon, and was carried out on cats.

The bright spot in my army career was a seven day leave. There were four of us in the party, all fed up with life in general, and we remained A. W. O. L. for eighteen days. After visiting some points of interest in France, we crossed the Mediterranean to Africa and had all in all a most delightful trip.

The general impression I got of the medical care that our soldiers received was favorable. Considering the circumstances, we had excellent medical supplies and good food for our patients and our nurses were just wonderful. It was evident that many mistakes were being made, both from an administrative and a clinical point of view. But after all, the leaders of the army are apt to regard the medical corps as a necessary evil (perhaps they are right) and do not believe that it is essential to co-operate intimately with the medical profession. As in all branches of the service, things were experimental at times, and developing and improving. The sad thing is that our leading physicians who are in a position to enable the medical service to benefit from this war have all returned to private life and we shall probably make the same blunders in the next war. I believe it is fair to say that most of us in the army thought that "the other fellow" had the real job and yet we all feel that we did very little compared to the men in the trenches.

I was discharged from service as Captain in July 1919 and thereupon entered a peculiar period of mental depression. The ideals that so many of us had were not being realized. The world was not made "Safe for Democracy". It seemed that all nations in the world, including our own allies particularly, were at each other's throats, wanting land here and concessions there, etc., etc.

However, in October 1919 I began to realize that it was nine years since I left college and I had not as yet begun to earn a cent. I therefore opened an office for the practice of medicine. Fortunately I was made Associate in Medicine at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston, and Assistant in Medicine at the Harvard Medical School, and between the duties of these positions and the few private patients who seek my help I have been extremely busy.

SINCE graduation I have been engaged in the real estate business in Indianapolis. For the past six years I have been connected with the development and latterly with the sale of Brendonwood, a development of country home sites close to Indianapolis. The work has been intensely interesting and Brendonwood itself has received very high praise from some of the leading landscape architects and city planning authorities of America. One compliment which Brendonwood received and which we value highly was a request from the Harvard School of Landscape Architecture for literature describing Brendonwood and its developments for the school library. I feel, therefore, that I have been connected with a very high grade and worth while work.

On October 7, 1916, I married Helen Heywood of Indianapolis, Vassar 1912. Two little girls, Constance and Adeline, manage to keep our house lively and to prevent my outlook on life from becoming jaded. We are hoping to build our own home this year if building costs, business conditions and a few other little things don't interfere.

1919, 1st Lt. 373d Inf., U. S. A.

Occupation: Supervisor of Schools.

Address: Manati, Porto Rico.

IN September 1911, I came to Porto Rico as teacher in the Arecibo High School, where the organization of a commercial High School was placed in my hands. At the end of two years this work was sufficiently successful to leave in other hands, and I was placed in charge of the Fajardo High School at Fajardo, Porto Rico, as Principal to re-organize that school. The next year I was transferred to the most important school on the Island, the Ponce High School at Ponce, Porto Rico, as Sub-Master and in charge of the whole Commercial department. After a year at this school I was promoted again to the position of Supervisor of Schools, assigned at first to work at the Department of Education in San Juan and then to the district of Camuy and Hatillo, a third-class district. There I stayed for two years until the first Officers Training Camp was organized in Porto Rico where I entered as Candidate, and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant of Infantry. On reporting for duty at the Infantry Barracks at San Juan in December, 1917, I resigned from the Department of Education.

The subsequent military service may be stated briefly as follows: Second Lieutenant, Infantry, R. C. November 26, 1917 to June 16, 1918, assigned to assist the C. O. of the Students Officer's Company, San Juan and later Camp Las Casas, P. R.: Second Lieutenant, 373d Infantry Supply Company—373d Infantry June 16 to September 7, 1918: First Lieutenant, 373d Infantry Supply Company, September 7 to October 6: Company "G", 373d Infantry October 7 to 25th: Personnel Officer, Motor Transport Corps, Camp Las Casas, P. R. October 26, 1918 to March 1, 1919. Honorable discharge March 1, 1919. All home service.

On March 1st, the same day as discharged from the Army, I reentered the Department of Education and was assigned immediately as Supervisor of Schools to Manati, a second-class district, which position I have been holding since then.

AFTER leaving college I went with the Standard Oil Company at Boston and remained with them until January 1914 when I resigned. From February 1914 to January 1919 I was employed in the Treasury Department of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, where I was manager of the Paying Department. I then resigned to enter the employ of the Gillette Safety Razor Company as assistant credit manager. January 1, 1920, I was made Credit Manager, having charge of both the credits in the United States and foreign credits. I am still with the Gillette Safety Razor Company.

On May 18, 1916 I took unto myself a wife and on March 14, 1917 the stork stopped at my home and left a strong robust boy who, if spared, will, I hope, become a Harvard freshman in 1935.

I had no war experience, but at the entrance of the United States into the war I was a member of the Massachusetts National Guard and answered the call to Federal Service, but was discharged August 9, 1917 for physical disability.

Address: (Home) 106 Duval St., Quincy, Fla.

INSTEAD of returning to college for my junior year I began tutoring in Warren, Pennsylvania. This I continued three years. I was then elected to the Latin position in the Warren High School, which position I held more than five years, but resigned to take a position with the Floridin Company of Quincy, Florida, producers of fullers earth. From here I was inducted into military service, in which I soon fell into the Medical Department, becoming finally the Personnel Clerk of the Medical Department of Camp Lee, Headquarters Detachment, with the rank of sergeant. On my discharge from the service I resumed my position with the Floridin Company, but came north in the spring of 1919 to take advantage of Harvard's splendid offers to discharged soldiers. At Harvard I completed my requirements for the A. B. degree in the summer session, 1920, and registered in the Graduate School of Education in the fall of the same year.

Occupation: Manufacturer.

Address: 27 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.

SPENT 1911 working in Seattle, and then went to Europe for play and travel. During 1913 I was ranching in Montana, and in 1914 I again visited Europe. 1915 I spent partly in New York and partly in Europe, and in 1916 I was in New York waiting for war to be declared. In 1917 I went to Plattsburgh and from there to Camp Upton, sailing for Europe on April 15, 1918. I arrived in the United States in October 1919 and have just spent a year in Lower California (Mexico), land of great possibilities and not prohibition.

Have been rolling and have proved the proverb true. Believe it almost time for another war, not so far from home this time.

Maddest man I saw in France was "Ham" Corbett, reserve officer in a national guard outfit, and left for a short while as Town Major of Baccarat. On the whole saw very few classmates in France, but take it for granted that they were there and doing their jobs as usual.

Wish "Arthur" Beane or "Beany" Hornblower could write some other specie of letter than Harvard Endowment Fund cries for help.

Occupation: Banking.

Address: (Home) 131 Macdougall St., New York, N. Y.
(Bus.) 43 Exchange Place, New York, N. Y.

AFTER two months at the Graduate School of Business Administration, I entered the employ of the Hargadine McKittrick Dry Goods Company, St. Louis, Missouri, and continued with this house successively as travelling salesman and manager of its shirt and overall factories until July 1914. At that time I went to the St. Louis Union Trust Company and later to the St. Louis Union Bank as collateral teller in the Loan Department.

In January 1916 I was engaged by the National City Bank of New York to go abroad to one of its foreign branches after sufficient training at its head office. In April I was sent as assistant to the bank's representative in Genoa, Italy, and was appointed Acting Sub-Manager when it was decided to open a branch in that city.

I resigned this position to enter the Army early in 1918, and after a year's service on continuous staff duty, was returned to this country and discharged in May 1919.

During the following October I entered the New York office of Lee Higginson & Company, and I am still employed there in charge of foreign exchange and international banking operations.

Occupation: Producing and Exhibiting Moving Pictures.

Address: (Home) 51 Creighton St., Boston, Mass.
(Bus.) 75 State St., Boston, Mass.

I SPENT the year of 1912 and part of 1913 in Texas and Mexico and made enough money to get back to Boston. However, I worked for a while with motion picture companies that were out there on location and decided to enter that field in the East.

Shortly after my return I took over the Strand Theatre in Boston and still run it in conjunction with the management of real estate properties.

Entered the service in 1917 as a seaman stationed at Charlestown. Was sent to Massachusetts Institute of Technology, School of Aviation, January 1, 1918. Was commissioned Ensign and sent to Miami, Florida, for flight instruction. Was discharged on inactive duty at Miami, March 1919. Had commission confirmed and still remain in the service on inactive duty. Instructed in Department of Aeronautics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology for four months.

After the Armistice, in conjunction with the Ziegfield interests in New York, I organized the Ziegfield Cinema Corporation and am still engaged in the manufacture and distribution of motion pictures.

Member: Boston Chapter of The Lipton League.

Occupation: Captain, Chemical Warfare Service, U. S. Army.

Address: Edgewood Arsenal, Edgewood, Md.

THE year after graduation I spent doing graduate work in chemistry at the Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. During June and July 1912 I was a member the American Olympic Fencing Team. From August 1912 to February 1914 I was chemist in factory of Kalem Company, makers of motion pictures. From February 1914 to December 1916 I was a clerk in the War Department at Washington. During August and September 1914 I was on a relief expedition, visiting Falmouth, Weymouth, and London, England; The Hague, Holland; Berlin, Germany; Vienna, Austria; Geneva, Switzerland; Paris and Le Havre, France. From December 1916 to August 1917 I was Junior Chemist in the Washington Laboratory of the Bureau of Chemistry. From that time until February 1918 I was Chief of the Porto Rico Station of the Bureau of Chemistry. The period from February 1918 to August 1919 I spent in the Army. The next year I was at the Bureau of Chemistry in Washington, first as Junior Chemist, then as Associate Chemist. Since September 18, 1920, I have been a Captain in the Chemical Warfare Service of the U. S. Army, stationed at Edgewood Arsenal, Edgewood, Maryland, and since October 11, 1920 I have been commanding Company H, First Gas Regiment.

In 1913 I was winner of the three weapon championship of the United States and in 1915 winner of the duelling sword championship of the United States. In 1916 I was a member of the District of Columbia Civilian Rifle Team, Class A, National Team Match.

Parents: William Donald MacMillan, Ella Webster.

School: Brookline High School, Brookline, Mass.

Years in College: 1907-1908.

Married: Aria Nason, Kingston, Mass., Aug. 19, 1916.

Child: Roberta, Dec. 6, 1917.

War Service: Enlisted June 29, 1917, 1st Sgt.; Discharged Nov. 30, 1918, Capt. 101st Eng., 26th Div. Defensive engagements in Toul Sector.

Occupation: Special Agent for Standard Oil Co. of N. Y.

Address: (Home) 26 Overlook Ave., Brockton, Mass.

(Bus.) 220 Milbury St., Brockton, Mass.

I SPENT most of the period from June to November 1908 in California travelling (when I had carfare) and doing various and sundry sorts of labor (when out of funds). From November 1908 to February 1909 I worked as shipping clerk for the Standard Oil Company of New York at their East Boston station. Enlisted in the First Corps Cadets, Massachusetts National Guard, January 28, 1909. In February 1909 I went on the road for the Standard Oil Company as auditor. On April 1, 1910, I took charge of the Stoneham station as agent for Socony. On April 20, 1911, I was promoted to special agent and assigned to the Cape Cod field, with headquarters at Brockton.

During all the time since 1909 I had remained in the First Corps Cadets, serving as private, corporal, sergeant and first sergeant. I was serving in the latter capacity when we declared war on Germany, and my organization was changed from Infantry to Engineers. Of course I went with them. Luckily I was promoted successively to Second Lieutenant, First Lieutenant and finally to Captain, with which rank I was discharged. I served in France with my regiment and also as instructor at the First Corps Engineer School. I visited both the British and French fronts as well as that occupied by our own troops, and taken as a whole my service was both interesting and educational. I was returned to the United States in September 1918, when I obtained my last promotion, and was placed on duty in the office of the Chief of Engineers, where my duties were revision of manuals, editing an Engineer Bulletin, etc. I was fortunate enough to secure my discharge shortly after the Armistice, and returned to my former position, which had been held open for me by the Standard Oil Company. I am still pushing Socony.

✠ HAROLD MARION-CRAWFORD

HAROLD MARION-CRAWFORD was born in Sorrento, Italy, February 1, 1888. His father was Francis Marion-Crawford, the novelist. He prepared for college under a tutor in England and entered with the class in the autumn of 1907 but did not complete even his freshman year at Harvard. Shortly after leaving college he went to the Federated Malay States where he became plantation manager of an English rubber firm. He was married to Nina Noreen Wood at Singapore in 1911 and a son Howard Francis Marion-Crawford was born in 1914.

At the outbreak of the World War Harold was in England for a year's leave, and had planned to return to the East, but instead he immediately joined the Army receiving a commission as Lieutenant in the Irish Guards. He went early to France and served in the trenches in the winter of 1913. He was made Bomb Officer of the 4th Guards Brigade, and on April 16, 1915, while he was giving instructions to a detachment of the Coldstream Guards at Givenchy, a hand grenade accidentally exploded and killed him instantly.

Occupation: Dentist.

Address: Red Cross Dental Clinic, 68 High St., Portland, Maine.

S PENT 1910 to 1913 in Harvard Dental School and received degree of D. M. D. in June 1913. Opened up private office in Salem, Massachusetts, and practiced dentistry there until June 1917. In the meantime was a member of the Visiting Staff of the Forsyth Dental Infirmary from December 1914 to June 1917. Refused by both Army and Navy on account of defect of left hand for service in the Dental Corps. Member of the Dental Committee, Salem Council of Defense. Aided in getting the members of the Massachusetts National Guard in dental condition for service overseas. In September 1917, entered the U. S. Indian Service as Field Dentist, covering the Indian Reservations and schools in Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and North Dakota. Resigned December 31, 1920. Reinstated as a member of the Dental Staff of the St. Elizabeth's Hospital on February 1, 1921. Resigned March 15, 1921. Have just entered upon my duties as Director of the Red Cross Dental Clinic at Portland, Maine. Expect to write shortly of my experience as a Dentist in the Indian Service taking in especially the dental aspect of this work. As that student who was asked about Caligula replied, "The less said about Caligula the better." So I say the less said about the dentist in the Government Service the better.

I HAVE been practicing law since July 1913 and find it more interesting every day. I hold no public office other than Secretary to the Board of Education, Township High School District No. 201, St. Clair County, Illinois. I was a candidate twice shortly after leaving college but the dear "Peepul" would have none of me, and since there are no second prizes in politics I have left reforming my particular part of the world to others.

Of course, I haven't set the world on fire. No one expected me to. But this edge of it has begun to smoke a little.

Married: Ruth Louise Blacker, Allston, Mass., Apr. 12, 1916.

Child: Emily Rowse, Nov. 27, 1917.

War Service: Enlisted Jan. 16, 1918, Pvt.; Discharged Apr. 18, 1919, 2nd Lt. Engrs. 553rd Engrs. Sr. Bn.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (Home) 41 Gardner St., Allston, Mass.

(Bus.) Girls' Latin School, Longwood & Huntington Aves.,
Boston, Mass.

FROM 1911 to 1912 attended Graduate School at Harvard, Department of Education. From 1912 to 1914 taught Science and Mathematics at Bacon Academy, Colchester, Connecticut. From 1914 to January 15, 1918 was at Melrose High School, Melrose, Massachusetts, teaching Mathematics, and acting as faculty manager of athletics.

January 16, 1918, reported at Camp Devens and assigned to Depot Brigade. Here I remained, performing such important and mentally arduous jobs as working on a garbage truck, digging trenches, standing guard, etc., until I was transferred to Camp A. A. Humphreys, Virginia, on the 24th of April, 1918. Camp Humphreys was the headquarters of the Engineers. I was put to work in a Company office, as Company Clerk, being made Corporal and then Sergeant. Later on, at the end of July, 1918, I was sent to the Engineers' Officers' Training School, first going to Camp Lee, and then returning, with the whole school, to Humphreys. Three months later I received my commission as Second Lieutenant, Engineers, U. S. A. That was my title officially, actually I was a mere "shavetail". I was assigned to colored troops, Co. B, 553 Engineers Service Battalion, we had our sealed orders to go "across", and then before we started the Germans most inconsiderately decided to have an armistice. Instead of going across, we had to help out the Ordnance people, and my company went up to Baltimore, to the Curtis Bay General Ordnance Depot. We had 239 colored boys, mainly from the South, eleven white sergeants, a First Lieutenant, and a Captain. You notice I call it "my" company, that is because all the company administration work fell to me, you wouldn't expect a Captain or a First Lieutenant to do any work when there was a "shavetail" around, would you? However, "it is a great life if you don't weaken"! Those colored boys were a good bunch to work with, and I would much rather have had them than a lot of white companies I saw. They had to find out just two things, first that we officers were going to give them a square deal, and second, that we were also going to see that they gave us a square deal by doing the daily work assigned to them.

However, much as I liked my army work, I was mighty glad when we finished up our work and when I received my discharge, on April 18th, 1919.

After returning to Boston and getting back into civilian clothes once more I began teaching on the fourth of May, 1919, in the Girls' Latin School, Boston, Massachusetts. I was supposed to teach mathematics, but ever since a year ago last Thanksgiving I have been teaching Physics.

HAVE been continuously employed in Telephone work since leaving college in middle of 1908. Only exciting events are recorded above under marriages and births. Have attempted to combine some hunting and fishing with the telephone business, but the reaction is unsatisfactory. Have wished to give up the business, but my wife won't stand for it. Have, therefore, given up the hunting and fishing.

ALTON LOMBARD MILLER

Born at Somerville, Mass., Apr. 10, 1890.

Parents: Charles Nahum Miller, Lula E. Lombard.

School: Somerville High School, Somerville, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; A. M. 1913; Ph. D. 1916.

Married: Mary Evangeline Mason, Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 23, 1911.

Children: Ruth Pearl, Dec. 17, 1917; Mary Evangeline, Aug. 17, 1919.

Occupation: Manufacturing Confectioner.

Address: (Home) 25 Clinton Road, Brookline, Mass.

(Bus.) Beverly & Medford Sts., Boston and 247 E. Illinois St., Chicago, Ill.

FOR the first two years after graduation I continued my studies in Mathematics at Harvard, and instructed on half time in the Division of Mathematics. The following two years, from September, 1913, to August, 1915, were spent as Instructor of Mathematics in the Literary College of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

The receipt of a Parker Fellowship from Harvard University enabled me to sail for Italy in August 1915 to continue my mathematical studies under Professor Corrado Segre at the University of Turin, Italy. After a week in Naples, six weeks in Rome, and one week in Florence, I arrived in Turin at the opening of the academic year about the first of November 1915, where a very profitable winter was spent under the supervision of Professor Segre, a most gracious teacher. Before returning home, in June 1916, I enjoyed several weeks in Paris and Southwestern France.

Again I held the position of instructor of mathematics at the University of Michigan during the year 1916-1917, but in June 1917, for financial reasons, was obliged to give up the pleasant academic life for the more strenuous one of business. In September I became a partner with my father in the firm of Chas. N. Miller Company, Manufacturing Confectioners, which he had founded in the year 1885.

It was my privilege to assist our Alma Mater in the fall of 1918 to care for the war students by again teaching Mathematics in Sever Hall.

MY LIFE since graduation has been an ordinary normal life, out of the ordinary only in extraordinary share of happiness that has been my lot since my marriage nearly two years after leaving college.

In June, 1911, I went to Duluth, Minnesota, with my brother and mother, intending at that time to go into mining or engineering, but after a summer vacation devoted to fishing, hunting, tennis and golf, I found that the East held a great lure for me and I came back to Boston in October. I secured a lucrative job cleaning inkwells in the banking house of William A. Read & Company, which job I held down, with considerable damage to clothes and carpets, for nine months, when I was turned loose on the unsuspecting investment public as a security salesman. At the end of nine months Jimmy Dean, (an old Harvard man and former baseball captain and one of the biggest little men that ever lived), the Boston partner, blasted my hopes of advancing to a salary of seventy-five dollars a month by reminding me that I had sold almost nothing, that my future as a bond salesman was about as bright as an 1831 cent, and that he would be very glad to help me get ahead (with somebody else). He got me a job with the American Felt Company (a subsidiary or contributory or something of Willett, Sears & Company) which I stuck at for five months. I had been meanwhile married (between jobs) on April 12, 1913, and after a camping out honeymoon, my much better half and I, began housekeeping at 22 Madison Avenue, New (tonville).

In October I found that my health was being affected by constant indoor clerical work and about the middle of that month I joined the Greene Advertising Agency of 530 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, as a solicitor of advertising accounts. At the same time our lease ran out in Newtonville, commuting was expensive and irksome and after looking at several places, my wife and I found a house at 20 Hilliard Street, Cambridge, in the Y. M. C. A. Colony (Young Married Couples Association), near Appie Lawrence and Charlie Story (whose wife is Jack Sweetser's sister).

The Greene Advertising Agency went out of existence in May or June 1914, and liking the work, I nosed around until I found a similar opening with the C. Brewer Smith Advertising Agency, 85 Devonshire Street, with which outfit I worked until called into Federal Service in July, 1917, building up slowly a fair business that held promise of a better future.

During these years, my son was born (we had lost a daughter born January 27, 1914, after three days' illness) on July 16, 1915, and named after his father. We had spent the summer of 1914 at Swampscott and the following winter, having sublet our house, we boarded with a private family in Brookline. In the spring of 1915 we returned to 20 Hilliard Street and remained there for another year. In 1916 I was called to Mexican Border Service, leaving my wife and boy at Swampscott again and serving during the summer (June 26 to October 30th) at Camp Pershing, El Paso, Texas.

After leaving Swampscott, the family moved to 47 Strathmore Road, Brookline, where we spent that winter and in the spring of 1917 we first rented the house where we now are, at 18 Hawthorn Street, Cambridge.

When the United States declared war, new military organizations began to be authorized and having had some seven and a half years of service in Battery A as private, corporal and sergeant, I was honored with a commission as First Lieutenant and assigned to aid in recruiting, organizing, drilling and equipping a new Battery to make up the First Massachusetts Field Artillery. After some three months duty with the new Battery, I was offered a Captaincy in the new 20th Regiment of Massachusetts Field Artillery, which I accepted, receiving my commission and assignment as Battalion Adjutant just four days prior to mobilization of the National Guard on July 25, 1917.

With the rest of the regiment, I was mobilized at the Artillery Camp, Boxford, Massachusetts on July 25th and mustered into Federal Service August 5th, at which time the 20th Regiment became the 102nd Field Artillery, 51st F. A. Brigade, 26th Division. The regiment left Boxford September 21st, arriving in New York the following day and leaving Hoboken for "port unknown" on September 23rd. We arrived in France October 5th, left Base Camp No. 1 at San Nazaire on October 17th for a period of training at the famous old French camp at Cortquidan in Brittany. There the three regiments of the brigade (101st, 102nd, and 103rd) received fifteen weeks intensive training until ordered to the front about February 1st, 1918. The regiment took part in active warfare in the defensive sector of the Chemin-des-Dames (until March 21, 1918) and sector Northwest of Toul (April 3 to June 16, 1918). On the day we pulled out I received my majority, was relieved of command of Battery F, that I had held for a month, and assigned to command the 1st battalion (Batteries A, B and C). On July 7th we relieved the 20th Division at Chateau Thierry, fighting defensively until the 18th when the big Aisne-Marne offensive started, through which the Artillery Brigade stuck until the Aisne was reached on August 4th. Then came relief and the only rest period the Division had between February 1st and the Armistice. After two weeks near Chatillon-sur-Seine, we began a train and over-the-road march looking forward to the St. Mihiel attack (about which we knew nothing then) in which we did our part on September 12 and 13. After the nipping of this salient, the division established a sector north of St. Mihiel and stayed there till October 12th when we were snaked out for a march into the woods near Verdun, where we rested up a bit and scraped off mud until the 17th, when we went in at the hinge of the big attack, where we stayed until the Armistice.

After another winter in France, we were shipped home on March 31, 1919, leaving Brest on the Mongolia and arriving in Boston on the morning of April 10th. I found my good family waiting at the pier, got a glimpse of my home and made the acquaintance of my new daughter on her first birthday, went to Camp Devens and was mustered out of Federal Service there on April 29, 1919.

I have spent perhaps an undue portion of my life on the war, but I had two reasons in mind—first, it was a marvelous experience and the biggest event that could happen to any man (except marriage) and second, because, while the majority of 1911 men were in the service, I know that comparatively few were in the 26th Division.

After leaving the army, I loafed hard for six weeks, though spending considerable time in deciding upon a permanent life job. After giving very careful consideration to a dozen different openings, I decided that a house that offered investments sufficiently fundamental to build up a record of thirty-seven years without loss to any investor would afford an opportunity for permanent association and, being offered the position of associate manager of the new Boston office of S. W. Straus & Company, I finally accepted and am still there.

Again I say that my life contains little out of the ordinary; but I have written at, possibly too much, length because the secretary said my "life" was going to interest someone else. I know I would like to hear as much, and more, about lots and lots of 1911 men and as an old proverb says, "there is no accounting for tastes," perhaps someone may find time and taste to masticate the above.

AFTER leaving Harvard in June, 1910, after getting the long-coveted Latin appendage to my perfectly good American name, I spent the summer at home, attending to personal matters. That fall, I returned to Boston for about three weeks but did nothing unusually heroic. I went to Florida and spent the winter and spring, working part of the time as a general office roustabout with a civil engineering concern in Daytona, Florida. Here, also, I did nothing for fame except to subtract a few thousand arithmetical problems, make a considerable number of blueprints and do some general scooting around according to my Boss's pleasure, for what seemed to me the munificent remuneration of two dollars per diem. They finally got tired of me and let me go, whereupon I did a little amateur tinkering on my father's cottage, "messing up" my own "eats" meanwhile. In both I was, sad to say, considerable of a failure. I also attempted to clean house preparatory to leaving said cottage in charge of some tenants; the lady of said tenants or renters softened her disapproval of my housewifery enough to say that she didn't expect as much of me, a mere man, as she would have done in the event that a woman had cleaned up.

That summer (1911) I spent for the most part in the Y. M. C. A. camp at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, trying out the possibilities of enlisting in "Y" work as a life career; in other words, I went to school there to get an impression of the opportunities afforded by the Y. M. C. A. to an A. B. with a heterogeneous assortment of unassimilated and unapplied learning. They were merciful to me, and I returned that same fall to spend a year at the then Institute and Training School of Young Men's Christian Associations and now Y. M. C. A. College (located both times and in between at Chicago), hoping that this polysyllabled aggregation of efficiency and splendid men would somehow get me into touch with and in a measure prepare me for a certain amount of usefulness to some General or Educational secretary who should be mad enough to employ me. I remained there till the summer of 1912, when I again attended the summer camp at Lake Geneva (which camp is no more nor less than the summer school of the aforesaid polysyllabic agglomeration.) Here I was once more well received, but finally was told politely but plainly that I belonged in the work. I proceeded to cast baited lines forthwith, and, as I contemplated a trip to the West Coast, applied to three Associations in as many cities there. I had a delightful trip west through the Canadian Rockies; arriving at Portland via Vancouver and Seattle. I looked up the local Educational Secretary, who offered me a job at forty dollars a month and find your meals and clothes. I accepted, and to this day regret my rashness not at all, for in the five years (from September, 1912 to June, 1917) during which I held forth and illuminated that Y. M. C. A. school I gained much experience and other wisdom and apparently hypnotized my Boss and a number of students into the idea that I had been to Harvard and contracted a mild case of learning. My Boss is still under the delusion. Except for a few months in the summer of 1914, into which I will not go, I served almost continuously in the Portland "Y" during the period mentioned. At last, pulling up stakes again, I migrated to northeastern Washington, taught a district school there with uncanny results, accepted Uncle Sam's urgent invitation to join his German-potting bee, acquired during my six months of service as buck private a large respect for Uncle's efficiency and for the thorough attention he gave me in many ways, as well as a gratitude not felt hitherto for the privilege of having had a part in that vast enterprise which ended November 11, 1918.

Almost immediately after my discharge from the army, I returned east, and after a summer (1919) spent at the arduous job of doing nothing I decided, after a somewhat lively scene with a friend who had set her heart on my doing so, to return to Harvard for a year of postgraduate work, with the Master's degree looming in the horizon as an inducement. From September, 1919 to August, 1920, I resided continuously in Cambridge (except for a trip to Maine in June of 1920) and pursued the elusive A. M. Not a little to my surprise, the game finally consented to be bagged, and partly on the strength of its possession, partly on sheer nerve (perhaps incidentally on the strength of a few testimonials as to my generally hopeless character), I succeeded in bringing down the position I now hold.

So far, this has been about the pleasantest experience of my life, as I have finally managed to get into a financially gainful occupation which is congenial and where, except for a few hours on six days a week, I am practically master of my own time. But this section of my life-history would best be left for another chapter, when I am ten years older.

UPON graduation in February, 1911, I entered the employ of Tiffany & Company, New York. In 1913 I was elected a director of the firm and made an assistant treasurer and assistant secretary, which positions I now hold.

In August 1917 I was commissioned a captain in the Quartermaster Corps and ordered to Camp Dodge, Iowa, as assistant to the Division Quartermaster of the 88th Division, and was further detailed as division exchange officer. In February, 1918, I was relieved as division exchange officer and kept busy on plans and preparations for moving the division overseas. In July, 1918, the division crossed to France and after a few weeks preliminary training, we took over the center sector of Haute Alsace on about October 4th. I was made a major on November 3, 1918. Just before the armistice we were ordered north of Toul, and assigned to the Second Army for the drive on Metz, and had just reached our position when the war stopped. I stayed with the division until December 25, 1918, when I was taken sick with typhoid and visited several hospitals until I was sent home in March, 1919, and discharged. I then resumed my position as a member of the firm of Tiffany & Company.

Born at Cardiff, Wales, Nov. 28, 1890.

Parents: Richard Morgan, Julia Moore Tennant.

School: Fond du Lac High School, Fond du Lac, Wis.

Degrees: A. B. 1911 (1912).

Married: Rosamond March Swanzy, Honolulu, Hawaii, Apr. 6, 1918.

Child: Francis Swanzy, March 19, 1919.

War Service: Enlisted May 14, 1918, Pvt.; Discharged Dec. 2, 1918, 2nd Lt. Inf. T. C., Camp Grant, Ill.

Address: (Home) "Lihimauna", Manoa Road, Honolulu, Hawaii.

(Bus.) P. O. Box 188, Honolulu, Hawaii.

IN May 1912, I accepted an invitation from James D. Dole ('99) to work for the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, Ltd., of Honolulu. This step was the result of a sequence of letters resulting from an attempt I had made as one of the editors of "The Harvard Illustrated Magazine" to secure from Harvard men in various parts of the world, statements of the work they were doing and of opportunities for other Harvard men in their communities. As the hero of my youth, "Jim" Dole has now become one of the best friends I have; and to him I owe in great part the fullness and happiness of my life.

In April 1918, I began to live! In the splendor of Honolulu Miss Rosamond Swanzy and I were married. The war was upon us, and in May I enlisted in the 2d Infantry at Fort Shafter, Oahu, Hawaii. After three months in the 4th O. T. S. I was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry and was ordered to Camp Grant, Illinois. Here, as a result of college prowess with the lacrosse stick (?) I became a bayonet instructor and taught many a farmer lad how to toss hay with a rifle. Here's hoping Harvard encourages lacrosse!

Mrs. Morgan had accompanied me to Chicago and there, on March 19, 1919, we met the young man, Francis, who about 1936 will follow his father at Cambridge.

On my return to Honolulu I joined the firm of Theo. H. Davies & Company, Ltd., sugar factors and merchants. I am also president of the corporation controlling the Auto Service & Supply Company, Ltd., and the Graystone Garage of Honolulu.

MORRISS was born in Fall River, Massachusetts, on September 15, 1889, and was the son of Samuel Benjamin Morriss and Mary Ann Ryan. He attended Durfee High and Stones Schools.

In college he played on the University Soccer Team in Senior year. After leaving college he went through the Medical School and subsequently became a practicing physician in Fall River.

In 1918 he entered the service and was assigned to Medical Training Company No. 1 at Camp Johnston, Florida. He contracted pneumonia and died on October 11, 1918 at Fall River.

ROBERT DICKINSON MORSE

Born at Marlboro, Mass., May 7, 1888.

Parents: Edward Irving Morse, Harriet Agnes Randlett.

School: Marlboro High School, Marlboro, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Paula Victoria Jensen, Woonsocket, R. I., Sept. 8, 1919.

Child: Robert Dickinson, Jr., Dec. 20, 1920 (Died Dec. 30, 1920).

War Service: Enlisted July 22, 1918, C. Q. M., Discharged Nov. 21, 1918, C. Q. M. Naval Aviation.

Occupation: Accountant.

Address: (Home) Windsor Ave., Windsor, Conn.

(Bus.) c/o Hartford Fire Ins. Co., Hartford, Conn.

HAVING obtained my required number of courses for my degree at the end of my third year, I went to work in September, 1910, with Harris Forbes & Company, Inc., in Boston. I remained in their employ until January, 1918, when I left to accept a position in the bond department of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. I left this position later in the same year to enter the officers' training school of the Naval Aviation Detachment at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The armistice was signed before completing my training. My only place of employment since leaving the service has been with the accounting department of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut.

✠ RICHARD MORTIMER, JR.

RICHARD MORTIMER, JR., the son of Richard and Eleanor Jay Mortimer, was born in Carlsbad, Germany, July 26, 1888. He attended Fay School and St. Mark's School and received his A. B. at Harvard in three years. In 1913 he graduated from the Harvard Law School. For a time he practiced law with Warner, Stackpole & Bradlee, Boston.

He was an excellent rider and became well known for his skill and fearlessness in steeplechase and on the hunting field. Anticipating our entrance into the war he took an elementary course in aviation under Curtis at Newport News. He offered himself to the Government but was refused on account of his eyes. Later, however, he was accepted and was sent to the School of Military Aeronautics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

In August 1917 he sailed for England and after attending aviation schools there was commissioned a First Lieutenant in the U. S. Army, March 25, 1918. He was detailed to "Ferrying", that is taking new planes from England across the channel to France. In May 1918 he was assigned to a squadron in France and on the 22nd of that month he was killed while practicing manœuvres. His machine and another struck at a height of 4000 feet, his tail-plane was cut off, rendering his machine unmanageable, so that it fell to the ground and he was instantly killed. He was buried in an Allied-American cemetery near Hesdin Wood in the north of France.

(Bus.) 38 Exchange St., Lynn, Mass.

ENTERED newspaper work in 1911 as reporter. Am now managing editor Daily Evening Item, Lynn, Mass.

My war experiences consisted of training troops at Camp Devens for overseas, waiting vainly for a trip to France which was planned with the 12th Division, and was defeated by the armistice. Hold a commission as captain of infantry in the Reserve Corps in the hope that in the next "party" I shall be in early enough to get within speaking distance of the front.

I HAVE been associated with the Mooney Mueller Ward Company, wholesale druggists, since my graduation from college and am at present manager of our wholesale Pathé phonograph distribution department.

My life has had an even tenor during the past ten years and includes little that could be of interest if published in the decennial report. I was not called into military service up to the time of the armistice and so did not experience the many interesting things which many of my classmates have to relate.

School: Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911 (1912); M. D. 1914.

War Service: Enlisted July 1917, 1st Lt. M. C.; Discharged June 1919,
Capt. M. C. Base Hospital No. 51. In charge surgical team
Evac. Hosp. 1 and 3 during St. Mihiel.

Occupation: Physician, practice limited to surgery.

Address: (Home) Dudley Lane, Milton, Mass.

(Bus.) 19 Bay State Road, Boston, Mass.

DURING 1911 I obtained a leave of absence from the college and spent that year as my first one at the medical school. I left there in the spring of 1914 to go to the Boston City Hospital where I was until January 1916, with the exception of a few months off between services. I had both Medical and Genito-urinary services there. Leaving there I went to the Augustana Hospital in Chicago where I remained as a Surgical Interne under Dr. Ochsner for the whole of that year. In January 1917 I left there to become the assistant of Dr. C. H. Frazier of Philadelphia, with whom I remained until July when I obtained my commission as First Lieutenant, M. C. Following this I was moved from camp to camp in the army including Fort Oglethorpe, Spartanburg with the 27th Division, Government surgical courses at Philadelphia and New York and then to Camp Wheeler at Macon, Georgia. At this last named place I was attached as adjutant, detachment C. O., and brain surgeon to Base Hospital No. 51, with which organisation I sailed from New York on the S. S. Olympic in the early part of August 1918, going to Toul, Meuthe et Moselle, by way of Southampton, Cherbourg, Rimacourt. Here we organized as an Evacuation Hospital and received patients directly from the first aid stations during the St. Mihiel show. During this time I also did duty with Evacuation Hospitals 1 and 3 in charge of a surgical team. At the end of September I came down with pneumonia and what with that and a sick leave on the Riviera I did not get back on duty until November 12, 1918. In December, 1918, I was given two A. E. F. ambulances and the opportunity to use other French and English cars and sent to Strasbourg, Alsace, attached as American Medical Mission for Repatriating American Prisoners of War from Germany to the staff of the Fourth French Army under the command of General Gouraud. I remained on this duty for three months, about 700 Americans having passed through my hands on their way out of Germany. During this time I made several trips into Germany reaching Ulm on the Danube once and spending several days and nights at Stuttgart rounding up severely wounded prisoners. Relieved from this in March 1919, I returned to Base Hospital 51 and came back with them in May, landing in New York in June 1919, and being discharged at Camp Dix on the ninth of that month. Since then I have opened an office in Boston for the practice of surgery and am in addition on the out-patient staff of the Boston City Hospital.

I did not join the Reserve Corps but I did have a d—— good time in France and consider that it was a very good war in spite of the army.

Occupation: Manufacturing Confectioner.

Address: (Home) 40 Payson Road, Belmont 78, Mass.

(Bus.) 253 Norfolk St., Cambridge 39, Mass.

ON leaving college I did not leave Cambridge, but hung around and managed to become a legal, though graduate, member of the 1911-1912 Soccer team, making me wish I had sat up and taken notice earlier, so much benefit did I derive from this experience. I tried to play again the next year, but the ruling on graduates was made more strict, so I was obliged to apply myself strictly to research, working under Professor Graton on his "Secondary Enrichment Investigation" (with a view towards primary or personal "enrichment"), and ultimately annexing a degree in Economic Geology.

Then by a twist of circumstances I arrived in the candy business as a co-manufacturer of extra good chocolates, with Russell & Company, in Cambridge, where I have been since the summer of 1915.

War Service: See below.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: 51 Chambers St., New York, N. Y.

AT THE outbreak of the war I was past forty-six years of age and they refused to consider me for military training. I wanted very much to get into the service. They did permit me to engage actively in the propaganda to overcome the pro-German, pacifist, etc., tendencies, and I worked during the entire war under the auspices of the National Security League, American Defense Society, Mayor's Committee on National Defense, Four Minute Men, Minute Men of America, War Camp Community Service, British and Canadian Headquarters, etc., as a volunteer speaker. I traveled through the northwest and spoke in Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, and Missouri; also in the environs of New York, in the city itself, in Vermont and New Jersey, and out in Long Island. I helped in every movement to enlist men for the Navy, U. S. Army, British Army, Canadian Army, the Anzacs, for David's Legion, for France, etc., among our residents. I made between 1500 and 2000 such addresses, received no compensation, and paid my own expenses as my contribution to the war. I greatly regret I was born in that age strata that left me outside the military demands.

I am at this time entitled to my B. Sc. degree if I will accept it, but I have to qualify in an examination in one ancient language to get my A. B. as of 1911. I shall take this examination one of these days when I have the necessary leisure time to devote to it. I have had to keep hustling ever since I left Harvard in 1912 to make a living and get my feet in the sand. Now I have to hustle in the same way to keep things running in such a manner as not to collide with each other.

Occupation: Architect.

Address: (Home) 99 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass.

(Bus.) 50 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER finishing at Harvard in 1910 I spent a year and a half in Europe studying architecture and sketching. Opened up an office for the practice of architecture in Fall River, Massachusetts, in 1913. My partner was Joseph I. Higgins, Harvard, 1911. After three years' practice I received a better opportunity in Boston and returned in 1916. The Great War caused a serious slump in the business and I joined the Government Secret Service Forces. With the ending of hostilities I entered the employ of Mowll and Rand, architects. I am head-draftsman and manager of the office. Both members of the firm are Harvard men. Mowll taught drawing at Harvard from about 1906 to 1911 and Rand is class of 1910. My connections with the Government I am not permitted to state.

Address: (Home) 59 Monument Ave., Charlestown, Mass.

(Bus.) Hugh O'Brien School, Roxbury, Mass.

AFTER graduation I entered the Boston Normal School for a one year period, graduating in June 1912. Since that time I have been a teacher in the Boston schools and at present I am a sub-master in the Hugh O'Brien School. In addition to teaching day school I have been on playgrounds with the little lads after school in the fall and spring. I coached the Winchester High School football team in 1914. In evening work I have managed a community center for the last seven years, which has been a most interesting undertaking. In the summer months I have acted as a substitute probation officer in the Boston Juvenile Court. I was Assistant Deputy Commissioner in the Boy Scouts of America for over one year. Believing that a school man should be on the Boston School Committee I was a candidate for that office in November 1920 but I was defeated at the polls. After June 1921 I expect to be connected with the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, 185 Devonshire Street, Boston.

War Service: M. R. C. Assigned by Surgeon General to Mass. Gen. Hospital as house physician to X-Ray Dept.

Occupation: Roentgenologist.

Address: 144 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.

COMPLETED academic work in junior year. Spent senior year in graduate school on physics and chemistry. Entered medical school in the fall of 1911. Transferred to dental school spring of 1913. Graduated from dental school in 1915, and returned to graduate school for further work in physics. Then returned to medical school, graduating in 1917. Have practiced dental radiology while attending medical school up to time of enlistment in Medical Reserve Corps. Upon graduating from medical school was assigned to Massachusetts General Hospital as House physician to the X-ray department for one year. The signing of the armistice prevented transfer to overseas unit which was in view at that time. Upon being discharged from the service, returned to private X-ray work, in which I have continued to date.

Hospital appointments: House physician to the X-ray Department, Massachusetts General Hospital; Assistant Roentgenologist to the Boston City Hospital; Consultant in roentgenology to the Boston Dispensary.

HOWARD OSGOOD

Born at Rochester, N. Y., July 27, 1889.

Occupation: Physician.

Address: (Home) 74 Russell Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

(Bus.) 469 Franklin St., Buffalo, N. Y.

I ENTERED the Harvard Medical School in the fall of 1911. In March, 1912, I received a year's leave of absence from the Medical School to make a trip abroad as tutor, visiting Algeria, Constantine, Tunis, Italy, France and England. In fall of 1912, returned to Harvard Medical School and did research work in physiology until March 1913, when I reentered the regular course, completing the first year's work in spring of 1913.

Attended the Harvard Medical School for the academic years 1913-1916. Interne, East Medical Service, Massachusetts General Hospital, April, 1916 to July, 1917. Junior Pathological Interne, Boston City Hospital, August to December, 1917, completing work for degree of M. D., Harvard University. Granted M. D. degree on November 26, 1917, by special vote of the President and Fellows to qualify for a commission in the Medical Reserve Corps. Commissioned First Lieutenant December 6, 1917. Entered active duty December 20, 1917, and assigned to Base Hospital No. 116, which was mobilised in New York City on that date. Pending departure overseas, I did two months detached duty in the Rockefeller Institute Hospital, Pneumonia Service. Sailed from New York on March 25, 1918, with Base Hospital No. 116, reaching Havre, France, via Liverpool and Southampton, April 6, 1918. Trip made in S. S. Mauretania without any particular incidents. Base Hospital No. 116 was stationed at Bazoilles-sur-Meuse, Vosges, with six other base hospitals. After a month at Bazoilles, I was sent on detached duty, with several other officers from the base hospital, to join the Second Division, then holding a section of the line just south of Verdun. I was assigned to Field Hospital No. 15, later to Field Hospital No. 1. Was with Field Hospital No. 1 when the Division went into line on the Chateau-Thierry-Belleau Woods sector, June 1, 1918. While in this sector, F. H. No. 1 was stationed at Bezu-le-Guery, acting as triage for the Division. Detached from Second Division July 3, 1918, and returned to Base Hospital No. 116. Sent to Dijon during August, for course in wound bacteriology, after which I returned to Bazoilles-sur-Meuse and assumed charge of wound bacteriology for the Hospital Center. Commissioned Captain, M. C., commission dated February 19, 1919. Sailed from St. Nazaire on May 13, 1919 with Base Hospital No. 116, arriving at Hoboken

May 24, 1919. Discharged at Camp Devens, Massachusetts, June 7, 1919.

Assistant in Department of Preventive Medicine and Hygiene, Harvard Medical School, during academic year 1919-1920. Second Assistant Visiting Physician, Boston City Hospital, January to June, 1920.

In October, 1920, removed to Buffalo, New York, to enter the practice of medicine. Appointed clinical pathologist to the Buffalo City Hospital and assistant in Medicine, University of Buffalo Medical School.

Member: Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Society (Honorary Society); Aesculapian Club, Boston; Buffalo Academy of Medicine; American Medical Association; Erie County (New York) Medical Society.

NED OSTHAUS

Born at Scranton, Pa., Oct. 11, 1889.

Years in College: 1907-Feb. 1909. Graduate U. S. Mil. Academy, 1913.

Married: Elizabeth Skinner, St. Lawrence Park, N. Y., Sept. 2, 1915.

Children: Hildreth, Oct. 12, 1916 (Died Jan. 9, 1917); Peggy Elizabeth, March 6, 1918.

War Service: Enlisted March 1, 1909, Cadet; Discharged July 1, 1920, Major. 3d, 37th, 45th, 56th, & 27th Inf., also Air Service. Skirmishes in Siberia.

Address: 228 Arsenal St., Watertown, N. Y.

AFTER leaving college in February, I entered West Point in March, 1909. Although I found the life there somewhat dissimilar to that at Harvard, I managed to graduate in June, 1913, and was assigned as Second Lieutenant to the 3rd Infantry. In 1915, I was in Aviation for several months and the next year went to the Mexican border, being promoted to First Lieutenant, 37th Infantry. When the war broke out, I was commissioned Captain and detailed as Instructor at the first two training camps at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana. There I had the pleasure (somewhat doubtful) of training many Harvard men in both Infantry and Field Artillery. After the training camp I took charge of the school for Aviation Cadets at Kelly Field, Texas, where I got a majority for a few days, surrendering it to get back to the line and overseas. I was then sent as a Captain of Infantry to the 7th Division but was promoted Major and assigned to the 9th Division. I was in New York on my way to France when the armistice was signed and went back to camp.

After the Armistice I was sent to Tennessee Military Institute as Professor of Military Science and Tactics. From there in the summer I went to Siberia with our expeditionary forces, staying there through the winter of 1919-20. From there I went to Manila where I resigned my commission and came back to the United States, having fallen completely in love with the Orient. On my way back I saw something of China, Japan and Hawaii.

I was married in 1915 and have one small daughter.

FROM 1911 to 1913 attended art school, New School of Design, Boston, and tutored summers at Nahant Mr. Samuel Hammond's two sons and Mr. Malcolm Greenough's grandson. Tutored in Latin, Greek, history and arithmetic. From 1913 to 1914 taught at "Red House," Groton, Massachusetts, Mr. C. A. Shaw's "prep" school for Groton. The next year tutored Mr. Benjamin Johnson's son at Lynn, and from 1915 to 1918 had my own private school for boys from eight to fifteen at Lynn. This was very successful.

In May 1918 enlisted in Naval Reserve and went to Newport, Rhode Island for two weeks. Came to Charlestown Navy Yard, Boston, in June and was with the commandant, Captain W. R. Rush, there until October when I passed Ensign's examination and was transferred to District Communication Headquarters at the Little Building, Boston, where I passed another examination as Communication Officer, but applied for discharge after armistice was signed and received same before commission came through. When discharged accepted position with Parker Brothers, Salem (no relation!) game manufacturers, and have been there since. Hope some day to go back to teaching.

Address: 11 Maple St., Arlington, Mass.

I BECAME the Pastor of the Union Congregational Church at Seekonk, Massachusetts, on July 1, 1911, and remained there for two years. I then accepted the pastorate of the Second Congregational Church of Beverly, Massachusetts, where I remained for five years. In the winter of 1917-1918 I was for three months the Educational Director at Camp Devens. In July I attended the Chaplains' School at Louisville for five weeks. Was assigned to the 50th C. A. C. for overseas service on September 5, 1918. Sailed October 7th. I was one week at Brest (a week too long), three weeks at St. Nazaire. Assigned for duty at Base 2, Bordeaux, after two weeks at the replacement depot called a Chaplains' School at LeMans. Remained at Bordeaux for four months, three at Camp de Souge and one in the Base Chaplain's Office. For the last four months of my stay in France I was with the French American University Detachment at Toulouse, the second largest in France. Sailed for America July 7, 1919.

Four months I spent raising money for the Pilgrim Memorial Fund of the Congregational Church, two months with the Near East Relief, two months with the Interchurch World Movement, two months with the Congregational World Movement. In September I was called to the Orthodox Congregational Church of Arlington.

(It was while at Seekonk that I did a little work "in absentia" to complete for a degree at Bangor Theological Seminary. I completed a three years' course there before I went to Harvard.)

Personally I enjoyed the service very much.

School: St. Mark's School, Southboro, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

War Service: Enlisted June 1, 1917, 1st Lt.; Discharged Dec. 21, 1918, Capt. Co. A., 4th M. G. Bn., 2nd Div. Bois de Belleau; Attack south of Soissons; St. Mihiel; Blanc Mont Ridge. Croix de Guerre, with Palm, Silver Star, Bronze Star; Fourragère.

Occupation: Insurance, Asst. Manager, Philadelphia Branch Office, U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co.

Address: (Home) Radnor, Pa.

(Bus.) 315-17 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

PASSED off all the courses I needed at mid-years 1911, so I went abroad with Hanford MacNider. Returned in the fall of 1911 and entered the University of Pennsylvania Law School. Left there after two years on account of my father's death, and having passed my State Bar examinations, started to practice law in Philadelphia. Early in 1914, however, I moved to New York and went into the oil and general export and import business there. The company's principal interests were in Mexico, and after a visit there, it was soon clearly seen that since our own State Department had disowned Americans who had been foolhardy enough to invest money in Mexico, we stood to lose. Our expectations were realized.

After the declaration of war against Germany I entered the Harvard R. O. T. C. under the French Commission, and from there was ordered to Fort Oglethorpe, from there to Columbia, South Carolina, and then to Camp Hancock, Georgia, with the Aviation Section, Signal Corps, and went overseas with them in February 1918. After a short stay at the Aviation Training Center at Issoudun, where I ran the railroad and was Assistant Machine Gun Instructor, in April my application to be returned to the line was granted, and I joined the 4th Machine Gun Battalion, 2nd Division, as second in command of Company A. Took command of the company on June 14th, as the Company Commander became a casualty, and remained in command until after Blanc Mont Ridge, October 14th, when I was ordered back to the United States as a machine gun instructor, arriving the week the armistice was signed. Hung around in this country until December 21st when I finally got myself ordered into inactive duty with the reserve.

In March 1919 moved to Baltimore as I had obtained a job with the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company there. In July 1920 returned to Philadelphia as Assistant Manager of the new branch office for Eastern Pennsylvania established in Philadelphia at that time.

As to my opinion of the Service, it's a great thing, for the coming generation. Personally in the next war I am rather undecided whether to go into the Ordnance or the Quartermaster Corps, and am rather favoring the latter.

I HAVE lived an uneventful life, enjoying good health for the most part and life as a whole. I have never held nor will I hold a public office in town or state affairs although I have been requested to stand. Located in a small town, I am glad to say that I have found some very good friends and, sorry to admit, a few bitter enemies (that is inevitable in any circle if a man be decided in his opinions). Here's to you all, greetings of the season and may we all live long and be happy.

Occupation: Minister.

Address: 384 Prospect St., Lawrence, Mass.

IN THE autumn of 1910 I went to Trinity College, Cambridge, where I found more time to study rowing than anything else and managed to get on the college crew which went "Head of the River" that year. I spent the two academic years of 1911-1912-1913 in the Philippine Islands teaching in Bishop Brent's school for American boys and travelling during vacations through China, Japan and the Islands themselves, but returned in 1913 for three years at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Massachusetts, where I prepared for the ministry. In May 1916 I was ordained Deacon and went in July to be curate of Grace Church, Lawrence, where I succeeded W. A. Lawrence, 1911. After ten months here I was ordained Priest and went in May 1917 to France as Red Cross Chaplain of U. S. Base Hospital No. 5 (Peter Bent Brigham Unit) serving with them in the B. E. F. at Dannes, Camieres and later at Boulogne for sixteen months. In October 1918 I received a commission as Chaplain in the U. S. Army and joined my regiment (102nd F. A.) northeast of Verdun. I returned with the Division and was discharged with them at Camp Devens, taking up my pre-war work again at once in Lawrence. In April 1920 I was elected Rector of the church and am working at present in that capacity. I am Chaplain of the local post of the American Legion.

FOR five years after graduation I drifted from one line of business to another, all the time avoiding starting at the bottom of the ladder because of the erroneous belief that a college graduate knew too much to make it necessary for him to begin at the bottom. Repeated failures showed me the error of my ways and I finally secured a position which gave me an opportunity to learn one of the branches of foreign trade. After a short time thanks to the man I worked under and also to the favorable conditions of trade at the time, I was enabled to enter on my own account into a business which has proved both interesting and profitable.

In connection with my affairs I had the pleasure of visiting the principal cities of France, Italy and Greece and also the cities and pyramids of Egypt.

HAVING settled upon the ministry as my future calling, I commenced to study for it at the General Theological Seminary in New York City in the fall of 1911, and I spent one year at that institution. Six weeks after the next year's work began I decided to try out my vocation before longer continuing and therefore in November 1912 I left the Seminary to teach school. One year at this seemed to "settle" me, but it gave me great experience, that of "putting things over" or "getting things across." Anyone at all who has been a teacher realizes this as the greatest asset. Well, in 1914-15 I studied at the Episcopal Theological School on Brattle Street, Cambridge; and finished up the following year, 1916, where I began at the General Seminary, New York City.

Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts ordained me to the Diaconate in June 1916; and Bishop Babcock, the Suffragan-Bishop of Massachusetts, advanced me to the priesthood in June 1917. From November 1916 to December 1917 I was a curate at the Church of the Ascension, Fall River, Massachusetts, assisting the Rev. Charles E. Jackson than whom, may I say here, I have never met a more courteous or more gracious gentleman.

December 10th, 1917, I enlisted in the Navy, the Reserve Force, as Seaman 2nd Class for radio training; and shortly after the first of the new year I was sent to Newport, Rhode Island, to the Naval Training Station, Coaster Harbour's Island, the "Island" so-called. My purpose was to get a real taste of sea life. I cannot remember when the sea and the ships did not simply fascinate me. My patriotic move was surely tintured with something not exactly patriotic, but yet compelling. But I did not see the sea, except at a distance; and the only ship I sailed on was the "Inca", the government ferryboat that competed with the electrics in transporting "gobs" to Newport, a mile away. For after finishing my training for radio, my services were practically requisitioned by Chaplain Wm. G. Cassard, one of my own Church-faith, the Chaplain at the Station, and I was transferred to his department (instead of being sent to Harvard to gain greater perfection in "receiving" and "sending" prior to being assigned to some berth on a real "sea-goin' ship") to assist him on Sundays and tend the Library week-days. But, perhaps it was all right, for my future lifework has gained from this practical experience in this kind of war-work. I mean the practice of preaching to two thousand men and youths, the work at the hospital during the terrible weeks of the "flu", the general contact with practical and well-meaning, though sometimes strangely spoken fellows. And, so, although I have not had sea-experience, I can yet have it; but I have had something more vital. I am still on the books of the Navy Department, I shall not be discharged till December 1921.

While still wearing a flat-hat and "bell-bottoms" I became priest-in-charge of Emmanuel, Braintree, Massachusetts, April 1919. I am in a beautiful suburb of Boston, two miles south of Quincy, and at the very edge of the country. I am not married, and I cannot give any promises when I shall be.

IRVING POOLE

Born at Somerville, Mass., Apr. 15, 1890.

Parents: George Sanger Poole, Sarah Poor Osborn.

School: Somerville Latin School, Somerville, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911 (1912).

Married: Ruth Clark, North Attleborough, Mass., June 16, 1917.

Child: Sally, May 28, 1918.

War Service: Enlisted Nov. 19, 1917, Pvt.; Discharged Dec. 6, 1918, 2nd Lt. Inf. 151st Depot Brigade.

Occupation: Real Estate Broker.

Address: (Home) 17 Tanager St., Arlington Heights, Mass.
(Bus.) 10 State St., Boston, Mass.

IN the Fall after my graduation, I entered the employ of Whitcomb & Company, real estate brokers of business property in Boston, as a broker, and here I am and may always be; who knows?

The Service was an interruption which had one bright spot for me in being a member of the Fifth Co. Central Officers' Training Camp at Camp Lee, Virginia, not the climate in the summer of 1918, but the quality of the leadership furnished us and the personnel of the Company.

However, when all is said and done about the service, let me say, "May we live happily ever after."

JOHN ILSLEY PORTER

Born at Staten Island, N. Y., Nov. 7, 1889.

Parents: Charles Martin Porter, Susan Porter Ilsley.

School: Staten Island Academy, Staten Island, N. Y., and Brooklyn Polytechnic School, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Years in College: 1907-1908.

War Service: Enlisted Feb. 12, 1918, S. C. 4th Class; Discharged Jan. 8, 1919, Cabin Steward. U. S. N. R. F.

Occupation: Restaurant Proprietor.

Address: (Home) 224 Davis Ave., Staten Island, N. Y.
(Bus.) 303 Amsterdam Ave., New York, N. Y.

INSTEAD of returning to Harvard after my freshman year I attended the New York School of Fine and Applied Art for a two years' course of interior decoration and architecture. This I completed and was employed in the designing room of W. & J. Sloane of New York City. After a short period it became necessary for me to associate myself with my father in the cotton goods business, which business I inherited and remained in until I enlisted in the Navy in the commissary end, this being what I considered I could do the best. I became interested in the food business, so started out for myself in this line after my release from active service in the Navy.

EDWARD ALBERT POST

Born at Grafton, Mass., Aug. 15, 1889.

Parents: Henry Post, Anne Frances Tillinghast.

School: Brockton High School, Brockton, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; A. M. 1917.

War Service: Enlisted June 1, 1918, Pvt.; Discharged July 23, 1919, Corp. American Proving Grounds in France.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (Home) 39 Hemenway St., Boston, Mass.

(Bus.) High School of Commerce, Boston, Mass.

FOR two years following graduation I was in Puerto Rico where I was engaged in normal and secondary school work. Here I acquired a still-lingering lure of the tropics and a profound realization of the futility of imperialistic expansion of the United States. One year in Great Barrington in the Berkshire region of Massachusetts and four years in the Boston school system brought me up to the time of enlistment in service.

While in service I got out of my experience as a by-product an intimate acquaintance with the mythical nature of "military discipline," the misery of submission to inferior superiors, and the frightfully folly of unsuccessful demobilization.

From March to July of 1918 I was a student, an assistant, and gave one lecture, in the Sorbonne, University of Paris. Here I learned the charm of the undying fire of intellectual France and enjoyed a social experience the delight of which I can hardly hope ever to be surpassed.

Now I am re-engaged in the important, if inglorious, vocation of educating the cosmopolitan influx of urban population in the Boston schools.

My hobby is genealogical research and colonial history in general and my avocation is the writing of verse that does not get published.

Address: (Home) 108 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.
(Bus.) 101 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER we finished at Harvard, I put three years on Law
And practised here in Boston till Mexico asked for war.
South with the Guard I went, and rode the Texas plain,
And the dust was still in my breeches when the call went out again.

Plattsburgh made me a shavetail in Field Artillery
And we froze eight months at Devens before we could get to sea.

We learned the Seventy-fives at Camp de Souge, Bordeaux,
 But all front seats were taken; we came too late for the show.
 Seventeen days (and Christmas) we slept in the mud at Brest,
 But the next month saw us discharged, and wandering home to rest.

The Law looked kind of dusty to start all over again
 So I joined the Federal Board for training disabled men.
 I worked in Atlanta, Georgia, while the North was deep in snow.
 And a couple of months in New York, but I'm back in Boston now Still drawing the Government checks, and finding things not so bad,
 And helping police the debris of the grand old war we had.

Occupation: Treasurer, W. B. Rand Co. Inc., Printers.

Address: (Home) 48 Oakwood Road, Newtonville, Mass.
(Bus.) 185 Franklin St., Boston, Mass.

ENTERED business at end of Freshman year as salesman for the General Manifold & Printing Company of Franklin, Pennsylvania, at their Philadelphia office and traveled for three years in New Jersey, Maryland, Washington, D. C., and part of Pennsylvania. Returned then to Boston and joined in business with my father, later opening a printing plant in that city. The business has been incorporated under the name of William B. Rand, Company, Inc., of which I am Treasurer and General Manager. Our business has increased to such an extent that we will move early in 1921 to a new factory which is now under construction at Main and Carleton Streets, Kendall Square, Cambridge.

During the war I was a member of the Newton Constabulary, a home guard organization affiliated with the Newton Police. This organization performed very commendable work. I have a camp on Bear Island, Lake Winnepesaukee, and spend most of the summer there with my family. I believe in long and frequent vacations, and take them.

Member: Numerous Masonic bodies, Boston City Club, Boston Chamber of Commerce, New England Railroad Club, Appalachian Mountain Club, Newton Club and others.

AFTER receiving my degree in June 1911 I attended Harvard Law School for one year. Thereafter I continued the study of law in Indianapolis and served as clerk of the various trial courts of Marion County from September 1912 until February 1, 1915. Since then I have practised law in Indianapolis with the exception of a brief interlude in the fall of 1918 when I attended the Field Artillery Central Officers' Training School at Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky. My war service record is literally nothing at all. Nothing to boast of; nothing to be ashamed of. I was in no engagements, except the Great Battle of the "Flu" from which I emerged unscathed. I left the Service in rather better physical condition than I entered.

I have been married seven years and have three children, one of whom I trust will one day be a member of the Class of 1941 and on that occasion help me to celebrate our thirtieth reunion.

Address: Tivoli, N. Y.

SINCE leaving college have had various experiences. Began by working from 1911 to 1913 in office of McKim, Mead & White. In January 1914 went to Rome and studied in studios there until July when, conditions in Europe being ominous, I joined my family in Germany about a week and a half before the declaration of war by Germany. On a state of war being declared, we made a forced run by motor of nineteen hours and succeeded in getting over the Dutch frontier and thence to London.

On return to New York took a place as Secretary to Judge Hoyt, Presiding Justice of the New York Children's Court, and a year after became Executive Secretary of Catholic Big Brothers doing Big Brother work in connection with the Children's Court, and I left this in May 1917 to join the U. S. Naval Reserve Force. In September received commission as Ensign U. S. N. R. F. and was sent to the Reserve Officers' course at the Naval Academy.

On graduating February 1, 1918, as Ensign (T) U. S. N. was ordered to the destroyer Stevens, then building at Fore River Ship Yard, and on her completion in April I served in her in European waters up to the time I was detached.

Owing to the death of my father I secured my return to the United States December 28, 1918 and my discharge from the service in February 1919.

In June I was married and I am now at a job promoting hydro-electric plants.

STEPHEN GOTTHEIL RICH

Born at New York, N. Y., Jan. 3, 1890.

Parents: Joseph Solomon Rich, Gertrude Gottheil.

School: Kelvin School, New York, N. Y.

Years in College: 1907-Feb. 1909, June 1909-March 1910. B. S. (New York Univ.) 1914; M. A. (Cornell) 1915.

Married: Johanna Elizabeth Turner, Durban, South Africa, Jan. 24, 1920.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (Home) 489 Manhattan Ave., New York, N. Y.

(Bus.) 301 W. 72nd St., New York, N. Y.

I LEFT Harvard in the Junior year, but owing to illness as a Sophomore I had not finished Sophomore year's work. Worked at various things, including a job as mechanic in the Simms Magneto Company, New York, till October 1911. Then I entered New York University, and, being old enough to have a bit of sense, got what I hadn't sense enough to get at Harvard. My college life was a success at N. Y. U.—I was in many activities, including the college papers and musical clubs, was orator for Founders' Day 1913, and became permanent librarian for my class, N. Y. U. '14. Also, I made Phi Beta Kappa, and was assistant in biology in my senior year.

Failing to land as good a job as I wanted, in college teaching, I went up to Cornell in September 1914, on borrowed money, and took my degree of M. A. there in biological subjects in 1915.

The "wander-lust" seized me, and late in 1915 I signed up to go to a teaching position in South Africa. February 11, 1916, I started as instructor in Nature Study at the Amanzimtoti Institute Training College, Natal, South Africa. After two years there I went to the Nuttall Training College, also in Natal, as headmaster (vice-principal). One year there was enough; I was tired of overwork. I entered the service of the Natal Education Department, teaching eighth grade in their schools in the city of Durban. Last year I had a big row, for punching the head of an insulting pupil. I resigned last October, and with my wife came back to New York. In February of this year I landed a position as Science Instructor in the Clark School for Concentration, in this city.

While I was in Africa I did a lot of entomological work, and became the recognized expert on South African dragonflies. I worked up the collections of this group in the museums at Durban, Pietermaritzburg, Pretoria (in part only) and Kingwilliamstown, in South Africa.

I expect to stay here for three or four years, until I take my Ph. D. degree, for which I am studying "in teaspoonfuls" at New York University. Then probably back to Africa for five years or so.

On the day I landed in Natal (February 11, 1916), I met a young lady, also of the staff of the Amanzimtoti Institute, who became Mrs. Rich in January 1920.

Hobbies: Dragonflies and stamp collecting; Politics—socialist; Church—Unitarian, but attend Presbyterian.

Publications: Paper, "The Gill-Chamber of Dragonfly Nymphs," Journal of Morphology, September, 1918; Book, "African Nature Studies," still in manuscript but to be published this year; Short scientific papers, mostly in South African Journal of Science; Articles in "The Colonnade," of New York.

Member: Andiron Club of New York; Philatelic Society of Natal, Durban, South Africa; New York Entomological Society; Natal Teachers' Society, Durban, South Africa.

IN THE summer of 1911 went to England, Belgium, Germany, Denmark and Norway. Started to work in the fall of 1911 with the Libbey Glass Company and the Westlake Machine Company. In spring of 1912 superintended the construction of the Libbey Glass Company's plant at Sandusky. January 1913 became manager of the Sandusky plant which operated Westlake automatic machines for the manufacture of electric light bulbs. In 1916 became a director in the Libbey Glass Company. Upon the leasing of our Sandusky plant to the General Electric Company in 1918 came to Toledo in charge of the bulb and tubing departments. In January 1920 the Libbey Glass Manufacturing Company was organized and I became Vice President of this company and remained a director in the Libbey Glass Company.

School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.

Years in College: 1907-1909.

Married: Louise Allen Davidson, Auburndale, Mass., Oct. 9, 1912.

Children: Joseph Davidson, May 25, 1916; Allen Williams, March 1, 1919.

Occupation: Assistant to Manager & Banana Salesman.

Address: (Home) 59 Woodland Road, Auburndale, Mass.

(Bus.) c/o United Fruit Co., Boston Division, Long Wharf, Boston, Mass.

DURING the vacation after my Freshman year I worked as a longshoreman handling bananas at the wharf of the United Fruit Company in Boston. The following summer I returned there and worked part of each week as special assistant to the Manager. In August 1909 conditions were such that it appeared impossible for me to return to Harvard and I obtained a steady position with the Boston Division of the United Fruit Company at Long Wharf. I am with them there today. My work has naturally increased and I am now in the position of Assistant to the Manager and have charge of the sale and distribution of all banana cargoes coming to this Division.

My experiences with the Company have been varied and include two trips to tropical countries, viz, Costa Rica, Panama, Colombia and Jamaica. In 1912 I married a Smith College girl and have lived happily ever since. I have two fine sons, one almost five and the other almost two years old. The older shows tendencies toward track and studies while the younger will doubtless make the football team and the boxing team.

During the war I, in common with all men in my position, made the best of not taking an active part and worked hard on all of the many drives.

HAVE been in business in and around Los Angeles since graduation. Have done various things, and now am vice president and secretary of the Seaside Water Company, Seaside Investment Company, and Long Beach Bath House and Amusement Company. I am also a Director of the Citizens Trust and Savings Bank, the Southern California Iron and Steel Company, and the Rindge Land and Navigation Company.

My war service consisted of going to Camp Kearny, California, March 17, 1918, as Sergeant, M. R. C., Base Hospital No. 35. I was made top kick and remained so until July 4, when I was transferred to the 131st Ordnance Depot Co., Camp Kearny, as a buck. There I was promoted to private 1st class, corporal, sergeant, and in November to Ordnance Sergeant, with the rating of Master Armorer of the camp. Before the armistice I was recommended for a commission, but that held it up, and finally I was given a commission as Second Lieutenant, O. R. C., Ordnance.

Occupation: Director, Boston Stammerers' Institute.

Address: (Home) 40 Centre Ave., Belmont, Mass.

(Bus.) 246 Huntington Ave., Room 28, Boston, Mass.

JUST after graduation, I accepted the position of house master and teacher of science and mathematics at the Hargrove School, Fairfield, Connecticut, and resigned in the summer of 1912 to become estimator for Tyson, Weare, and Marshall Company, General Contractors, Boston, Massachusetts. From this I resigned in the fall of 1913 to open a school for stammerers of my own. On February 1, 1916, the Robbins School for Stammerers and the Boston Stammerers' Institute and Training School merged; since that time I have been director of the new Boston Stammerers' Institute. From 1916 to 1920 I took courses in psychology at Harvard and spent considerable time in the Psychological Laboratory, Emerson Hall, doing research experimentation upon stammering, culminating in an experiment directly upon the brain of a living stammerer.

WILLIAM PRESCOTT ROGERS

Born at Brookline, Mass., Oct. 12, 1887.

Parents: Edwin Albert Rogers, Harriet Gertrude Prescott.

School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass., and The Stone School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Gretchen Harwood, Newton, Mass., May 9, 1914.

Children: William Prescott, Jr., Aug. 31, 1915; Rosalind Harwood, Apr. 12, 1918; Sydney Harwood, Aug. 22, 1919.

Occupation: Cotton Broker.

Address: (Home) 353 Lincoln Ave., Fall River, Mass.

(Bus.) 78 Bedford St., Fall River, Mass.

IN THE Autumn following graduation I obtained a position as general utility boy for E. A. Shaw & Company, at which useful work I was engaged for a year. They then gave me an opportunity to manage their Fall River agency which was an interesting experiment. I liked it so well that in less than two years I risked matrimony and have been happy ever since. My wife and three children are the principal contributors to this condition of affairs.

My war record is nil. I was a member of the Massachusetts State Guard during its first year. Possessing universally defective eyesight, the influence and efforts of classmates availed nothing in placing me in active service. I decided that to have accepted an offer from the Ordnance Library at Washington would have been more ignominious than attending to my daily occupation.

My list of books and plays written since graduation is herewith postponed to an indefinite future date. However, I have, for the past two years been specializing on Diurnal Lepidoptera in collaboration with an Eli '12. This is a most interesting occupation for active business men. One can make rapid progress in this subject and get a scratch rating much more easily, I believe, than in golf. There is practically no competition. We do our own handicapping.

My daily occupation keeps me constantly active. This consists in tracking the wily mill treasurer to his lair. I find it ever a source of pleasure although it does not, perhaps, lead to paths of glory or vast riches.

Occupation: Headmaster of Monson Academy.

Address: Monson, Mass.

HAVE taught school since graduation—a great life. During 1911-1912 was at Cedarcroft School, Kennett Square, Pennsylvania (home town of Herb Pennock of the Red Sox. Know Herb well). Coached the basketball team there. The next year was at Milton Academy, Milton, Massachusetts. "Babe" Felton, Arthur Clark, Henry Faxon, and Arthur Hamilton were all kids in short pants there when I knew them. Coached Third Baseball Team—"Tubby" Clark, pitcher. In 1913-1914 was at Volkmann School, Boston, as head of Classical Department. Was faculty manager of football, and reader in Latin for College Entrance Examination Board. From 1917 to 1919 was at William Penn Charter School, Philadelphia. (Great old school—attended Quaker meeting once a week with the boys—no minister, no music, no collection—just sit and think. Lotta fine cemeteries in Philly.) Was junior master in classics. Coached the school glee club and organized William Penn Male Quartet which sang at hospitals and camps for wounded service men. Since 1919 have been headmaster at Monson Academy, Monson, Massachusetts. Good old Mass., cod or codless, is good enough for “Yours sincerely”. Have a home given me rent free. Can you beat that? At present am trying to learn to “unpull” and “unhook” my drive. Excuse me on the “Vardon” grip.

Have done a bit of summer camp work and was recently appointed Director of the Wampanoag Camps on Buzzard’s Bay at Gray Gables. This is one of the best organized camps in the East.

Publications: Local articles now and then in various places. Nothing “heavy” yet. Give me time. By another decade I’ll be dragging down a royalty or two.

I SPENT three years, from 1911 to 1914, in Harvard Law School; passed the Ohio State Bar Examination in December, 1914 and opened a law office with Bernard U. Focke in Dayton, Ohio, in the month of January 1915. Mr. Focke was Prosecuting Attorney of this, Montgomery, County. On his subsequent death I took over his practice and interest in the firm and have since practiced alone. The annals of my life have consisted and been filled with only the ordinary "quiddities, quillets, cases, tenures and tricks" of a lawyer, as Hamlet once put it.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (Home) 71 Otis St., Medford, Mass.

(Bus.) 31 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER graduation I attended the Harvard Law School, and since my graduation therefrom in 1913 I have practiced law in Boston and Medford, except for the time from May 1917 to August 1919 when I was in the Army. During 1915, 1916, and the first part of 1917, I acted as city solicitor of Medford.

In June 1915 I joined the First Corps Cadets, Massachusetts National Guard, and I served therein until May 1917, when, after examination, I was commissioned a Second Lieutenant of Infantry in the Officers' Reserve Corps. I attended the Plattsburg Training Camp from May to August 1917. In September 1917 I went overseas. After a five weeks' course at a British Army School, I was assigned in November 1917 to the Eighteenth Infantry. I served with this organization till January 1919 except for eight weeks in the summer of 1918 and two weeks in October 1918 when I was recovering from wounds. I was with the Army of Occupation on its march into Germany and until March 1919. From the latter part of January 1919 till March 1919 I was with the 354th Infantry, 89th Division. From March to July 1919 I attended the courses for American Army students at the Faculté de Droit, University of Paris. In July 1919 I came home, and in August 1919 was discharged. I have since then been commissioned a first lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

THEODORE TOWNSEND SCUDDER

Born at Brookline, Mass., July 3, 1889.

Parents: Winthrop Saltonstall Scudder, Caroline Augusta Townsend.

School: Noble & Greenough School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Carolyn Sturgis, Boston, Mass., June 15, 1911.

Children: Theodore Townsend, Jr., June 4, 1912; Frances Sturgis, Nov. 8, 1913; Jeannette, Oct. 23, 1916; Diana Outram, July 30, 1919 (Died Nov. 30, 1919).

Occupation: Investment Stock and Bond Broker.

Address: (Home) 7 Longfellow Park, Cambridge, Mass.
(Bus.) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.

I HAVE been in the security business almost steadily since graduation:—First, with White, Weld & Company in New York and Boston; then from the end of 1914 with Long & Nash; late in 1917 I went into business for myself. In September, 1919, I formed my present firm, Scudder, Stevens & Clark, with Sidney Stevens, 1900, and F. Haven Clark, 1913.

Member: Harvard Club of New York; Harvard Club of Boston; Exchange Club, Boston.

WILLIAM SHEPARD SEAMANS, JR.

Born at New York, N. Y., Feb. 18, 1889.

Parents: William Shepard Seamans, Helen Woodbury.

School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Ruth Huntington Flint, Boston, Mass. Oct. 12, 1912.

Children: William Shepard, 3rd, June 6, 1914 (Died Apr. 10, 1918);

John McGaw, Oct. 31, 1917; Samuel Huntington, Nov. 20, 1919.

Occupation: Foreign Trader.

Address: (Home) 1182 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

(Bus.) 120 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

HAVING with more or less malice aforethought taken courses in college which had no relationship with the making of money and being rather anxious to acquire as much as possible of this with the least possible effort, I served for three years in an accounting house owned by Britishers in an attempt to learn knowledge of business from study of records of business, hand writing, and careful regard for detail, which training is so sadly neglected in our institutions of learning.

In 1915 I formed a partnership for the general practice of public accounting.

In 1916 I held a position of assistant to the treasurer of Mercantile Stores Corporation, an organization operating twenty-seven department stores under a trust agreement, the outcome of the Claflin receivership. In 1916 I served six months on the Mexican Border with Squadron A, New York Cavalry, N. G. U. S.

In 1917 I was appointed auditor of Union Pacific Tea Company which had a chain of two hundred grocery stores. In 1917 I joined the American International Corporation, and have been with it ever since, recently occupying the position of Treasurer of one of the subsidiary companies, International Steel Corporation. At the time of writing I have just returned from a trip to China and Japan where the great opportunity for Americans in foreign trade and the pitiful way in which many are attempting to enter it is very obvious.

At the moment I have a great admiration, respect and loathing for New York, and a hankering for foreign parts where I expect to enjoy meeting and playing with a far greater number of classmates than it is possible to meet and play with here.

Address: 714 West 25th St., Kearney, Neb.

SINCE graduation from Harvard in 1911 I have been engaged in school work all the time, at the same time making some profitable investments in land. I have put in part of two years in Denver University since leaving Harvard and the rest of the time in teaching. From 1912 to 1913 was principal of the High School at Clifton, Arizona, the next year was principal of the High School at Loveland, Colorado. In 1914-1915 was Superintendent of Schools at Rawlins, Wyoming. Since 1915 have been head of the Department of Education and Psychology in the State Teachers College, Kearney, Nebraska. One of my principal occupations at the present time is that of conducting school surveys by means of the Standard Intelligence and Educational Tests.

I was not in war service of any kind.

FREDERICK GRAFTON SMITH

Born at Salem, Mass., Feb. 1, 1889.

Parents: Sterry Frederick Smith, Sarah Elizabeth Gray.

School: Salem High School, Salem, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Occupation: Secretary, Committee on Appeals and Review, Internal Revenue Bureau.

Address: (Home) 1612 Hobart St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

(Bus.) Room 238½, Treasury Bldg., Washington, D. C.

UPON graduating in 1911 I began my business career as student in the school conducted by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company for the training of young men for administrative positions in the company. Upon completion of the course I accepted the position of assistant executive clerk and served in a secretarial capacity to the officials in the company. After having served in this capacity for nine months I resigned in February 1918 to accept a position as auditor and accountant in the Boston office of Marwick, Mitchell, Peat & Company.

At the outbreak of the World War the United States Government canvassed the principal colleges in the east for men young enough to accept the modest salary which the Government pays its employees and yet sufficiently trained and equipped to carry out the program as outlined by the United States Bureau of Efficiency in its efforts to systematize and coordinate the various departments of the Government.

After a consultation with Mr. Herbert D. Brown, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Efficiency, I was offered the position of auditor and investigator of office methods and procedure, which position I accepted in June 1917.

The Bureau then completed its uniform system of accounts for the Indian Service after a lengthy investigation of the conditions, personnel and requirements of the Department of the Interior, and the members of the Bureau were assigned to various portions of the United States where Indian agencies, schools and offices were located.

After having been in Washington for two weeks or sufficient time to acquaint myself with the system I was assigned to the territory embracing North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, and Oklahoma, and travelled from one Indian Reservation to another installing the system as prepared by the Bureau of Efficiency for the Department of the Interior. This work covered a period of six months.

The Bureau of War Risk Insurance had been created in the meantime and the Bureau of Efficiency was requested by the Secretary of the Treasury to assist in its organization and operation. As a result some of the members were recalled from the field and placed in charge of the various Divisions of the Bureau acting in an advisory capacity to the Director of the War Risk Bureau and the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. The chief clerk's office was my assignment and my chief concern there was the proper handling, assignment and disposition of 100,000 pieces of correspondence a week. At the end of a year the Bureau of Efficiency was relieved of this work and the growth and demand of the Income Tax unit for auditors offered better opportunities for advancement. On March 18, 1919, I commenced work in the Income Tax Unit, Internal Revenue Bureau as an auditor. After the first week I was appointed chief of the administrative section of the Technical Division of the Income Tax Unit and was responsible for the production of the Technical Division. I was soon after appointed Executive Assistant to the Head of the Technical Division being executive head of the Division. In September 1919 the Advisory Tax Board was abolished and upon urgent solicitation by the tax payers the Committee on appeals and Review was created, it being a body of men trained in income tax matters to serve in an advisory capacity to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue on all difficult and complex matters pertaining to income, excess profits and war profit taxes and a final court of appeal for tax payers when alleged injustice has been done by the Bureau. I was appointed Secretary of the Committee at the time of its creation which position I now hold.

PHILIP HORTON SMITH

Born at Salem, Mass., Feb. 17, 1890.

Parents: Josiah Foster Smith, Josephine Tillinghast Chadwick.

School: Salem High School, Salem, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

War Service: Enlisted March 1918, 1st Lt.; Discharged Dec. 17, 1919, Capt. American Field Service; American Red Cross; Sanitary Corps; R. R. Co.

Occupation: Architect.

Address: 42 Chestnut St., Salem, Mass.

IN the summer of 1911 I took a bicycle trip through England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, France, and Belgium, returning late in the fall to take up the work of an architectural draughtsman with the firm of Kilham & Hopkins of 9 Park Street, Boston.

The next three years were busy ones, devoted to the routine of office work necessary to the young architect, and to private jobs done in time outside the office.

In July 1914 being in need of a vacation after three pretty strenuous years, I set out for Europe with my father. Half way across we received news of the Salem fire, and of course returned on the next boat, the "Lusitania," as it happened, to find our home safe and the Naumkeag Mills in which my father was interested burned to the ground.

I had been made a partner in the firm of Kilham and Hopkins before my departure in July and on my return the new association was officially announced.

Since that time my career has been very varied. There were two years of very hard work and a third one when architects began to feel the war, and our entry into the conflict became more and more certain.

In the spring of 1917 I signed on with the American Field Service, and was called in August. I sailed early in September on the "Rochambeau" and after a short time with the Field Service was transferred to the American Red Cross where my construction work took me to the corner of Belgium which was never occupied by the Germans.

I lived in and about La Panne, and Nieuport Bains for between six and seven months, and carried out a good deal of construction work, mostly of the barrack type. The job was particularly interesting as I worked with Belgian troops and constantly came in contact with English, Colonial and French regiments.

I had applied for a commission in the Engineers, but in March 1918 I was given the rank of a First Lieutenant in the Sanitary Corps, and put in the Hospital Construction Department under the chief surgeon. My knowledge of French led to my being put in charge of the "etats de lieux"—the work of getting up a complete and detailed architectural description of property which we rented or requisitioned;—to which was added the making of necessary preparations for the reception of our hospital personnel.

This continued until the armistice, after which I was put in charge of the settlement of claims for damage done to the buildings we had occupied, particularly in the great pleasure resorts of France. The work was difficult and long, and held me in the army until December 17, 1919, when I was demobilized in France, holding the rank of Captain at the time.

Since then I have been travelling and studying in Europe for over a year. I returned to this country on January 20, 1921, and at the present writing (February 1, 1921) am making my preparations to start in independently to practice architecture with offices in Boston.

Child: Richard Allan, July 29, 1917.

Died at New York, N. Y., Oct. 19, 1918.

HERBERT M. SOLOMON was candidate for the New York State Assembly on the Progressive ticket in the campaign of 1914.

During the war he was a very active participant in the Liberty Loan drives. Toward the close of the fourth drive, in an exhausted condition from the weeks of unceasing organizing and out-door speaking, he was attacked by influenza which speedily passed into pneumonia, and on October 19th, 1918, he died.

A particularly interesting snapshot, sent to his family after his death, shows him a day or two before his fatal illness, in a characteristic speaking attitude, leading the crowd in an "America" cheer of the college cheer type, at 34th Street and 5th Avenue, New York City.

✦ EDWARD CARTER SORTWELL

EDWARD CARTER SORTWELL was the son of Alvin F. and Gertrude W. Sortwell and was born at Cambridge, March 25, 1889. His father was at one time Mayor of Cambridge. He prepared for Harvard at St. Paul's School, but left college after three years on his father's death. He was in the employ of the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates in Calcutta, India, for three years. In May 1916 he was returning to the United States but while in Paris joined the American Ambulance Service and served with Section 8 in the Champagne and at Verdun. Later he volunteered to go with Section 3 to Saloniki. On November 11, 1916, while crossing a darkened street in Saloniki, he was struck by a motor truck and died twenty-four hours afterwards from his injuries. He was buried in the Allies Cemetery at Zeitenlik where tribute was paid him by a large number of French officers of the Automobile Service, the American Vice-Consul and the men of his own Section. He was the first Harvard man to give his life in this branch of the service.

A. Piatt Andrew, Director of the American Field Service, wrote of him,

"He has left in the memory of all who were associated with him a fine record of arduous and in many cases dangerous work, eagerly and courageously performed; an example of manly endurance in the performance of duty which will not be forgotten. He was always ready for whatever task was assigned to him. He never hesitated and never shirked before a dangerous mission."

SINCE graduation I have been in business trying to get close enough to the elusive dollar to put the proverbial salt on the eagle's tail. The dollar, however, is still in the lead with the salt still in my hands.

From 1911-1912 I was with the United Fruit Company in Panama. The years 1912-1914 saw me with the Library Bureau in Boston, as a salesman. From 1914-1919 I was manager of the Library Bureau office in Fall River, Massachusetts. In 1919 I was sent to Philadelphia, as a territory manager with the same company, and have been here ever since.

HARRY HERBERT RAWSON SPOFFORD

Born at Hudson, Mass., July 20, 1889.

Parents: Herbert Edmund Spofford, Annie Mabel Rawson.

School: Hudson High School, Hudson, Mass.

Degrees: S. B. 1911.

War Service: Enlisted March 12, 1918, Seaman, 2nd class, U. S. N. R. F.

Discharged May 21, 1919, Ensign, U. S. N.

Occupation: Mechanical Engineer.

Address: 11 Cherry St., Hudson, Mass.

THE summer following graduation I spent at the Engineering Camp at Squam Lake, where I was a special assistant to Professor I. N. Hollis. In the Fall of 1911 I returned to Cambridge and registered in the Graduate School of Applied Science, and spent the academic year in research and experimental work, chiefly on power-plant problems. During the same time, I held an assistantship in mechanical engineering.

In July, 1912, I entered the employ of the Griscom-Russell Company of New York, manufacturers of power-plant machinery, as an apprentice engineer. After a short course of sprouts in their Jersey City shops, I was sent to Massillon, Ohio, where my employers had purchased the plant of the Russell Engine Company. I remained there for six months, first as a foreman on factory construction, and later in charge of tool-room and stock inventory. In February, 1913, I returned to the New York office, and for six months travelled extensively through the West, South and Canada in connection with the sale, construction and acceptance of refuse-disposal systems for municipalities. I was next appointed assistant officer-manager, and after that, advertising manager, which position I held until May, 1914, when I was sent to Cleveland to open a branch sales office.

In September, 1914, I resigned my position to enter the employ of Schutte & Koerting Company, of Philadelphia, manufacturers of marine and stationary power-plant equipment, I spent three months at their main office and shops in Philadelphia, principally engaged in machine design, and in January, 1915, was sent to Boston as sales-representative and engineer (marine department) for New England. I remained in this position for three years, and my most important work was in the development of auxilliary machinery for the General Electric Company, and engine-room equipment for naval construction contracted for, under the 1916 naval program, by the Fore River Shipbuilding Corporation, and the Electric Boat Company.

In January, 1918, I went to Philadelphia, and until March was engineer-in-charge of the company's testing plant, at Cornwells, Pennsylvania. In March, 1918, I resigned my position to enter service. A major operation, undergone the previous summer, had left me unacceptable physically until this date. On March 12, 1918, I enlisted in the Naval Reserve Force at Boston, as a second class seaman, which, due to my lack of knowledge of "the ropes" (no pun intended!), seemed all I could get at the start. I was first assigned to the office of the Naval Constructor, at the Charlestown Navy Yard, on ship repair superintendence. As I couldn't get anywhere on that job with a gob's uniform on, I was kicked upstairs to be chief machinist's mate. In May, 1918, I was one of seventy-two selected by competitive examination from a field of about four hundred from the First Naval District to enter the Fourth Reserve Officers' Class at the U. S. Naval Academy. I was commissioned as Ensign, R. F., before going to Annapolis. On June 11, the class began, and the next sixteen weeks were the busiest I ever put in. I was in the engineer-officers' section, and our work consisted of marine and electrical engineering, infantry drill, boat drill, rifle-range and a little ordnance and gunnery. On the whole, and particularly in comparison with what I hear the routine was in the Army training schools, we were treated quite handsomely. September 18, 1918, I was discharged from the Reserve Force, and given a temporary commission in the regular Navy. I was then assigned to the U. S. S. Mercury (16,000 tons, 7,000 H. P.) as Assistant Engineer Officer. The Mercury, which was formerly the "Norddeutscher Lloyd Schnelldampfer Barbarossa," was in the transport service, plying from Newport News. I made three trips across, seeing only Brest, St. Nazaire and Nantes, and found the service intensely interesting. On my first trip, we picked up the S. O. S. from the torpedoed "Lucia" (the famous "unsinkable ship"), on her maiden trip, and one of our escorting destroyers rescued her survivors. On my second trip we ran into extremely heavy weather, and I saw everything which I had ever read of disasters at sea, short of actual shipwreck! In January, 1919, I was detached from the Mercury and transferred to the Receiving Ship at Norfolk for temporary duty. After staying there for two months, I was ordered to Boston, where my resignation of my commission was accepted May 21, 1919. In August, 1919, I entered the employ of the Atlantic Refining Company of Philadelphia as a sales-engineer on fuel and other industrial oils. I did not find my work congenial, and was not greatly sorrowed when recession in the oil market impelled me to "blow" before my job did. Since September, I have been somewhat like Mr. Micawber, though not entirely idle. Up to election day, I was busy in politics as Chairman of the local chapter of the Republican League of Massachusetts. I have also been looking after some real estate, and nursing along a small fruit orchard.

I am Chairman of the School Board of the Town of Hudson, and was recently unanimously elected Commander of Hudson Post 100, American Legion.

ALTHOUGH my imaginative powers are not negligible they cannot make any account of what I have been doing since graduation brilliant. There is not even a war service period to brighten the page. This does not mean that life has been dull or uninteresting, but on the other hand rather full of its fair share of blessings and not too many sorrows.

After finishing my course in June, 1910, I attempted to sell a few bonds. Not having sold any by September I decided to go to work and spent the next winter in New York with R. Hoe & Company. By May I was sure of not being elected as a member of the Board of Directors at the annual meeting and inasmuch as spring and my own Commencement were approaching I decided to live in the country near Boston and so went to work for Bird & Son of East Walpole on May 29th, 1911. Here I remained until April, 1918, when I entered into a partnership with George Nicols in New York which finally brought me back to Boston in December, 1918, as treasurer of the Roxbury Carpet Company, and I still continue at this work.

EDWARD ROBINSON SQUIBB, 2nd

Born at Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 21, 1888.

Parents: Charles Fellows Squibb, Margaret Rapelje Dodge.

School: Browning School, New York, N. Y.

Years in College: 1907-1910.

Married: Margaret Bontecou, Orange, N. J., Dec. 6, 1919.

Child: Margaret, Oct. 18, 1920.

War Service: Enlisted Sept. 6, 1917, Pvt.; Discharged March 1, 1919, 2nd Lt. Inf. 78th Div. Hq. Troop and 153d Depot Brigade.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (Home) Bernardsville, N. J.

(Bus.) Mohonk Lake, Ulster Co., N. Y.

IMMEDIATELY after leaving college I worked with Lee Higginson & Company, New York City, for one and a half years. For four years after this and until the United States entered the war I taught at Ridgefield School, Ridgefield, Connecticut. After an unsuccessful attempt to enter the Second Officers' Training School I was drafted and sent to Camp Dix, New Jersey, with the first lot of men on September 6, 1917. We formed the nucleus of the 311th Infantry, 78th Division. My Plattsburg training of the previous summer stood me in good stead. I was transferred to 78th Division Headquarters Troop, made sergeant and sent to the Third Officers' Training School. June 1, 1918, I was commissioned Second Lieutenant Infantry, then assigned to 153rd Depot Brigade, Camp Dix. I assisted in the organization of the School for Non-English Speaking Soldiers, which was finally left in my charge. I was discharged February 28, 1919.

December 6, 1919, I married Miss Margaret Bontecou of Orange. We moved to Mohonk Lake, New York, where I am Senior Master of the Mohonk School for boys. This is a new boarding school which opened in 1920 and which occupies the hotel until permanent buildings are put up. I teach and am in charge of the riding—compulsory every day for all the boys. This life on the mountain top, with the riding and winter sports, I believe is almost ideal.

GEORGE SAMPSON SQUIBB

Born at Brooklyn, N. Y., July 9, 1889.

Parents: Edward Hamilton Squibb, Jane Graves Sampson.

School: Ridge School, Washington, Conn.

Degrees: S. B. 1911.

Married: Sarah Bullock Harris, Providence, R. I., June 1912.

Children: George Sampson, Jr., Jan. 4, 1915; Stephen Harris, June 13, 1917.

War Service: Enlisted Sept. 5, 1917, 1st Lt.; Discharged Jan. 14, 1919, Capt. Chemical Warfare Service.

Occupation: Executive—Founders and Machinists.

Address: (Home) 235 Meeting St., Providence, R. I.

(Bus.) Builders Iron Foundry, Providence, R. I.

IN July 1911 entered service of Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, in charge of field party. Later transferred to office work in Boston.

In March 1914 acquired the Andrew G. Paul Company, Heating Engineers, and operated in New England until April 1916 when firm was absorbed by Clarry & Squibb, Heating Specialists.

September 1917 I entered Army and trained at Allentown, Pennsylvania. On November 16th sailed for France via England, in charge of Chemical Warfare Service construction. Designed Gas Shell filling plant later built in United States. In June 1918 appointed C. W. S. Salvage officer and spent rest of year at the front in all engagements. On January 14, 1919, was discharged from Army. The training and experience gained in the army is a wonderful asset for anyone to have. Enjoyed every minute of it.

In March 1920 entered employ of Builders Iron Foundry, Providence, Rhode Island, and hold an executive position in the office.

Have always been well since leaving college.

BEFORE 1911 was over I had taken unto myself a wife and had entered the wholesale and retail provision business in the market district of Boston. Here for eight years I mangled many a pork chop for Classmates, and others, until by mere chance I became interested in the American Consular Service.

Taking the consular examinations at Washington in May 1919, I received an appointment as Vice Consul de Carrière to Saint Nazaire, France, for which post I set sail on the A. T. S. "America" on November 19, 1919. Saint Nazaire, situated at the mouth of the River Loire, very provincial, familiar to many an A. E. F. who disembarked there—well, the mud in this delightful little hole oozed in over the tops of my rubbers all the way from December 1 to January 23, 1920. Then on the latter date I had the good fortune to be placed temporarily in charge of the Consulate at Nantes, France, the ancient capital of Brittany.

On April 17, 1920, I was promoted to Consul and designated to open a new office at Dunkirk, France, an important seaport which withstood 214 distinct bombardments during the War; this city is situated twelve miles below the Belgian frontier on the English Channel.

How many times the boys have accused me of entering the Foreign Service all on account of Prohibition! But no, it isn't true even if Champagne is only $1.35 per bottle at present rate of exchange! I am very happy in my new and fascinating work; I hope the next Class History may still find me in this interesting Consular Service.

I hope any 1911's visiting or sojourning in France may make themselves known at the American Consulate, Dunkirk, France.

LEFt the United States October 17, 1911 and arrived at Buenos Aires, Argentina, on November 11th. Stayed there for a month and then went to Estancia Sarmiento, Argentina. Spent about a year there and then returned to Buenos Aires where I was employed by the West India Oil Company until April 1914. Returned to New York by way of London and Liverpool, arriving May 31, 1914. Was with Roper Lumber Company, Norfolk, Virginia, from September 1914 to February 1915, and after that with Samuel Shearer of Philadelphia, selling lumber in New York State. Started in business under my own name in September 1915. Attended Plattsburg Training Camp in August and September 1916.

War experiences too numerous to mention. Opinion of service,—am in favor of it.

ABBOT STEVENS

Born at North Andover, Mass., Aug. 24, 1888.

Parents: Samuel Dale Stevens, Lucy Amelia Abbot.

School: Phillips Andover Academy, Andover, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

War Service: Enlisted Sept. 27, 1917, Capt.; Discharged June 27, 1919, Capt. Q. M. C.

Occupation: Woolen Manufacturer.

Address: (Home) 623 Osgood St., North Andover, Mass.

(Bus.) 120 Stevens St., North Andover, Mass.

AFTER graduation I set out to learn the woolen manufacturing business. From the summer of 1911 to the fall of 1915 I worked as a laborer through all the departments of a woolen mill. During 1916 and the first half of 1917 I was in a commission house in New York learning the methods of selling.

My war experience was far from thrilling. Somebody discovered my textile training and I was immediately put in the Quartermaster Corps and spent nearly two years as an officer in the Boston Quartermaster Depot handling the production and inspection of the military goods made in the New England woolen mills. This was hard technical work with no thrills. After the armistice was signed I was held for seven months adjusting the claims of contractors whose unfinished contracts were cancelled by the government.

Needless to say, I am not on the reserve list of Q. M. officers.

IN 1911 started to go around the world. Got as far as Paris and stayed there. Went to Egypt, Nile trip, across desert to Khar-toum, shooting up White Nile, Abyssinia, Sudan, etc. On return, travelled in Europe for six months,—Sweden, Switzerland, Italy, Germany, France, Belgium, England, etc. In 1912 went to work as renting agent (meaning “near-janitor”) for the U. S. Realty & Improvement Company at 111 Broadway. In 1913 joined Ham Fish, ’10, Pop Corey, Yale ’10, and Walter Beinecke, Yale ’10, in the insurance business, starting the New York office of John C. Paige & Company of 65 Kilby Street, Boston. Spent summer of 1914 in Europe getting out of Germany by good luck at outbreak of war, with Charlie Munn, ’10. In 1916 joined firm of John C. Paige & Company and was elected Vice President.

Was drafted in August and turned down for bad heart; volunteered for Navy and was turned down for same reason. Got a job of clerical work in Navy Department at Washington, enrolled in the U. S. N. R. F. in October and was attached to the Office of Naval Intelligence. Was appointed Lieutenant (J. G.). Served in Washington till April 1918 when I was ordered to France. Appointed Assistant Naval Attaché at Paris. Served as such and as Naval Intelligence Officer until March 1919, when ordered to Black Sea as Flag Lieutenant to Senior U. S. Naval Officer, Turkey. Took part in evacuation of Odessa, Russia, and Sebastopol, and saw Bolsheviki hoist red flag from Municipal Buildings. Interpreted at conference between American, French, English, and Bolsheviki senior officers. Saw service in Caucasus Mountains, Caspian Sea, Armenia, Georgia. Served on commissions in Smyrna, Beirut, etc. Returned to Paris in September and thence to the United States in October and was disenrolled in November.

Since then, just work. Still with John C. Paige & Company, Inc., 115 Broadway, New York, where I will be glad to insure anybody or anything, anytime.

Occupation: Purchasing Agent, John A. Dunn Company, Chair Manufacturers.

Address: (Home) 51 Edgell St., Gardner, Mass.

(Bus.) 58 Main St., Gardner, Mass.

IMEDIATELY after leaving college I went with the Emerson Paper Company of Sunapee, New Hampshire, being in charge of a saw mill and lumber operations that summer and winter. The next year undertook to master the paper business, but passed that up to return to the "old home town" as cost man with the firm I am still with.

In 1913 was married and in 1914 welcomed a member of the class of 1936. The same year I started on an enforced vacation on account of health that lasted nearly a year. Except for this and my time in the service I have been with the same concern since 1912, at the present time being purchasing agent.

August 1917 I enlisted for service and in December was sent to Florida where I served for the duration of the war. There I received commission and advanced in the Training Division but was given no chance to get with an overseas outfit until too late.

Address: (Home) 15 Euclid Ave., Providence, R. I.

(Bus.) 260 West Exchange St., Providence, R. I.

AFTER leaving college I spent a part of a year in Southern California and South America. From the latter place I came home by way of England on a British sailing ship. In the fall of 1912 I started in with the General Fire Extinguisher Company and after a year spent in the draughting room I went on the road as a pipe-fitter's helper. Then in late 1914 I went to the main office in Providence as an assistant to the Vice President. In October of that year I was married.

I have been in Providence ever since at the same job, except for the period of the war, when I enrolled in the U. S. Naval Reserve Force as Boatswain's Mate, 2nd class. I spent six months at Newport and left there with a commission as Ensign in the Reserve. I was sent to the U. S. S. Seattle, which was doing escort work and while attached to that ship took a temporary commission in the regular Navy. In September 1918 I was detached from the Seattle and as Signal and Communication Officer made trips on several ships. One ship was the British transport "Ulua." After the armistice I spent a number of weeks at the Receiving Ship at New York, but was finally ordered to the U. S. S. Oklahoma and went with the fleet to Guantanamo, Cuba, for the winter manoeuvres. After returning in April the ship was suddenly ordered to Brest, France, to escort the President back to the United States. Upon arrival in New York, July 8, 1919, I was discharged from the service and terminated my active duty July 9th.

I then returned to Providence to my former position.

UPON graduation I entered the very honorable profession of teaching and spent seven years initiating young men into the beauties of the French and Spanish languages, two years in the Newman School of Hackensack, New Jersey, one year at Dartmouth College, and four years in Yale University, where I all but completed a course of study for the Ph. D. degree. During the summers of this period I travelled in Europe and elsewhere. In 1917 I published a Spanish Reader of South American History (Macmillan Company).

When the war broke out, I was in France and made some very interesting observations with some French and English soldiers I knew. Returning to the United States, I took up the R. O. T. C. work at Yale, being a lieutenant in our organization, instructing in Gunnery, Hygiene, Trigonometry and Foot Drill.

Was refused admission to the Training Camp with the men under my charge "because I was not a Yale graduate," was denied a commission as interpreter after passing linguistic examination because of poor eyesight. Was admitted into the Naval Reserve as a chief yeoman to do special work abroad in the Intelligence Department, eyesight requirements having been expressly waived. While in training camp for three weeks, the office of Naval Intelligence in the First Naval District was considerably shaken up, and I was assigned, at the completion of my training period, to the Plant Protection Division as Officer in Charge.

Upon release from active duty, I became associated with the Foreign Department of the Merchants National Bank of Boston.

(Bus.) Folwell 319, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.

IN 1911 I entered the profession of college teaching. I am still in it. In 1920 I subscribed to the Harvard Endowment Fund. Of the fact that I am a sentimentalist there could be no better proof unless it be that I like freshmen. For nine years I have tried to cajole and bulldoze them into saying what they meant. Usually they have meant well, but little. Dates and places? Queen's University, Canada, 1911-1912; University of Illinois 1912-1918; University of Minnesota 1919-1921. At Illinois I combined full time teaching and half-time graduate study; result a Ph. D. and a lasting disgust at the Teutonized educational system which in all our universities—Illinois being only an aggravated instance—exalts research above teaching, narrow specialization above good sense and culture, and the pundit's journal above the undergraduate's good. At Minnesota I have at last attained the eminence of assistant professor at a salary—I should like, in the cause of scientific investigation, to mention it—of $2,000. The year between Illinois and Minnesota I spent in getting married, and in inducing the S. G. O. to let me in as a buck private teacher of disabled soldiers. Unfortunately, the disabled soldiers refused to be taught, being more interested in getting discharged, securing passes, and tasting the various forms of vice which make Carlisle, Pennsylvania, one of the vilest of Pennsylvania towns, despite Molly Pitcher Dickinson College, all sorts and conditions of churches; and the Pennsylvania Constabulary. Because I could peck a typewriter and could not drill, I was made a sergeant first class, given commutation of quarters, and allowed to skip reveille and eat breakfast in town with my wife. My principal diversions in Minneapolis consist in bargain-hunting; see salary above; wondering whether I should change my name to Sutquist; and renewing my childhood as the result of Ponce de Leon draughts administered by my daughter Sarah.

SENIOR year at college ended for me about midnight of August 14th, when I finally closed the Treasurer's books of both the Crimson and the Class Fund. The next day I started off on a ten months' trip around the world, which concentrated into its long wanderings through Europe, India, Malaysia, China, and Japan nearly as much education as my whole four years in college. Thereupon, armed with an A. B., A. M. and the experience of this trip, I set out to make a living and found the world ready to give me six dollars a week for my services with the Springfield Republican. What was lacking in financial rewards was, however, amply compensated for in training under Samuel Bowles and Solomon Griffin. During eighteen months I worked my way through the small, typical New England town of West Springfield with its annual town meeting and its old Yankee background, up by the new immigrant city of Chicopee with its 9,000 Poles, 8,000 French-Canadians, 6,000 Irish, and 2,000 Yanks, into the clean wideawake city of Springfield itself. Wider fields soon called, however, and I joined the United Press, serving in their New York office first and later as their Philadelphia and their Boston correspondent. Here the war found me in 1914, and as soon as the telegraph ticker carried into the office the news that Germany had declared war, I made up my mind to go over. That night I left for Montreal and in a few weeks was swept on to Paris, around the Allied flank, into the German rear, down through France with von Kluck and back into the Allied lines again. A second time I went out front, returning home in November and taking out of it all a little book on "Roadside Glimpses of the Great War." Thereupon I joined The New Republic, which had just started, and devoted over a year to building up what advertising department they had. But journalism called again and I soon found myself Associated Press correspondent at the State Department. A year and a half of the most congenial work followed, until just after our own entry into the war, I was tempted by an offer to go to France to keep the record of the American Air Service. But the Air Service fell down, if one can use that phrase of an Air Service, and I spent the next fifteen months as a captain in the Battle of Washington, leaving behind "The American Air Service" which amounted to a practically official history of the upbuilding of the service at home. Within a few weeks I was again on the ocean as correspondent en route for the Peace Conference, but was very soon appointed Assistant Director of the Press Section of the American Peace Commission, incidentally the finest body of men with whom it had been my fortune to be associated. In the last days of the Conference, as the Secretariat of the League of Nations was being planned, I was asked to take a position there and very gladly did so. As Assistant Director of the Information Section, I was sent to the first International Labor Conference at Washington and spent seven months there during the heat of the Senate campaign, writing another little book on "The League of Nations at Work": I then returned to Europe to be sent to the Jurists Conference at the Hague and the Financial Conference at Brussels, finally settling permanently in Geneva at the time of the first Assembly. Whatever the outcome of this last phase, I shall never regret this connection with the League, for I believe its spirit and purpose square with the best traditions and hopes of the great mass of my own countrymen. Incidentally I have acquired a fine wife, a sterling son of four and a half who fortunately takes after his mother, and a daughter of two, who is still somewhat of a puzzle.

Publications: "Roadside Glimpses of the Great War," Macmillan; "The American Air Service," with introduction by Newton D. Baker, D. Appleton & Co.; "Opportunities in Aviation," with Lt. Lamont, Harper & Bros.; "The League of Nations at Work," Macmillan.

JOHN ANDERSON SWEETSER

Born at Boston, Mass., Sept. 16, 1889.

Parents: Frank Eliot Sweetser, Susan Jameson Anderson.

School: Noble & Greenough School, Boston, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Violet Shepley, Boston, Mass., March 17, 1917.

Children: Julianna, Dec. 25, 1918; Susan Jameson, Aug. 16, 1920.

War Service: Enlisted July 2, 1917, Boatswains Mate, 2nd class, U. S. N.; Discharged Jan. 11, 1919, Lt. (J. G.) U. S. N. Destroyer Force, European Waters.

Occupation: Cotton Manufacturer.

Address: (Home) 16 Warren St., Brookline, Mass.

(Bus.) 48 Franklin St., Boston, Mass.

ON leaving college in 1911, I went to work in the cotton mills of The Boston Manufacturing Company, in Waltham.

In 1913 I obtained a position as salesman in the New York office of Lawrence & Company, Selling Agents for the Boston Manufacturing Company.

In 1915 I returned to Boston and was made Assistant Treasurer, under Ronald T. Lyman, Treasurer of The Boston Manufacturing Company, The Salmon Falls Manufacturing Company, The Whittenton Manufacturing Company (all cotton mills), and the Waltham Bleachery and Dye Works.

I resigned this position in July, 1917, and enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve Force, at Boston. Served on patrol boat, took examination for Ensign's Commission, and was sent to the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, for a special course. Graduated from there with rank of Ensign, U. S. N. (temporary) in February, 1918, and was at once ordered to Destroyer Force, Queenstown, Ireland. Served in U. S. S. "Benham" in varying capacities from that time until December, 1918, when I was transferred to the converted yacht, U. S. S. "Vedette." Returned to the United States, obtaining my discharge on January 11th, 1919.

I then returned to my former position with Mr. Lyman.

In March, 1920, the Boston Manufacturing Company was sold to interests identified with Amory, Browne & Company, Boston. I was offered and accepted the position of Treasurer of this Company, which office I still hold.

I am a Director in The State Street Trust Company, The American Mutual Liability Insurance Company and The Boston Manufacturing Company.

Member: Somerset Club, Boston; Tennis and Racquet Club, Boston; Union Club, New York.

WILLIAM GUILD TAUSSIG

Born at Cambridge, Mass., May 3, 1889.

Parents: Frank William Taussig, Edith Thomas Guild.

School: Evans School, Mesa, Ariz.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Beatrice Murray, Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 5, 1918.

Occupation: Bond Salesman and Statistician.

Address: (Home) 1572 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, Mass.

(Bus.) 111 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.

I SPENT 1911-1912 at the Business School, and shortly after a notable cruise with our new Class Secretary and one W. P. Fuller, I went to work with Moors & Cabot, bankers and brokers, Boston, Massachusetts.

For some six months I received invaluable preliminary training folding circulars, buying tickets to New York for my betters, etc. I was then given a desk and became an expert on investments, which I have been gradually becoming ever since.

There have been two extended absences from that desk. During the late unpleasantness with the Central Powers, after being rejected as not fat enough for slaughter, I had a job with the State Councils Section of the Council of National Defence, first in the Information Department and later as Assistant to the Chief. In the former position, I was classified by the United States as "An Expert," and drew $0.0833 per month (still due); in the latter position I was classified as "Clerk" and drew $150 a month (in real 35 cent Washington-war-dollars).

On January 5, 1918, I married Beatrice Murray, of London, England. Later in the winter, being ordered abroad for my health, we went to Bermuda.

November 11th found us in Cambridge, Massachusetts. It is the only day I ever had champagne for breakfast. We took a vacation till late in the following (1919) summer, mostly in California and the Canadian Rockies. My golf game got less bad.

I got back to work in the fall of 1919. The second interruption came last summer, when we took a holiday to France, Switzerland and England, incidentally trying out the London-Paris air service.

I am hoping for a day or two off in June 1921 !

Address: (Home) 229 Main St., Medford, Mass.

(Bus.) c/o Stone & Webster, 147 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

IN 1910, I completed my requirements for a degree and started in working for the Westinghouse Electric Company at Pittsburgh. The following year I left the Westinghouse Company and took a position in the Engineering Department of the Illinois Steel Company, at Joliet, Illinois, where I remained until 1914. The roaming spirit still held, however, and during the next two years I worked in Waterbury, Connecticut, New York City, and New Haven, Connecticut. In 1916 I settled down with Stone & Webster in the Boston office, being connected with the Construction Department and engaged in estimating the cost of building work. During the war period I was working overtime in connection with Stone & Webster's contracts for Government Arsenals and Munition Plants. At present I find my work very pleasant and anticipate no change for some time to come.

Address: Snoqualmie Falls, Wash.

TRAINED as a Civil Engineer, my path has been long, varied, pleasant and successful. A concise history follows, leaving out the high and low spots.

In 1911 was instructor at Squam Lake Engineering Camp. During 1911-1912 was chief of party on hydroelectric reconnaissance, New Hampshire. In 1912 was timekeeper and later foreman on the Filene Building, Boston. In 1912 and 1913 was structural designer at Seattle, Washington and Vancouver, British Columbia. From 1913 to 1915 was superintendent of construction in various places, including Vancouver; Vernon, British Columbia; Montreal, Quebec; Liverpool, Nova Scotia; and Tacoma, Washington. In 1916 was Field Engineer in charge of all new construction at Tacoma plant of American Smelting & Refining Company, and in 1917 held same position at Garfield, Utah plant of the American Smelting & Refining Company. In 1918 joined the army as private, first class, for ground school instruction in Air Service at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Cambridge. Served two months at Rich Field, Waco, Texas, and then was sent overseas. Landed in Liverpool and went immediately to Winchester to await orders and then to Kenly where most of my time was put in. We received airplanes of many different makes from various factories, set them up, and tested them in every particular, synchronized the guns with the propellers and turned the machines over to the ferry pilots for the trip across the Channel to the more active work on the lines. Just before the armistice I spent some time at the Handley-Page factory studying their new big bomber, but the armistice came before anything could be done with them. Spent 1919 in general study of lumber business. Since 1920 have been Assistant General Manager of Snoqualmie Falls Lumber Company at Snoqualmie Falls, Washington. We operate our own logging camps and manufacture annually 120,000,000 feet of lumber.

Occupation: Retail Lumberman.

Address: (Home) 3811 Wyandotte St., Kansas City, Mo. (Temporary).
(Bus.) 210 East 10th St., Kansas City, Mo.

I WAS married a month after commencement and entered the Badger Lumber Company which was founded in 1866 by my grandfather, for whom I was named. My grandfather having died in March 1910, my father inherited control of the company. I first went to our mill in Arkansas and stayed there until the end of 1911, after which I spent the first six months of 1912 in our retail yard in Abilene, Kansas. Since then I have been in Kansas City and have not engaged in activities outside of the Badger Lumber Company which are worthy of mention. I was Treasurer of the company until I went east for a vacation just after enlisting in the U. S. N. R. F., June 1, 1918. From this trip my wife never returned alive, dying in Atlantic City after two weeks' siege of typhoid, August 22, 1918. During the last year of her life she was president of the local branch of the Junior League, completing the most successful year that that organization had enjoyed up to that time. It is my chief ambition to some day establish some suitable monument to her memory. Since being released from the Naval Reserve at the end of 1918, I have been in Kansas City and was connected again with the Badger Lumber Company.

An unfortunate misunderstanding with my father a year ago last fall resulted in my leaving the company and since then I have been practically unoccupied, only recently I returned to the re-organized Badger Lumber Company, my father having retired. I cannot tell yet whether the present arrangement will work out satisfactorily, although I sincerely hope it will, as I have sentimental as well as practical reasons for wanting to remain in the business with which I have always been associated.

Inasmuch as I was stationed only at Great Lakes and in the Municipal Pier Officers' School in Chicago, my "war" record cannot be said to have been thrilling. By the same token my observations of the "service" was narrowly restricted. I can only say that the atmosphere of the stations which I mention was one of complete bewilderment—possibly resulting from the suddenness with which they were increased.

AFTER graduation I spent three years in Harvard Law School. In October, 1914, I began work for Ropes, Gray, Boyden & Perkins at 60 State Street, Boston, Massachusetts, with whom I have been ever since except for about a year in the service. My work has been mainly tax work and corporation law.

I was rejected by the Navy on account of defective eyesight, but was finally accepted on a waiver, and was assigned to legal work in connection with cost-plus contracts for the construction of destroyers and submarines. Was stationed at the Fore River Shipbuilding Corporation at Quincy, Massachusetts. I also did some judge advocate work.

Before entering the service I acted as legal advisor to the draft board in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

LIFE since graduation:—This is rather a difficult question, hard to handle, and I understand being generally treated in a non-serious vein.

I have been with O'Brien, Russell & Company, Insurance, since leaving Cambridge mid-year 1911. The work has always been agreeable, with the pleasantest of people to work with, which makes all the difference. I, therefore, consider myself very lucky.

I spend practically the whole year in the country where the hobby of horses and dogs is all absorbing—requiring some work.

I went to the First Plattsburg Camp in 1917 after having been to the 1915 camp and having served several years in the militia.

I would have been satisfied with a Second Lieutenancy which would have guaranteed a job with subsequent chances of advancement. I got nothing and drilled through the second camp, made Second Lieutenant, Infantry, transferred to Remount Division, Q. M. C., and ended up as Remount Officer, 77th Division, getting last few weeks of Meuse Argonne. Enjoyed every minute while with this Division for although I was a newcomer, arriving at the tail end of what they had been through, I was treated with courtesy and consideration.

I left the service confirmed in my disgust at the short sightedness of our policy which had permitted us to drift along through two years of a world conflict with no preparation for the inevitable. I particularly disapprove of the system of a "regular standing army" doing nothing in time of peace, which quite naturally results in a large majority of the Regular Officers being ignorant to a degree of the very things that they are supposed to know and to be able to teach. Their inability to understand the point of view of the man coming into the service from civil life was one of their most serious failings.

(Bus.) Cox & Co., 33 Rue de 4th Septembre, Paris, France.

IN 1911 after graduation I went to Europe remaining there until 1912 when I returned and went to work in a mill of the International Cotton Corporation in Newburyport, Massachusetts. In 1914 I entered the Columbia Law School, leaving in May, 1917, to enter the first Training Camp at Plattsburg. I received a commission as Second Lieutenant, Q. M. C., in August and went to France early in 1918. Most of the time I was in the office of the Chief Purchasing Officer, A. E. F., in Paris. I returned in June, 1919. My opinion of the service, like the service's opinion of me, is not fit for print. In order to avoid having to vote for either Cox or Harding, and to escape the drives that were going on for the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, the Regular Army, the janitor, the Postman's Ball, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Good Scouts, and the Fund For Starving German Babies, I returned last fall to France and hope to be able to stay as long as the franc sells at seventeen to the dollar. This will mean my missing 1911's Decennial and not seeing many friends I should like to see; but I shall try and console myself with a bottle of Asti and drink to the health of the class and the most successful of reunions.

I TOOK my degree in 1910 as of 1911, spent the year 1910-1911 in the Law School, and the year 1911-1912 in the Business School specializing in accounting and finance. Immediately thereafter I started in the accounting profession by joining the staff of Price, Waterhouse & Company at New York. I was transferred to the Boston Office in 1916 and was married in the same year. In the summer of 1917, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants, I taught a special class at the Harvard Business School for men either in or about to enter Navy or Army "Cost Inspection" under cost-plus and other contracts. In January 1918 I enlisted in the Navy and was stationed at Washington in the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts in connection with the supervision of the auditing of the cost-plus contracts and commandeered plants. In August 1918 my son was born at Boston. In January 1919 I returned to Price, Waterhouse & Company at Boston and in 1920 I opened a new branch office for the firm at Providence, Rhode Island, where I am now located.

Occupation: Broker in Cordage Fibres.
Address: (Home) 46 Otis St., Newtonville, Mass.
 (Bus.) 126 State St., Boston, Mass.

FROM mid-years to June 1911 I went to a business school in Boston. Spent the summer of that year in Europe, part of the time in tramping through the Austrian Tyrol. In the fall began work with Chickering Piano factory, but changed to a bank job during the next summer. In October 1912 I started to learn the bond business with Blodget & Company, Boston, and remained with them until March 1915 when I left to go with my father who is a broker in Cordage Fibres. On January 1, 1920 a partnership was formed under the firm name of E. D. Ver Planck & Son.

As regards "war experiences" mine were not unduly thrilling. I was turned down for the army and until October 1918, helped the draft board in Brookline. Then I "enlisted" in the field service of the American Red Cross, and was sent to Camp Devens, Massachusetts, where I remained until June 1, 1919.

WITH characteristic Harvard indifference I send you in my life at the last possible moment.

Upon leaving Harvard I took up the study of shorthand. This I did entirely by myself and mastered the art in five weeks time, by dint of working about five hours a day. Such is the demand in Boston, or was at that time, for the college graduate. Of course there was Lee Higginson & Company and other bankers and brokers, but those jobs are like ambassadorships, requiring a separate source of income.

My first job after graduation was at $6.00 a week, stenographer for Church's Booking Agency, a theatrical booking house. The manager, feeling not altogether at ease in hiring a Harvard graduate for that sum, told me I was destined for better things. So I was. To wit, $9.00 per week at Johns-Manville Company, also as stenographer. That was in the hungry days of job hunting, which I understand have rolled around again.

Then I got a job through the Harvard Employment Office with the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, salary $60.00 per month. Almost immediately I got married, making an excellent selection though a reckless decision.

Life then took on a serious complexion, different from the subsidized existence at Harvard. I went west to Akron, Ohio, which at that time was the city of standing room only. Then south to Houston, Texas, where the B. V. D. becomes like postage on one's back. Then a hurried jaunt to Milwaukee, now the city of the dead, then back to Akron. Six years and a half rolled by, full of experience but rather empty of money. Then I resigned and became sales manager of the Service Recorder Company of Cleveland, where I now am.

Such is the skeleton outline of my life since graduation. The thoughts by which I have been baffled, the ambitions not yet realized would, I suppose, clothe that skeleton with considerable adipose tissue. I begin to realize at last that life has just begun, and I can understand why it takes many a Harvard man about ten years to find himself.

The most interesting part of my life is what I intend to do in the future. The most successful part of my life has been my clinging to my original determination and ambition in spite of my failure or lack of opportunity to use it.

Of that more anon.

AFTER completing the requirements for the college degree in 1910, I entered the Law School in the fall of that year and graduated in 1913. Upon graduation, I came to New York City and entered the law office of Cravath & Henderson, where I remained for two years. In 1915, Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Company were acting Purchasing Agents for the British and French Governments in the purchase of munitions and other supplies in the United States, and the firm of White & Case, of which I am now a member, was acting as counsel in these activities. I became associated with White & Case for that work and, until the summer of 1917, was at the office of Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Company as one of their representatives in such purchasing work. Shortly after the United States entered the war, Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Company ceased to act as Purchasing Agents and certain members of their old organization, of which I was one, were asked to assist the British officials in organizing the Purchasing Department of the British War Mission to carry on such work as a direct governmental department. I was with the British War Mission until its work was substantially completed in May, 1919, at which time I came back to my own firm in active practice.

MARRIED the day after Commencement and took extensive trip through Canadian Rockies and California. Started work October 15, 1911, in Fitchburg Yarn Company, Fitchburg, Massachusetts, and worked through all positions in the mill. Was elected Treasurer and hold same position today.

Began war work July 1, 1917, as civilian in cotton goods branch, Depot Quartermaster's, Boston. Commissioned Captain, Q. M. C. September 27, 1917, and assigned in charge of cotton section at Boston. From September 1918 to June 1919 was in charge of Clothing and Equipage Division, Zone Supply, Boston. Any opinions I might state about the service would be limited to the business side of it, but I will state that in case of another war I would have to do the same kind of work but would much prefer to work in civilian clothes.

THE three years following my graduation from Harvard College in 1911 I spent in attending the Harvard Law School. I received my degree from the law school in June 1914. On July 1, 1914, I became associated with Messrs. Jerome, Rand and Kresel in New York City. My association with that firm continued into January 1, 1917, when I went with Messrs. Reed & McCook. On May 1, 1919 I became a member of the firm. Since January 1, 1920, my partners and I have been practicing under the firm name Reed, Dougherty & Hoyt.

ANDREW SEARLES WATERMAN

Born at Warren, R. I., June 30, 1887.

Parents: John Waterman, Sarah Franklin Adams.

School: St. George's School, Newport, R. I.

Years in College: 1907-1909.

Married: Ruth Francis Townsend, Warren, R. I., Oct. 2, 1912.

Children: Eleanor Francis, Nov. 1, 1913; Barbara Louise, Mar. 5, 1915; Virginia, Nov. 29, 1918.

Occupation: Cotton Yarn Broker.

Address: (Home) 540 Floyd Ave., Providence, R. I.

(Bus.) 209 Hospital Trust Bldg., Providence, R. I.

ON September 1, 1909, entered Lowell Textile School for a special course in Cotton Manufacturing. Left Lowell Textile School on January 1, 1911, to take position of Shipping Clerk at Warren Manufacturing Company, Warren, Rhode Island. On March 1, 1913, was promoted to Cost Clerk. On September 15, 1913, became Chief Cost Clerk with oversight of payroll, billing and shipping, also buying of supplies. On September 5, 1915, was sent to New York to sell cloths,—my maiden trip. On March 1, 1916, was promoted to Yarn Sales Department, but still retained oversight of costs and production. On September 1, 1917, was made Manager of Yarn Sales. On January 1, 1920, was engaged by M. Heineman & Company of New York as Manager of Yarn Department. On November 1, 1920, M. Heineman & Company decided on account of business outlook to discontinue their Yarn Department and devote their entire attention to cloth, so on December 1st I took over the business of the Yarn Department of M. Heineman & Company and will carry the same on under my own name at 209 Hospital Trust Building, Providence, Rhode Island. January 12, 1921, going strong. Come in and see us.

HAROLD TOWNLEY WEBBER

Born at Somerville, Mass., Aug. 19, 1887.

Parents: Isaac Rockwood Webber, Sarah Isabelle Watson.

School: Winchester High School, Winchester, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Married: Ruth Smart, Winchester, Mass., Apr. 17, 1913.

Children: Harold Townley, Jr., March 19, 1915; Judith, July 31, 1920.

Occupation: Farmer.

Address: R. F. D., Ayer Road, Harvard, Mass.

IN 1912 took short course at Massachusetts Agricultural College. During summer and fall of 1911 worked in western fruit-growing sections. Also investigated ranching conditions in the Middle West, and finally came back to New England, as nearness to markets seemed to outweigh all other advantages. Am now running my own farm, fruit and dairy.

HILMAR HERMANN WEBER

Born at Portland, Maine, Oct. 6, 1889.

Parents: Hermann Julius Weber, Hanna Tietjens.

School: Browne & Nichols School, Cambridge, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911 (1910); A. M. 1911. M. Litt. (Univ. of Calif.) 1914.

Occupation: Instructor in Junior College.

Address: (Home) 1811 La Loma Ave., Berkeley, Calif.

(Bus.) Santa Rosa Junior College, Santa Rosa, Calif.

AFTER receiving the degree of A. B., Magna cum Laude, with distinction in History and Literature, in 1910, I took the degree of Master of Arts in 1911, which enabled me in this way to participate in the Commencement Exercises of our class. I pursued my studies, mostly in mediæval history, in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences of Harvard from 1910 to 1913, when I moved with my parents to California. Just prior to leaving, I took the General Examination for the degree of Ph. D. in History. In Berkeley I continued my studies in history and allied subjects, notably pedagogy, at the University of California, where I took, in 1914 the degree of Master of Letters, on the basis of a thesis in the history of the French Revolution. For some time I held the position as Reader in the Department of History at the University of California, but owing to poor health, my progress in the academic career was very slow. The state of my health also prevented me from taking part in any war activities.

Such opportunities as I have had to engage in research work have been devoted to the furthering of my Doctor's Thesis "Indiculus Loricorum Ottoni II In Italiam Mittendorum," a part of which I have submitted some time ago to the Division of History, Government, and Economics at Harvard.

Since the professors at Harvard, under whom I am to take my doctor's degree, had advised me to engage in secondary school work by way of preparation for an academic career, I have devoted considerable time in meeting their requirements. Apart from the state of my health, the fact that I received no support from my Harvard professors has been conducive to my having been so long in securing a suitable position. In the meanwhile I have done some teaching in the High Schools of San Francisco, Oakland, and Berkeley.

Since last autumn I have held the position as Head of the Department of History at the Junior College of Santa Rosa, (California) which institution is connected with the High School of that city.

School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

Occupation: Shoe Manufacturer.

Address: (Home) Wayland, Mass.

(Bus.) Forest Road, Leicester, England.

PREVIOUS class records give my name as Herbert Clifford Wells. I have dropped the Herbert since leaving college. Also I formerly, in error, gave my birthplace as Auburndale,—it should be Cambridge.

During 1912 and 1913 was a clerk in the employ of W. H. McElwain Company, Boston, going in 1914 to their Granosole Mill in Merrimack, New Hampshire, as Assistant Superintendent. In 1915 became Secretary and Treasurer of Canadian Leatherboard Company, Ltd., Chambly Canton, Quebec. From 1917 to 1920 was General Manager with Bennett Limited, Chambly Canton, and since then have been a partner in the firm of B. Ellis & Company, shoe manufacturers, Leicester, England. Am still a director in Bennett Limited.

Had no military service, and have held no public office.

CLARENCE CARTER WEMPLE

Born at Waverly, Ill., Sept. 26, 1888.

Parents: Edward Wemple, Martha Adeline Carter.

School: Phillips Andover Academy, Andover, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911.

War Service: Enlisted Jan. 1, 1918, Pvt.; Discharged July 2, 1919, Sgt., 1st class. Office of Chief Ordnance Officer.

Occupation: Banker.

Address: (Home) 320 East South 3d Road, Waverly, Ill.

(Bus.) c/o Wemple State Bank, Waverly, Ill.

AFTER leaving college, I undertook a summer job in Wemple Brothers Bank, the parental enterprise, and have been there since excepting two or three "leaves of absence."

The first was from May 1912 till Christmas, when I followed up a college ambition to learn landscape architecture. After some work in Cleveland and Akron and not arriving at much satisfaction I returned and prepared for some special study in music, which I pitched into in the fall of 1913 in Boston. For the next two years I practised scales and etudes and sonatas and pieces from Bach to Debussy at the direction of Heinrich Gebhard and wrote exercises in harmony and counterpoint at the New England Conservatory 'ad nauseum.'

When I returned to my home to recuperate from this orgy of music, I found it necessary to return to the bank. This time I remained two years and a half.

In spite of accumulating responsibility at home, I joined the Army January 1, 1918, by entering an Ordnance Training Course at the University of Chicago, spent six months in Camp Jackson, South Carolina and Camp Hancock, Georgia, and finally, about the first of September, embarked for France. In the course of a month I was assigned to the Office of the Chief Ordnance Officer at Tours in the Ammunition Supply Section. Held a warrant as Sergeant, first class. Had no adventures except with the "flu" and its "follow up." For lack of space and adequate words, I will not venture to express my opinion of the service.

Since my return and discharge from the Army on July 2, 1919, I have been banking in the Wemple State Bank of which I am Vice President.

✦ HERVEY EDWARD WETZEL

HERVEY EDWARD WETZEL was born in Detroit, February 2, 1887, the son of Henry Adolf and Harriet (Greiner) Wetzel. While at Harvard the death of his parents in quick succession was a blow which left him bereft with grief and in his sorrow he turned to the study of Art treasures for relief. On his return from a trip to Europe he resumed his work at Harvard, making the study of Art the major part of his endeavors. Steady progress in them combined with the social opportunities of Boston and vicinity, where he made many friendships with persons of worth both young and old, led him to make Boston his home.

After receiving his A. B. degree he took a year at the Business School to enable him to better care for his estate. He made a number of trips to Europe and the Far East studying and collecting beautiful antiques. His home in old Louisburg Square became a veritable museum filled with the choice objects which he was constantly obtaining. He became a curator of one of the departments of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and became intimate not only with the art authorities of this country but with many in Europe and the East.

After the outbreak of war Wetzel became actively interested in a number of the committees for European relief on which he devoted a great deal of time and energy. He attended one of the Plattsburgh camps, but after the entry of the United States he was refused for military service on account of physical disabilities. At Portsmouth, New Hampshire, where he had a summer home, he did much relief work for our sailors, at the same time continuing his activities with various national committees. In the spring of 1918 he enrolled for overseas work with the American Red Cross and was assigned to the Paris Headquarters. Here he worked with great zeal through the summer as the Director of the Department of Permits and Passes. In his apartment overlooking the old gardens of the Palais Royal he lived surrounded by many of his art treasures, and here he was taken sick in the terrible epidemic of that fall. He died at the Red Cross Hospital at Neuilly on October 14th and was buried at the American Military Cemetery at Suresnes.

His death was a real loss to the community of Boston. By his enthusiasm, intellect, and extreme devotion to his chosen career, he had made remarkable progress. When he died his plans were but in their infancy, and we of Boston are the poorer that he should have been called at the threshold of his life's work.

By his will he left one hundred thousand dollars to both the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and to the Fogg Art Museum of Harvard.

ALEXANDER WHEELER

Born at Andover, Mass., Aug. 10, 1889.

Parents: Henry Wheeler, Ellen Hayward.

School: Volkmann School, Boston, Mass., and Thacher School, Ojai, Calif.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; LL. B. 1913.

War Service: Enlisted May 8, 1917, 1st Lt. Cav.; Discharged Jan. 7, 1919, Major, F. A. R. C. 321st Inf.; 312th Cav.; 60th F. A.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (Home) 183 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.

(Bus.) 511 Sears Bldg., Boston, Mass.

I REMAINED in Cambridge until I was graduated from the Law School in 1913. I then entered the law office of Choate, Hall & Stewart where I remained two years engaged mostly in trying small cases. In 1915 I went to my father's law office where Ned Hutchins and I are attempting to follow the footsteps of our respective parents, neither of whom has as yet shown any signs of being overtaken.

In the summer of 1916 I served with Troop B, Massachusetts, at El Paso, Texas. Although I did not enter Mexico while on the border I did enter Canada during my service, which I consider something of an achievement.

In the great war like many another cavalryman I found myself constantly moving West and the Armistice ended my military career at the School for Aerial Observers (F. A.) Post Field, Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

I hold the very minor though impressive sounding office of United States Commissioner at Boston for the District of Massachusetts.

I am engaged to be married to Miss Agnes H. Grew of Boston.

Member: Union Club, Boston; Harvard Club of Boston; Back Bay Post, American Legion; Harvard Club of New York; Eastern Yacht Club, Marblehead, Massachusetts.

(Bus.) c/o Ludlow Mfg. Associates, 111 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER leaving College I attended the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration for two years, graduating with the degree of M. B. A. in 1913. My first real job was assisting

Mr. Robert G. Valentine of Boston who was developing a new line of work as a counselor on industrial relations. This work was somewhat interrupted by the war, so in December, 1914, I entered the railway service in the Valuation Department, Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston, as a junior accountant. Here I remained until January, 1917. Valuation was approaching completion; receivership accounting looked interesting, so a change to this department of the Railroad was then made. I entered Plattsburg May 15, 1917, after futile attempts to secure a National Guard discharge, and after struggles with the Army doctors. On return to civilian life in March, 1919, the old railway work was taken up again. It did not afford quite the inspiration and dignity worthy of the situation. I was married by this time. More money took me in August, 1919, to the employ of the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates of Boston. This Company was building a subsidiary jute mill at Calcutta, India, and put me to work on systems and accounts for the new project. That accounts for my business to date, with an impending threat of a trip to India, at the moment.

My military interests began with enlistment in the First Corps Cadets (Massachusetts National Guard) Boston, on March 10, 1914. Rifle shooting interested me from the start. I was an alternate on the Corps team one year, I think in 1915. I was executive officer of the first Civilian Rifle Club of Melrose, Massachusetts, where I live. This Club in its first year qualified more members than any other club in the State. In September, 1916, I helped organize the Melrose Military Training School made up of sixty to one hundred and fifty members, and was appointed chairman of the organizing committee.

After the close of the first camp at Plattsburg in August, 1917, my assignment was to Camp Devens with a commission as Captain, Infantry Reserve Corps. The job was to organize a company of the 302nd Infantry, beginning with nothing, out of almost 100% green men and officers. In May, 1918, a new assignment was given me as Personnel Officer, 151st Depot Brigade, Camp Devens in charge of setting up the first central personnel system for drafted men. Later, in August, 1918, I was made Division Personnel Adjutant of the new 12th Division at Camp Devens, on the staff of Major General H. P. McCain. Personnel work was a sensationally new feature in the army including as it did, scientific employment methods, psychological tests, trade tests and economy of trained men. While not at all heroic, this work was the most interesting army job out of France.

Occupation: Chemist.

Address: (Home) 1812 Chicago Ave., Evanston, Ill.

(Bus.) Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

IN the autumn of 1911 I returned to Harvard to do graduate work in chemistry and was fortunate enough to be taken on by Professor Charles Loring Jackson as the last of his long line of research men. The following year I was unable to register in the Graduate School but worked with Professor Jackson as his private research assistant as he had retired on a Carnegie pension which did not allow him to have University students working with him. During this year a number of new men joined the staff of the Chemistry Department at Harvard and the elementary courses were reorganized. This fact gave me an opportunity to build up a considerable tutoring practice in connection with the "Widow". During the year 1913-1914 I did research work with Professor E. P. Kohler, the new head of Organic Chemistry at Harvard. In June 1914 I received the Doctor's degree in organic chemistry. Four days after receiving my degree I did something that I had wanted to do for five years, married Marion Gertrude Mason, Radcliffe, 1912. After a short honeymoon spent in Maine I had to return to Cambridge to assist some of "my young friends" at the Widow's who were anxious to enter college in the fall. The tutoring had grown so profitable that I had decided to continue at it for a time as a "pot boiler" until I could afford the luxury of going into college teaching. I acted again as a research assistant to Professor Jackson with the hope of finishing up some of his many uncompleted problems. Unfortunately the tutoring grew apace and took nearly all of my time. I say unfortunately because I would like to have done the research work. Financially all went well, however, That first year at the tutoring as a "profession" netted over twice what any regular college instructorship would have done. When 1915 came there were no college positions open worthy of notice. The tutoring kept growing and that year brought more than the salary of any professor in the University. By this time the tutoring had grown so that I had not only Harvard students but many from Tech, Tufts, Radcliffe, Wellesley, Boston University, and many irregulars who wanted to acquire a little chemistry without registering in a regular school. In the fall of 1916 I decided to continue the tutoring in connection with a part time instructorship in Organic Chemistry at Williams College. I spent three days of the week in Williamstown and the rest of the week at my tutoring in Cambridge. This necessitated my having an assistant to handle any of the work which could not wait until I returned to Cambridge. In the spring of 1917 came the War and things dropped from under. I took a position as Instructor at the William Marsh Rice Institute in Houston, Texas. The men who had been the ones to be tutored went into the war almost to a man. This will be better realized when I say that the chemistry tutoring in 1916-1917 ran well over six thousand dollars, while that for the following year was about five hundred. In this connection I would like to correct a misconception about men who are tutored. They are not generally dubs or loafers as is so commonly taken for granted. In a majority of cases there is a legitimate reason for getting outside help. In the complexity of modern undergraduate life there are many activities which legitimately take a lot of time which can hardly be spared from the studies. For instance I probably tutored a majority of the managers of the major teams during my years of tutoring. These men had almost two men's work to do and resorted to tutoring in many cases as a time saver. Another misconception is that a tutor is one who dopes out examinations. Such is not the case. The successful tutor is simply a good teacher. He does the work which is ordinarily done by the assistant in the course and does it better. This is said without prejudice to the assistant or the college which employs him. It is merely an argument for the expenditure of more money on elementary instruction. It is obvious that an assistantship paying five hundred dollars cannot attract as good a teacher as a position which pays over ten times as much.

I spent one year in Texas at the newest university in the country. It was an interesting year but I made the mistake of staying in Texas during the following summer. The heat and great variety of bugs and sundry other objectionable features sent me north in August, 1918. I had been making some humble attempts at inventing toxic gases on a sort of correspondence school basis with the Experiment Station at Washington which was eventually to become the Chemical Warfare Service. Therefore I went to Washington to see if I could not get into the game a little more by coming up there. Unfortunately it was at the time when the S. A. T. C. was about to be evolved and those in power decided that teachers should stay teachers. I decided that if I must teach I would not do so in Texas. Consequently I took a position at the University of Minnesota and rushed back to Texas. There we packed up, shipped our goods, and jumped in the old bus and proceeded to burn up the roads to the northward. We went along the Meridian Road eighteen hundred miles in eight days. The trip straight north from a semitropical climate to that of Minnesota was most interesting. I stayed at Minnesota for a year and a half. The experience of being in an institution about twice the size of Harvard University convinces one that size is not necessarily an advantage in an educational institution. In January, 1920, I came to Northwestern University as Professor of Organic Chemistry. Northwestern is an institution a little larger than Harvard but the college is somewhat smaller. This means that my classes are of reasonable size as they are drawn almost entirely from the college. Evanston is a delightful residential city. It has all the advantages of a non-industrial small town and yet is within twenty minutes of Chicago by train. I shall probably stay here for some time, both because I like the place and because no one will hardly be foolish enough to offer me more money than I am getting here.

In conclusion—in five years I came in intimate contact with five colleges or universities, Harvard, Williams, Rice, Minnesota, and Northwestern. These represent almost all types of higher school. Some of them have advantages which Harvard does not possess but they lack other things which she has. My three boys are "preparing" to enter Harvard at the earliest opportunity.

Publications: Various chemical articles in Berichte der Deutschen Chemischen Gesellschaft (before 1914 ! ! !) and the Journal of the American Chemical Society; A monograph on "Organic Mercury Compounds" published under the auspices of the American Chemical Society. In the past we have depended on the Germans for almost all very highly specialized books on chemical subjects. The American Chemical Society is paying a number of American chemists to write monographs on their special fields.

Married: Gertrude Sheldon, New York, N. Y., May 27, 1916.

Children: Nancy, March 26, 1917; Alice, Apr. 6, 1919.

War Service: Enlisted Sept. 10, 1917, Discharged Jan. 1, 1919, U. S. Food Administration.

Occupation: Bond Broker.

Address: (Home) 6 East 72nd St., New York, N. Y., also Far Hills, N. J.
(Bus.) 14 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

L EFT college in June 1910, taking degree with class in 1911. Entered Messrs. Kidder, Peabody Company in Boston in July and left there to go with Messrs. Potter, Choate & Prentice in New York October 1910. Was a bond salesman and trader with them until January 12th, 1912, when I bought a seat on the New York Stock Exchange. Engaged entirely in the bond business of the Exchange, not doing stock business at all. In January, 1914, entered the bond brokerage house of Cumings & Marckwald as junior partner. This firm dissolved on June 10th, 1916, and I formed my own firm of Richard Whitney Company to continue the business. This firm also specializes in the bond business on the floor of the Exchange. On September 10th, 1917, I joined the United States Food Administration in Washington as Assistant Head of the States Administration Division, where I remained until June 10, 1918, when I moved to New Jersey to help organize the Food Administration in that State, and acting as Head of the Administration Division there. Continued in that work until dissolution of the Food Administration.

In May, 1919, was elected Governor of the New York Stock Exchange to serve for four years, and in November, 1919, was elected Township Committeeman for Bedminster Township, Somerset County, New Jersey, where I have my legal residence, to serve for three years.

CARL STEWART WHITTIER

Born at Brookline, Mass., May 12, 1889.

Parents: Francis Fremont Whittier, Katie Emma Stewart.

School: Brookline High School, Brookline, Mass.

Degrees: A. B. 1911; M. B. A. 1912.

Occupation: Real Estate Manager and Broker.

Address: (Home) 233 Harvard St., Brookline, Mass.

As I look back over my "life since graduation," I am reminded of the usual way in which the travellers out in the Orient are introduced to the old-time residents there. "Mr. Blank, let me introduce Mr. Whittier who is passing through on his way to —." Those words "passing through" also fittingly describe the whole decade of changing addresses and an interesting variety of experiences in several lines of business.

The academic year 1911-1912 was my second in the Business School and brought with it the first prize for the thesis required for the degree.

Examinations over, I immediately reported for work with a long-forgotten subsidiary of the General Motors Company in Boston,—and when this died a peaceful death in a few months, the local Oldsmobile office conducted the funeral and took me over for a short time.

Early in 1913, my business address changed to lower Milk Street, where I had the opportunity of working as Assistant Secretary of the Boston Chamber of Commerce under the guidance of "Jim" McKibben. If every college youngster, upon entering his professional or business career, could have as capable an advisor and friend, he would be most fortunate.

During the summer of 1915, I headed westward and for three months mixed pleasure and business. Visited Chambers of Commerce in most of the large cities of this country,—clambered over the backbone of the Sierras for several weeks on a camping trip,—took a look around Alaska,—and did a little climbing in the Canadian Rockies.

The next address proved to be New York. Business,—foreign trade promotion,—first, as Assistant Manager of the Foreign Trade Bureau of the Merchants Association of New York in the winter of 1915-1916; then in a similar capacity with the newly organized Foreign Trade Bureau in the head office of the American Express Company.

Here I was when the war broke out and immediately fell heir to the management of the Bureau when my "chief" was requisitioned by the War Trade Board for London service.

Along in February of 1918, shortly after former Dean Gay of the Harvard Business School had commenced his remarkable service with the Shipping and War Trade Boards in Washington, I received a characteristic telegram from him which again changed my address to "D. C."—first as "liaison officer" between Mr. Gay's Shipping Board staff and practically all other governmental organizations in Washington,—then as Secretary of the War Trade Board hearings on import restrictions,—and finally as Executive Secretary of the Central Bureau of Planning and Statistics. This last Bureau was created late in the war (under Mr. Gay as Director) to make a monthly summary for President Wilson of the progress of all his war activities.

Back in New York again after the armistice to rejoin the American Express Company,—this time in the capacity of Assistant to the Vice President and to prepare for a trip throughout the Orient to develop closer financial relations with all the international banks there.

Headed westward in February, 1919. Japan and China first,—and, by the way, one night in Shanghai, Fred Deane and I had an impromptu reunion. We celebrated our Decennial in advance for fear that it couldn't be done properly in the United States.

Then over to Manila and southward to French Indo-China, Siam, the Straits Settlements and the Dutch East Indies. From the last place, a journey of thirty-five days on one boat brought me from below the equator, through the Suez, and up to the penetrating winter cold of the English Channel countries for a few weeks in Europe.

Once back in New York, fate again interfered with my plans to settle down, for the summer of 1920 found me back in Boston in partnership with my father in matters as far removed from foreign trade as Cambridge is from Java.

But "the temple-bells are calling, an' it's there that I would be,"—by the time this report is published the chances are that this present address may only be a forwarding one.

Publications: Numerous articles written during 1917 and 1918 when I was Editor of the "Foreign Trade Bulletin" of the American Express Company. This is a monthly publication with a world-wide mailing list among international bankers, traders and shippers of about 15,000 copies.

Occupation: Sales Engineer and Treasurer.

Address: (Home) 143 Homer St., Newton Center, Mass.

(Bus.) 141 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

MY work, since leaving college, has been principally that of commercial engineering. In 1919 I entered the employ of the General Electric Company at Boston, working in various capacities for six years, the latter three years being employed as a salesman by that concern. In 1915, I entered business for myself, forming, with an associate in the General Electric Company, the Widger & Miller Company, to handle the New England business of several manufacturers of power plant equipment. This is the business in which I am at present engaged.

Occupation: Refining of Oils and Fats.
Address: (Home) 40 Everett Ave., Winchester, Mass.
 (Bus.) 10 High St., Boston, Mass.

ON leaving College entered employ of Marden Orth & Hastings Corporation, dealing in tanning oils and extracts. The world war revolutionized the industry and with the shortage of fats I worked on development of process for reclaiming many fats that were going to waste as by-products from industrial plants. Interested Pittsburgh capital in proposition and developed a satisfactory business for the Folk Company as its Vice President and Sales Manager. Business came to a stand still in the summer of 1920 and am now waiting to see if it has a chance on a peace basis. Often wished I was in business of distilling liquor instead of distilling fats and may decide to change over the business if I can get enough customers from Class of 1911.

No war experience except staying home to help take care of the babies—to raise two little vets for future wars—and to serve on that venturesome sector known as the Committee on Public Information, with the Gabriel d'Annunzio of America, Mr. Creel. Since then, and before those parlous days, I have been studiously engaged in persuading from the exchequers of magazines checks—not honoraria, which are if possible sent in lieu of checks. The magazines that have been beguiled into sending me checks include Scribner's, Harper's, Century, World's Work, American, Review of Reviews, Outlook, Independent, Survey, New Republic, Country Gentleman, Collier's, Saturday Evening Post, Forbes Magazine, McClure's, Farm and Fireside, Good Housekeeping, Ladies' Home Journal, Pictorial Review, Delineator, Everybody's, Youth's Companion, Green Book, Hearst's, Nation's Business. I also wrote, when in college, "Theodore Roosevelt as an Undergraduate," and, later, for the Safety and Welfare Department of United States Steel, "The Story of Steel," and some articles for newspaper syndicates.

Occupation: Artist.

Address: Oakland, N. J.

SINCE graduation I've been trying to be an artist without living in a garret. So far I've avoided the garret but I'll probably come to it in the end. For eight or nine years I served as art editor of the Youth's Companion during the daytime and piled up rejection slips during the evenings. At last the rejection slips began to get fewer, and I decided that if I was ever to be a regular artist I had better have my try at it before much more hair fell out. (For the benefit of those similarly afflicted I will say that I have tried all the well known tonics—to no avail.) Hence, I resigned from the Youth's Companion, was shocked to notice with what alacrity my resignation was accepted, and became an artist. That is I call myself an artist though others refer to me as a cartoonist or a comic artist, which of course sends me right down in the social scale. My experiment is only a year old, but I think I've done rather well to keep my creditors satisfied for even that long. And the career has its compensations. You don't have to be at the office at nine o'clock and you can play golf any afternoon you wish—that is, if you play golf, which I don't.

(Bus.) Boston Globe, 244 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

THE day after commencement I had no more idea what I was going to do "when I got through college" than I had the day before I entered Harvard in 1907. So I did the usual thing—went to work for my father. He is Editor of the Journal of Education, a weekly paper for public school teachers and executives. After about a year as general utility boy, I heard that there was a chance to "learn the newspaper business" on the Boston Globe. I began to learn as exchange reader and second-assistant everything else from editorial writer all the way up to reporter.

When America entered the war I was sent to Camp Devens as correspondent, to watch the building of that huge military establishment in the wilderness of central Massachusetts, to watch the flood tide of National Army men roll in there, to watch my classmates from Plattsburg drill the rookies; and there I stayed until the 76th Division went overseas. Then I entered the Infantry Officers' Training School at Camp Lee, where I was bravely serving the colors when the Armistice came.

Back at the Globe, I was sent to New York to watch the arrival of soldiers coming home on the transports, and again I saw some of my classmates—on stretchers aboard hospital ships. Now I am settled back in a chair as Sunday Editor and a couple of et ceteras—still watching while my classmates and others do things.

L EFT College after the mid-year examinations in February, 1911 and entered the Silesia Worsted Mills, Inc., North Chelmsford, Massachusetts, for the purpose of learning the worsted business in a practical way in preparation for an executive position in the future. Returned to the Summer School in Cambridge that year and completed the requirements for an A. B. degree. Then back to the mill where I spent most of my one year's tuition in the wool shop. In February, 1912 I entered the Boston office of the above mill which at that time became part of the United States Worsted Company Inc. of Massachusetts. In 1913 elected to Assistant Treasurer of the last named corporation, which position I resigned from to enter the Second Officers Training Camp at Plattsburg, in August 1917. Commissioned First Lieutenant Infantry November 27, 1917 and assigned to the 151st Depot Brigade, Camp Devens, Massachusetts. In May same year assigned to the 4th Co., Fourth Officers' Training Camp, Camp Devens, as second in command. The Commanding Officer of this outfit was John C. Shaw, Jr., our classmate, and let me state right here that he was one of the best officers I ever saw in the army. Transferred in June, same year, to C Co., 303rd Infantry, 76th Division. Arrived in France with this outfit in July, 1918, and was later given command of it. The "76th" was a replacement division and I did not see action. You may judge for yourselves whether I was lucky or unlucky—for I do not know. In September, 1918, attended the Third Corps School for a course in Infantry weapons. After the Armistice as C. O. of P. W. E. Co. No. 227 I was put in charge of 450 German prisoners encamped in Paimfront Forest, Brittany. On this job until the P. W. were repatriated in September, 1919. Left France October 19, 1919. and was discharged at Camp Dix, New Jersey, with same rank on October 30, 1919. Loafed four months and then on March 1, 1920, entered the employ of Mr. Charles P. Nunn, ('79) wool merchant, then President of the Boston Wool Trade Association. On January 1, 1921, I became a partner, receiving with two others an interest in Mr. Nunn's business, the firm name changing to Charles P. Nunn & Company. I am healthy, happy, and I think ten years more mature—thank God!

UPON being admitted to Massachusetts Bar in 1913 I went into practice for myself and have conducted law offices in Boston for general practice since. I spend all my spare time with my family, being the average much-married man whose time is divided between his office and his home. During the war I became connected with Local Board No. 5, Boston, since the Chemical Warfare Service refused me owing to being slightly under weight, and worked gratis for two years upon one of the largest Draft Boards in New England.

Occupation: Securities Statistician.

Address: (Home) Locust Ave., Cedarhurst, Long Island, N. Y.
(Bus.) 37 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

IMMEDIATELY after graduation in 1911, Campbell Bosson, another member of the class, and I started on a trip through the western part of the country as a last vacation before settling down to work. We went through Yellowstone Park first and then through the Canadian Rockies, stopping off at the main points for a few days in each. After reaching Vancouver, we turned south, visiting Seattle, San Francisco, and Los Angeles, and then came back to the east via the Grand Cañon and Chicago, reaching Boston about the middle of September.

In October I returned to my home in New York City and entered the employ of White, Weld & Company, 14 Wall Street, as a runner, or in other words, an advanced messenger boy. In the spring of 1912 I was transferred to the statistical department and have remained in this branch of the business since, being made assistant statistician in 1914. In November 1914 I was married by the Rev. Leighton Parks to Miss Priscilla Bull in St. Bartholomew's Church, New York City. Our first child, a girl, was born in October, 1916, and the following spring we moved from the city to Cedarhurst, Long Island, where we have lived since with the exception of the period when I was in the army.

In February, 1918, shortly after the birth of our second child, a boy, I received a commission as First Lieutenant in the Sanitary Corps and was stationed in Washington as aide to the Surgeon General's aide. I remained there until August 1918, when I was transferred to Camp Upton for training as adjutant of a hospital. After six weeks' work I was ordered to Boston to assist in the organization of General Hospital No. 10 on Parker Hill and to act as adjutant. In January, 1919, an opportunity for discharge arose which I took advantage of, receiving my final papers at the end of the month, my rank at the time of discharge being the same in which I was originally commissioned.

I returned to my old position with White, Weld & Company and remained with them for about a year. In February, 1920, I resigned and joined the firm of Low, Dixon & Company, 37 Wall Street, as head of their statistical department which is the position I am holding at the present time.

(Bus.) State Forester's Office, College Station, Tex.

AFTER sobering up from Class Day, 1911, I essayed to assist aspiring young high school students to get a knowledge of Chemistry and Physics. I soon discovered that without my interference they would progress faster so I returned for two years' residence at the Harvard Forest School. Having presumably acquired "a working knowledge of Forestry" at Petersham I was seized with the wanderlust, packed up my kit and took a berth as "Uncle Sam's handy man" on a Forest Ranger District in southern New Mexico. My headquarters at Piñon were seventy-five miles from a railroad. Here I "batched" for a year before being transferred to Flagstaff, Arizona. I stayed at the Fort Valley Experiment Station at Flagstaff for a year on forest research work but in April, 1917, I craved a view of the northwest and got an assignment as Forest Examiner in charge of Insect Control work in Montana and Idaho with headquarters at Missoula, Montana. About this time I acquired the title of benedict, thereby retiring from the wholesale stamp business. (My wife lived in Boston.) After a few months of skirmishes with forest fires and Dendroctonus beetles I got warmed up to the fighting game and as there was an S. A. T. C. unit at Missoula I signed up in September 1918 to be near home while training. My discharge came before I had a chance to be court-martialed or cited for bravery so as a private I returned to civil life in December, 1918, as innocent of military tactics as I had been in September. I then treked down to Texas and here I seem to be rooted. My menage is at 4620 26th Street, Bryan, while my business address is at College Station. As Assistant State Forester I now boss countless thousands—of young trees and countless other thousands yet unborn, (or is it unsprouted?).

I WAS sent to the States by the Peruvian Government. Upon my return to Peru I served in the school system and under the Government as Superintendent of primary schools, at Puno first and at Arequipa later, holding this last position until 1915, the year in which the superintendencies of schools were suppressed.

I was then appointed Head Master of San Ramon High School in Ayacucho where I stayed until 1918 and, in 1919, I was promoted to San Juan High School of Trujillo as Head Master also. This year, under the American professors who have come to the country to reorganize our school system I am going to be appointed, by the recommendation of Professor Bard, Director General of Education, Assistant General Director and hope to take charge of that position shortly.

It is hard to judge by myself the kind of work I have done during the last ten years, but I presume it must have been somewhat good for I have always been promoted to better positions and I am highly placed among my colleagues in the country and some people and the Government consider me as a good element in the field of education. I may enumerate, however, the principal things I have done. While in Puno I organized and presided over the first Regional Educational Congress of Normalistas (graduates of the Normal School) held in Arequipa. As Superintendent of schools of this last city I founded a teacher's library, a pedagogical review, two summer schools for teachers (completely new then, here), established regular teachers' meetings and school discipline, stimulated the construction of school buildings and inspected the schools periodically notwithstanding the enormous zone in which they were scattered. I also introduced Scoutcraft and founded the first troop of Boy Scouts. In the High School of Ayacucho I introduced basketball and tennis, completely unknown there; introduced also modern methods of teaching and brought up a school spirit that did a good deal for the betterment of the school. In Trujillo, besides introducing better methods of teaching I have established the Postal Savings Bank for pupils, manual training, baseball, basketball, opening exercises, Boy Scouts and fine spirit among pupils and graduate students.

My openmindness, my character and most of my knowledge I must say I owe to Harvard, my Alma Mater.

Publications: Informes y Conclusiones del Primer Congreso Regional de Normalistas; Memorias corresponding to 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, and 1920. Many articles, especially on Education published in Estimulo y Defensa, La Prensa, El Comercio, El Pueblo, and other newspapers and magazines.

Member: Club Arequipa, Centro de Instrucción; Club de Tiro al Blanco, in Arequipa; Club Progreso; Club 9 de Diciembre; Ayacucho Lawn Tennis Club and Sociedad Empleados de Comercio, in Ayacucho; Club Central; Club Libertad; Deutscher Klub, in Trujillo; and Unión de Labor Nacionalista y Federación de Normalistas in Lima.
